Beavers All Set To Fell Giant Okes

Face Aggies In Garden Saturday

By Murray Glasser

Fresh fives 4-6 down over St. Francis, the City College hoop squad pointed this week for its season's first intercollegial game, against Oklahoma, at the City College Recreation Hall, Saturday night.

The Aggies, little holders in the Missouri Valley Conference, won twenty-five games in a row last year, after losing their quintet to the Oke in their first meeting. They are essentially the same boys who beat the Beavers in the Garden last year. But Nat Holman has molded a different team this year.

It was the red-headed Holm-an who led the backcourt of Clude Perrino who led the second half drive which enabled the team to bring the score to points in less than five minutes.

Julie Gerson, who contributed ten points to the backboard to start the City campaign in a 14-7 run, played an outstanding game throughout. With them, Holman can also call on the backcourt ofFullman, Sid Peck, Marty Schultman and Captain Angl Ekberg. Those interested.

in scoring, the Beavers, included.

in Physical Education circles.

Other speakers include Dr. Krakower of Townend Han.𬨂, President of the Board of Higher Education, and Dr. W. W. Dowd, President of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The campus life program is planned by Ray Feigen, Secretary of the Student Council and George Feigen, Secretary of the Student Council. The discount service works that at the age of 18, the average American was living more comfortably in terms of consumption and services than at any other time in history.

In a report published in the current issue of the Business Bulletin, out today, Dr. Bernard Ostrolenk, of the Economics Department, revealed that at the close of the depression decade, in 1939, average Americans were living more comfortably in terms of consumption and services than at any other time in history.

His report, "Psychological Poverty Since 1929," is based on a statistical comparison of fifty items of production and consumption for the years 1929 and 1939.

Featured in the same issue of the Business Bulletin is an article by Vice-President Elect Henry A. Wallace, "A New Leverage for Tenant Farmers.

Today more than 92 percent of American farmers are tenants," reports Mr. Wallace. With their number increasing, at the rate of about 40,000 per year.

Enlarging upon this theme, the Vice-President, a farm

Secretary of Agriculture, professes to show how tenancy discourages the raising of five stock or the following of a diversified farming program, all which ultimately results in soil erosion.

Mr. Wallace claims that a better balance between owner and tenant operated and tenant operated farms and an improvement of the arrangements made to solve the question.

Also included in The Bulle- tin is a symposium on national defense in which Dr. Feigen, and Professors Bradford, and Professors Frisby and Bradford, of the College of Business, are prominent.

AUP is being given this Fri.

The Tea, an informal affair, will be held on the 16th floor of the Union Building.

Wish of the members of the AUP are to act as hostesses.

The Union, located in the Missouri Valley, is a sister of the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois.

The discount service works in the following manner, explained by Mr. Klotz. The student selects the item he wants and pays for it at the Co-op Store. He then receives the dis.

Roy Carse, history at recognizing any clear-cut differentiation between general and vocational education.

Specially significant to students is that Dr. Lisle's statement emphasizes that the major objective of the Joint Committee of Education and General Education, that the School of Business be reorganized.

The supplement, appearing in the Missouri Valley, includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Education," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Education," includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-ication," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," includes the much-anticipated editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," and the annual report to the Board of Trustees on the progress of the school. The editorial, "The Supreme Court in Higher Education and General Edu-

ication," includes the much-anted
Freshman Guidance Plan
To Continue Next Term

The Sigma Alpha-Student Council Freshman Guidance Committee recently summed up the accomplishments of the first term of school-wide individual Freshman Guidance. The plan, combining the efforts of the various committee members, was formulated to the plan each week and during the year with a personal advisement and personal counseling sessions. Because of the large number of boys and girls involved in these sessions, it was necessary to change the plan for boys and girls. The revised plan, under the advisory of the Advisory Committee, is to meet with the freshmen in groups of five.

Following the program of ten weekly sessions, the freshmen will attend a series of extra-curricular activities, faculty meetings, and student council meetings. These activities will be designed to help the freshmen understand the college environment and meet new people.

SC Offers Info
On Conundrums

(Continued from Page One)

A report to the Imagina Committee for the review of all applications for next term's activities, the SC selected the T-Bird, the Plane, and the Boat-Ride Committees. The first committee will be directed by the Student Council, and the second committee by the Boat-Ride chairman.

In a letter to the Council, Gerald Loebman, chairman of last term's Boat-Ride, pointed out the necessity for re-constituting the two committees to meet the needs of the new student body.

News In Brief

Library Gets Books

Eighty-one new books have been added to the library, including works on philosophy, economics, history, government, and business. Among those are Finney's "Introduction to Accounting," Al-ritersen's "Thermal Power," and Heminar's "The Story of the Pacific.

Xmas Assembly

The annual Christmas Assembly will be held Thursday, December 15, in the Physical Education Theatre.

For Him...For Her

Tasty energizing meals built on large scale sizes but priced for a small scale budget. at

AMERICAN LUNCH BAR
( east of the college)