Dean Authorizes A. S. U. Meeting
To be Held Tomorrow at One P.M.

Sanction Spurs Membership Drive

:: Victors in Elections ::

Vice-President
Jack Kalish

Student Council Representatives
Ira M. Greenberg
Norman Miller
Eira Millstein
Victor Kirtzer
Ed Weitzen
Irving Tazel

President
Louis Scher

Secretary
Stanley Kornheiser

Class Officers
SECY.-TRES.
L. Rosenbaum
Dorothy Millstein

Vice-President
Milton Minster, '36
Freida Rubenstein, '37

Vice-President
Arnold Gdansky, '37
Victor Menk, '37

Treasurer
Milton Brandell, '36

Vice-Treasurer
Samuel Neustadt, '37
Samuel Fleischman, '37

Secretary
Seymour Cohen, '37
Jox Onohtne, '39
Walter Dunberg, '39

Scher, Kalish, Kornheiser
Win Major Council Posts

By Joseph Greenberg

Voted in by a margin of 237 votes, Lee Scher, '36, was elected to the presidency of the Student Council in the general elections held Thursday, Saul Silverstein, '36, his opponent, polled 425 votes to Scher's winning 675 tally.

Balloting for the second major school office, the vice-presidency, Jack Kalish, '37, and Sol Schiffer, '37, tied for the position. Kalish was chosen by a margin of 100 votes, the tally being Kalish, 356; Moe Cohen, 496.

For the second successive term, March '37, became chairman of the Interfraternity Committee, receiving 376 votes to the 406 of Abe Krupin, '37.

Exemptions of interest and the presentation of evidence for Student Council, for the first time, were approved by the Council, defeated 34 votes to the 97 of Abe Krupin, '37.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.

Critic Advises Mediocre 'Mercury'
To Drop 'Jokes' and Turn to 'Humor'

By David Wasserberg

The 'Mercury,' in the current issue, is a 'joke' magazine. Robert C. Waterhouse, '38, criticizes the paper for being a joky, sensational magazine. He says that the newpaper is more condescending than it should be.

The 'Mercury' is a serious weekly, he says, and should not be used as a means of advertising. He suggests that the Editors should use the magazine to promote the interests of the students and to create a sense of unity among them.
such...
Here is the Taxi

Mary, the little girl, attends a boarding school supported in part by her doing odd jobs, and which has gradually been built up by two young women. Her parents are in the army, which is neither because they have an interest in war, nor because Mary proceeds to be the subject of the next transaction.

There is a striking tragedy of that name—The Children's Hour. There is no "laughing there" not only in the title, but in the hair of it, in fact, a rather nice little girl whose spine and cruelty wreck the life of a schoolmaster and a pupil.

Here is the Taxi

Mary, the little girl, attends a boarding school supported in part by her doing odd jobs, and which has gradually been built up by two young women. Her parents are in the army, which is neither because they have an interest in war, nor because Mary proceeds to be the subject of the next transaction.

There is a striking tragedy of that name—The Children's Hour. There is no "laughing there" not only in the title, but in the hair of it, in fact, a rather nice little girl whose spine and cruelty wreck the life of a schoolmaster and a pupil.