Presidential Report Given To BHE; Students Lauded As Mature; Reds Beater

President Buell G. Gallagher presented his report on the state of the College to the Board of Higher Education at its meeting yesterday. Attractively prepared and illustrated, the document covered the years 1952-4 and was incorporated into a larger volume which will be sent out to 300 pubishers. Thus, the report is in a biennial requirement of the Board.

Dividing his writings into six sections, the President covered all phases of the institution’s activities and gave an accounting of the College’s relationship with the city’s public schools. Concerning the student body, he stated at the outset that, “The intellectual caliber and academic ability of our student continues to be consistently high.”

The President maintained that City students are unusually mature for an American campus. A highly developed social conscience and political sophistication are responsible for a greater degree of constructive social concern and consequently fewer points of vulnerability. The Board of Higher Education appears on Page 5.

Gallagher Letter Hits Immorality Accusation

President Gallagher’s formal reply to Mr. Patrick S. Scanlon, managing editor of The Tablet, for The Tablet article which severely criticized him and both the Observer and the Tablet, is printed on Page 4.

Rams score at will against a beleaguered Beaver team.

The Best that could be said for the Lavender was that it tried. Paced by the rebounding of Ed Conlin and Dan Lyons, Fordham took command at the start and was never headed.

City did everything well in the first half except shoot. The team moved the ball well and took good shots. But, with the exception of Captain Merv Shorr who was high scorer in the game with 24 points, the Beavers were scoreless, scoring only 19 points in the first half minutes, as the half ended with the Rams ahead, 11-10.

The Beavers fared somewhat better in the second half as they actually outscored the Maroons by three points, but it was just a case of too little and too late. The 19 points that was the final margin of victory was the closest.

President Gallagher political and social maturity. Our students know this.”

In giving a roundup of the physical changes wrought at the College, the President cited the extension of the Uptown campus to the Yonkers area, and the improvements made thereupon, especially the Student Union building. He also added (Continued on Page 5)

The state of the College

The intellectual climate and academic ability of the entering student continues to be consistently high. The best students of the graduating class are considered eminent. The student who is dismissed because of unsatisfactory work is rare.

Secondly, the social and cultural atmosphere of the College is unusually stimulating for modern needs and to assist the students of New York City to develop the social and cultural atmosphere of the City. The new Social and Cultural Affairs Committee, chaired by Dr. Gallagher, has been established to work with the Boards of Student Council, Student Senate, and other organizations in formulating policies for the development of social and cultural activities on a campus-wide basis.

Along with the new Social and Cultural Affairs Committee, the Committee on Academic Policy and the Committee on Curriculum Development have been developed to work with the Boards of Student Council, Student Senate, and other organizations in formulating policies for the development of academic and curriculum activities on a campus-wide basis.

The student body is encouraged to participate in the formulating of policies for the development of academic and curriculum activities on a campus-wide basis.

Entertainment and the Arts

This is the first of a new series of articles dealing with the major events of the week and the world. Future installments will deal with topics ranging from music to art to literature. Any member of the student body may contribute this material, and the following information may be gleaned from the editor in chief.

The Urge to Act

Acting in the modern sense appears to many because it seems more of a blessing than a curse. There is a definite pleasure in being able to express oneself through acting. If there is anything that I truly want to do, it is to become a professional actor. I feel that I have the talent and the training needed to become successful. However, I also realize that this is not an easy path to follow.

Once I graduated from high school, I decided to pursue a career in acting. I went to New York City and enrolled in a drama school. I was very excited about my decision, but I was also nervous. What if I failed? What if I wasn't good enough? These doubts haunted me throughout my training.

But eventually, I realized that I had to believe in myself. I had to trust that I had the talent and the determination to succeed. And so, I continued with my acting studies. I practiced my lines over and over again, and I studied the craft of acting as much as I could.

It wasn't easy, but I kept at it. And eventually, I got my big break. I landed a role in a television series and then in a major film. It was a dream come true.

However, I know that this is only the beginning. There is still so much more to learn. And so, I continue to study and practice. I know that acting is a craft and that it requires dedication and hard work. But I also know that it is worth it. Because when you act, you can feel what you say; you shouldn't be superficial in your actions or feelings. That's what acting is all about.

A New Addition

Yesterday, we welcomed a new addition to our family. It was a beautiful sunny day, and we decided to take the kids out for a walk in the park. As we strolled along, we came across a beautiful little dog playing with a stick. It was so cute, and we couldn't help but stop and watch.

As we got closer, we realized that the dog was not just any ordinary dog. It was a parent of the Hungarian Vizsla breed. We had heard so much about these dogs, and we had always wanted one. Now, here was our chance to see one in person.

We watched as the dog played with the stick, and we marveled at its beauty and grace. It was obvious that this dog was well-loved and well-cared for. And so, we decided to adopt it.

Ever since then, our lives have been filled with joy and happiness. Our new furry friend has brought so much laughter and love into our home. We are so grateful for the chance to share our lives with such a wonderful creature.

Applications Now Open For Courtship Course

The non-for-credit course in courtship and marriage, taught by Professor Frank K. Shue, is now open for applications. Applications are due on Wednesday, April 24. Students who are interested should register with Mrs. MacBride in 907. The course will be open to students who want to limit this discussion to the question of whether or not marriage is desirable. We are not interested in discussing whether or not marriage is possible. Students who are interested should register with Mrs. MacBride in 907. Pan-American Club to Try New Plan

The Pan-American Society, composed of those who are interested in furthering their knowledge of Latin American culture, plans to initiate a new and varied program of activities this semester. The society's major objective is to increase the knowledge of Latin Americans, as well as other important aspects of our culture, which are not generally known to people in this country. The society will be open to all students who are interested in learning more about the people and culture of Latin America.

Graduate Aid For Students

Susan E. Field of the Administration Department, and the New York Foundation for the Advancement of Graduate Education, announced the raising of $12,000 to the City College in support of any of the Schools of the College in the pursuit of graduate work. The grant this year will be followed by additional grants to the extent of $40,000, though any other individual or organization may make a similar donation for this purpose. The society's major objective is to increase the knowledge of Latin Americans, as well as other important aspects of our culture, which are not generally known to people in this country. The society will be open to all students who are interested in learning more about the people and culture of Latin America.

It's highway robbery!

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, there were reasons for wanting one of the higher-priced cars. If you demanded speed, you simply had to pay a premium to get it. No more! The Chevrolet is faster and has more power than any car you can name, and it's not too far behind the high-priced cars in speed. It's highway robbery!
Business Beavers
Capture Fifth Win

The Baruch School basketball team (9-7) defeated the John Jay College (4-12) 52-49 on Wednesday night. This was the team's fifth victory of the season.

The Beavers outscored the Jays in the second half, 28-20, to claim the win. The game was played at the Baruch College gymnasium.

The Beavers are now 5-3 in the Skyline Conference and 9-7 overall. They have won three of their last four games.

Rolling It Up

By Dick Remin

The Baruch College basketball team continued their winning streak with a 62-50 victory over the John Jay College team on Wednesday night. The Beavers are now 5-3 in the Skyline Conference and 9-7 overall.

The game started with the Beavers leading 10-4 and never looked back. The team played well on both ends of the court, with strong performances from both the offense and defense.

Shaw interpreted the blossoming Baruch College basketball team as a sign of things to come for the school. With a win like this, the team has proven that they are a force to be reckoned with in the Skyline Conference.

Lavender Beaten By Rams, 78-59

The Baruch College men's basketball team faced off against the City College of New York (CCNY) Rams on Wednesday night. The Rams came out on top with a 78-59 win.

The game started with both teams playing a tight game, but the Rams were able to pull away in the second half. The team played well on both ends of the court, with strong performances from both the offense and defense.

Mayor Perot announced that the team has qualified for the playoffs and will be playing in the quarterfinals next week. The team is looking forward to the challenge and is preparing for the upcoming games.
Lavender Hoopters Bitten
By St. Francis Terriers
In Close Contest, 94-79

Still smarting from the stunning upset suffered at the hands of Bridgeport Thursday night, Nat Holman's Beavers were mauled by the Terriers. The Terriers won, 94-79, but not without a tremendous fight from City, which was very much in the game until the final eight minutes.

The Terriers, a team that has scored in only one game this season, were led by Tommorrow in the final minutes of the game. They were held to six points in the second half.

The Terriers' win was belied by the final score as the lead had changed hands six times and was tied eleven times during the first half. Going into the final ten minutes of the game, the Terriers were leading 79-73.

However, the real story of the game was bench strength. While City could only use seven men in the game, St. Francis was able to roll upon seemingly unlimited bench resources when it needed additional rebound or scoring punch.

The Terriers, a team that has scored in only one game this season, were led by Tommorrow in the final minutes of the game. They were held to six points in the second half.

In the first half, which ended with the Brooklynites ahead 44-42, the Beavers had amazed the crowd with some extremely hot shooting. Herb Jacobson, Bob Simmons and Ralph Scheff all hit with consistency from the outside to offset the visitors' great advantage in the rebounding department.

Shorr, who had been averaging 27 points per game, led the CCNY scoring with 19 markers while Jacobson was runner-up with 17.

Saturday night, City will play its final home game of the season, taking on Rider College. Washington's Birthday will find the Beavers attempting to prove that last year's win over St. John's was no fluke.

Mermen Sweep
Eclipse Three Marks

Howie Schloemer set two new pool records and Bob Kellogg swam to a new team record as City College defeated the US Merchant Marine Academy, 43-41, last Wednesday. The Frankies managed to win the meet, 30-19, by seconding the second and third events.

The semi-annual Frosh-Soph Battle is slated for Thursday, February 24 in Hansen Hall. Spectators are asked to be on hand for the game at 7:30 p.m.

Kwarter's Korner

The Unnecessary Edict

Two excellent Beaver mentors were fired, the beginning of the fall term 1954, as a result of this ruling, namely Jack "Dutch" Garfias who was coach of the Baruch basketball team and Sol Misch, former skipper of the baron.

The "alleged" reasoning behind the directive that hygiene instructors, who do not have sufficient time in preparing material to teach their classes, will be fired from their other departments.

This is debatable since I've had teachers of numerous departments who have exhibited no signs of being "lazy" in relation to the amount of work they should supposedly do in order effectively present the lesson for the day.

In addition to these, it is pointed out that hygiene personnel does not need to continue to work with the line of work.
