Today—April 12th

AN EDITORIAL

TODAY is our day!

It is the day that we have an opportunity to cast aside all lethargy, all party affiliations and sectarianism, to join forces in a nation-wide student strike demonstration against war.

It is the day we voice our denunciation of the insane armaments competition upon which the nations of the world have entered, and which can only result in the destruction of everything that we have come to look upon as civilization.

It is the day we show the war-makers that we are militantly more interested in living, than in dying for the safeguarding of their profits.

It is the day we protest against increasing nationalism and hatred, against the approaching menace of fascists with their glorified notion of militarism and subjugation of free thought and action.

We are about to add a glorious page to the history of student awakening in this country!

We are no longer to be regarded as playboys and playgirls, with no thought for the injustices of a world gone mad. Today we will translate our convictions into forceful and courageous action, action that will take place on the campuses of high schools, colleges and universities from coast to coast.

At our own college, the Instrucational Staff Association and the Anti-Fascist Association of the Staffs of City College have gone on record as being in sympathy with the strike. Uptown, Dean Gottschall has declared that there will be no extra penalties for those who strike. At the School of Business twenty-eight recognized undergraduate organizations are supporting the strike.

Members of the Senate Munitions Committee have openly declared themselves in favor of the strike.

Said Senator Nye:

"The student strike on April 12 is not futile, as some people seem to think. A strong demonstration will have the salutary effect of convincing jingoists of the task they will have on their hands if they attempt to force the youth of this country into another war. A unified and simultaneous movement on a national scale will have a far greater effect than has ever been obtained by occasional and independent outbursts."

Said Senator Clarke:

"Anything that tends to focus public attention on the implications of the munitions situation is a good thing."

Said Senator Pope:

"I think that the demonstration against war to be made in an orderly fashion is a dramatic method of calling attention to the world and the vast numbers of students are thinking about war, and opposing it. I see no objection to the strike."

We amend Senator Pope's declaration and say that only those who stand to profit from war, the Hearsts, the armament manufacturers, will object to the strike. And, it is exactly against these people and the wars they bring about that we are striking.

The day of limiting our activity to sterile academic discussions which cease immediately upon pressure from opposing groups is past.

We are about to stage a demonstration so that the world may see that we have opinions and emotions against war, and are determined—to interfere with our classroom schedules in order to get them across.

ALL OUT TO MADISON SQUARE AT 11 A.M.

DON'T LET RAIN STOP YOU

STRIKE TODAY!

Today—April 12th

The Ticker

School of Business and Civic Administration — College of the City of New York

Vol IV, No 20
FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1935

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Today—April 12th

AN EDITORIAL

TODAY is our day!

It is the day that we have an opportunity to cast aside all lethargy, all party affiliations and sectarianism, to join forces in a nation-wide student strike demonstration against war.

It is the day we voice our denunciation of the insane armaments competition upon which the nations of the world have entered, and which can only result in the destruction of everything that we have come to look upon as civilization.

It is the day we show the war-makers that we are militantly more interested in living, than in dying for the safeguarding of their profits.

It is the day we protest against increasing nationalism and hatred, against the approaching menace of fascists with their glorified notion of militarism and subjugation of free thought and action.

We are about to add a glorious page to the history of student awakening in this country!

We are no longer to be regarded as playboys and playgirls, with no thought for the injustices of a world gone mad. Today we will translate our convictions into forceful and courageous action, action that will take place on the campuses of high schools, colleges and universities from coast to coast.

At our own college, the Instrucational Staff Association and the Anti-Fascist Association of the Staffs of City College have gone on record as being in sympathy with the strike. Uptown, Dean Gottschall has declared that there will be no extra penalties for those who strike. At the School of Business twenty-eight recognized undergraduate organizations are supporting the strike.

Members of the Senate Munitions Committee have openly declared themselves in favor of the strike.

Said Senator Nye:

"The student strike on April 12 is not futile, as some people seem to think. A strong demonstration will have the salutary effect of convincing jingoists of the task they will have on their hands if they attempt to force the youth of this country into another war. A unified and simultaneous movement on a national scale will have a far greater effect than has ever been obtained by occasional and independent outbursts."

Said Senator Clarke:

"Anything that tends to focus public attention on the implications of the munitions situation is a good thing."

Said Senator Pope:

"I think that the demonstration against war to be made in an orderly fashion is a dramatic method of calling attention to the world and the vast numbers of students are thinking about war, and opposing it. I see no objection to the strike."

We amend Senator Pope's declaration and say that only those who stand to profit from war, the Hearsts, the armament manufacturers, will object to the strike. And, it is exactly against these people and the wars they bring about that we are striking.

The day of limiting our activity to sterile academic discussions which cease immediately upon pressure from opposing groups is past.

We are about to stage a demonstration so that the world may see that we have opinions and emotions against war, and are determined—to interfere with our classroom schedules in order to get them across.

ALL OUT TO MADISON SQUARE AT 11 A.M.

DON'T LET RAIN STOP YOU

STRIKE TODAY!
College Organizations Support Strike

Class Councils. College Clubs Vote Wholehearted Strike Support

Continued from Page one. The destructive power of our vision is our responsibility. The war is the last catastrophe, and war does not equalize disturbances but only give rise to new conflicts, and war does not solve our difficulties but only brings us nearer to destruction.

Whereas the political situation today resembles that of the last war, and whereas war does not equalize disturbances, but only gives rise to a new order of destructions. This situation will become worse, and whereas we are faced with the task of maintaining peace, we believe that the only way to maintain peace is by supporting the international student strike against war. Thus the following resolution was passed:

Resolved that the Staff of the College of the City of New York, Commerce Center, go on record as supporting the international student strike against war, on April 12, 11 a.m.

EDWARD WITZEN, President

Sigma Alpha Society

By a unanimous vote, the Sigma Alpha Society, second year honor society of the Commerce Center, voted to support the international student strike against war. The following resolution was passed:

Resolved that the Sigma Alpha Society of the College of the City of New York, Commerce Center, go on record as supporting the international student strike against war on April 12, at 11 a.m.

ROBERT KORNSTEIN, Chancellor

Law Society

The staff of the Business Bulletin, official Economics Society publication, endorsed the student strike against war on Friday, April 12, at 11 a.m.

The following resolution was passed at a regular meeting of the Law Club:

Resolved that the student strike is not to be construed as an action or demonstration against the administration or the College of the City of New York.

Voting unanimously to support the anti-war strike on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7:

Resolved that the class council of the College of the City of New York.

Whereas the international student strike against war on April 12, the class council passed the following resolution at its meeting held on March 7: