Boxers Place Second in Championship

By Jack Shei

The City College boxing team was barely housed out of its first bout of intercollegiate competition at Bucknell Saturday by the narrow margin of one point.

The form that carried them through an almost perfect season, the Beavers fought their way to the finals and led Bucknell 14-12 until the final bout of the evening with the Beavers' Sid Emmere suffered the second defeat of his college career and the championship was lost.

Meanwhile, over at Lancaster, Pittsburgh defeateddefended Fudge Bleak of Michigan State in the 157-pound class at the National Intercollegiate Championships. Wittenberg defeated Fudge Bleak of Michigan State in the 157-pound class at the National Intercollegiate Championships. Marty Kaufman, 127 pounder, was the only City boxer to gain a victory over a top-ranked opponent.

The City College boxing team concludes its season after having won its final bout by a technical knock out of the University of Illinois.

First City Boy-Meets-Girl Dance Upset by Informality, Outsiders

Despite the announcement made last week by C-Board that "plip" would be necessary for entrance to the Friday night dance sponsored by the Girls' Hygiene department and various school organizations, the outsiders attempting to crash, threw the City Boy-meets-City girls' party away.

The Commerce Center girls and the Women's Hygiene department were upset over the entire affair. Earlier in the week 140 forms had been handed out to the girls, urging them to attend the dance and to encourage the "City Boy meets City Girl" dance.

Several of the City girls attending for the first time were amazed at the informality of the boys who came late and showed no desire to make any arrangements which requires the males to wear jackets at the dances, it was obviously with some of them appearing in sweaters.

The dance, itself, marked the first time that the Commerce Center girls were thwarted in their plans, the Peabody and the Big Apple, for the rustie "square dance" so popular when Pop was coming Mom. Leading by the energetic Miss Terrace, they were doing "Turkey-in-the-Bray" and enjoying it.

Special plaudits go to the Newman Club, which provided both the smooth and corny music.
