City Defeat Of NYU First In Five Years
By Eugene Boyo
"City Best N.Y.U." "Five Long Years." These are the words of the City rooters following the Lavenger's smashing 38-27 triumph over N.Y.U. in Madison Square Garden. This victory was the first that the Hol-men had garnered over the Canz-men since 1933. The crowd of 15,000 which filled the amphitheatre sat, happily, waiting for the traditional fireworks which were going to follow. From the stands, an avalanche of paper fell on the game, was all City. With Bobby Lewis the winner, and led by "Babe" Adler, N.Y.U. never threatened. Al Soupois, regaining his shooting form, was the star plug of the Beaver attack. Again and again he netted on the two lay-up shots which were, in desperation, the Violets' defense. The Violets' defense was shrugged off by the Violets. The Violets' defense was shrugged off by the. Lou Leflerowas played his best game of the season as the assistant captain, and Manny Zimmern was superb on defense. The Violets were.m. (Continued on Page Three)

Gannett to Speak
On Book Reviews
Lewis Gannett, book review editor of the Herald Tribune, will give a Literary Workshop, Thursday noon in Room 48. In an informal session, Gannett will discuss the problem of book reviewing for New York dailies. After a few introductory remarks, he will throw the meeting open to questions from the floor.

Mr. Gannett, in addition to being noted for his work as a book reviewer, is a prominent member of the Newspaper Guild.

The Literary Workshop is a continuing series for "The Student Pen," the School of Business literary magazine. These meetings are established in order to provide an outlet for the many students who have had no opportunity to discuss literary matters on the campus, and who, if given an opportunity, would attend.

Facultv Studies Set-up
Of Commerce Center
By Jerry Schoenholtz
The faculty survey, which has continued its intensive study into the curriculum and the organizational set-up of the School of Business with a view toward increasing its usefulness to the community.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Professor Lewis, is now engaged in interested elements, and compiling data which will be used as the basis for any recommended changes.

In an attempt to ascertain from the alumni which college courses proved most valuable to them in actual business practice, a detailed questionnaire was drawn up under the technical guidance of Mr. Herbert Ar- ky. It was mimeographed, but was not distributed because to lack of funds for mailing.

The committee is also occupied in contacting members of the city administration, the civil service commission, and departmental executives in order to develop ways and means of adapting the curriculum to requirements of possible career in civil service.

The fact that this school was originally means in part, and the course in Civil Administration was emphasized by Dr. Ray-non, and, District secretary of the commission.

Monday Moanings...

Monday, March 13, 1939

Friday night was a very successful one for the students of the School of Commerce. A Student's Dance, sponsored by the Commerce Students, was held at the University Club.

In order to supply the best interests of the college, a new class officer of the Commerce alumni was elected. The new officers are:

- President: John D. Roberts
- Vice President: Harold B. Johnson
- Secretary: Richard L. Smith
- Treasurer: James E. Wilson

The new officers will take over their duties on April 1st.

The Commerce Students opposed Opposes Sports Amalgamation

We start this week's column by giving a young student, who was recently interviewed, his views on the subject of amalgamation between the various sports teams of the college.

The student said, "I oppose amalgamation. In my opinion, the various sports teams should remain independent so that each team can maintain its own traditions and standards."

However, the college administration is considering the possibility of amalgamation, and the students are divided in their opinions on the matter.

CLUB CLIPS

LAWSOCIETY

Professor Leslie H. Mayer, president of the Law School, addressed the students on the subject of the future of the legal profession. He emphasized the importance of education and the need for continuous improvement.

The attorney also discussed the role of lawyers in society and the responsibilities that come with the profession. He encouraged the students to strive for excellence in their studies and to uphold the highest ethical standards.

The audience was captivated by his eloquent speech, and many students expressed a renewed sense of dedication to their studies and the legal profession.

Sports Parade

Wrestlers, Boxers Gain Double Win at Temple

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 11.—The University of Pennsylvania wrestling team defeated Temple University today by a score of 43-20. The victory extends the Penn team's winning streak to six consecutive matches.

In the wrestling matches, the Penn wrestlers scored five points in three of the six weight classes. The victories were won by Chuck Leifheit, J. E. Young, and two other members of the team.

The boxing matches were also won by the Penn team, with scores of 15-1 and 15-0. The winning boxers were Fred Cooper and Bob Martin, respectively.

The combined effort of the Penn wrestlers and boxers earned the team a double win over Temple, and the students of Penn celebrated the victory with a parade through the campus.

The parade was led by the Penn band, followed by the wrestling and boxing teams, and ended with a rally in the main quad.

The students were thrilled with the victory and the parade, and the atmosphere was one of excitement and pride.

Lavender Turns Violet Blue

Fiori E. Holman

The Lavender and Violet club held a successful event last week, celebrating the club's annual violet blue tradition. The event featured performances by the student orchestra, the choral group, and a special dance performance.

The club members were dressed in their finest blue attire, and the atmosphere was one of happiness and joy.

The Lavender and Violet club is a long-standing tradition at the college, and the event is eagerly anticipated by students and faculty alike.

The event was a great success, and the Lavender and Violet club looks forward to continuing this tradition in the years to come.
Japan Disrupted China's Progress

"More social change was going on in China before the Japanese came than anywhere else on the face of the earth," said Professor Gordon Melvin in his address on China, Education before the Education Society, Thursday at 1 p.m. in Room 501. Professor Melvin visited China in 1925, when the Chinese educational system was at an extremely low ebb. Ten years later, he found that the system had been transformed into an efficient organization which aimed to have every student in school by 1940.
