Student Council's Function, SC Has Right to Discuss Issues

By Ed Starr

Sometime this week the United States Supreme Court will rule whether city employees have the right to invoke the Fifth Amendment, without losing their jobs, when testifying before an official investigating committee. The question under consideration is the constitutionality of Section 903 of the City Charter, which provides for automatic dismissal of any city employee refusing to answer authorized questions relating to his official conduct, on the grounds that he testified would tend to incriminate him.

Dr. Myron L. Hoch, former Baruch School of Business instructor of Economics, Drs. Weissner, Metz, and Hugher of Hunter College said that Dr. Slochower of Brooklyn College, who among those dismissed for refusal to testify before a Senate investigating committee.

Test Case

The Supreme Court will consider Dr. Slochower's case in the first test of the charter to come before the Court. Hoch and other Civil Liberties union has filed a "friend of the court" brief in behalf of Dr. Slochower.

New York City Corporation. Peter Cambell Brown, set forth in his brief that the question is whether the Fift Amendment by a state employee infrers only two possibilities—guilt or perjury.

Dr. Slochower refused to tell a Senate investigating committee whether he had been a member of the Communist party between 1940 or 1941. He offered to answer questions after later periods, and said that he was a Communist at the time of the inquiry.

Dr. Slochower said, "The City Charter abridges the Fifth Amendment in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment on state infringements of the privileges of immunities of citizens." He also charged that the Charter provisions for automatic dismissal and ineligibility for further city jobs, contravened the "due process" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Conformity Feared

The A.C.L.U. in defense of Dr. Slochower stated, "Discharges on such grounds, in institutes of higher learning, would lead to timid conformity among teachers and other commuters considerations of the novel and controversial."

The Corporation Council argued that the Charter's words, "To protect the State from disloyal and dishonest employees."

The Council should be used as a greater disability than a private employer in being able to assure himself of loyal and trustworthy employees."

Section 903
The constitutionality of Section 903 of the National Student Association (NSA) was the subject of a Supreme Court decision of the United States, and it was argued in the Fifth Amendment. The constitutionality of NSA regulations was challenged by the American Bar Association, which claimed that the regulations were an attempt to limit the freedom of speech and association guaranteed by the first amendment.

We believe in the old American ideal that a government should be conducted with dignity and if we adopt the methods of Communism we shall have shown that the United States is an evil system and that we are not fighting our own purpose.

SC vs. NSA

If Student Council refuses to accept any of the resolutions adopted at the past NSA convention, it will show itself to be a minor, petty, and petty tax-taking organization. Notice, we do not say accept or refuse these resolutions, we said discuss.

At the last meeting, we discussed and urged the acceptance of Resolution No. 1, which would make NSA a chapter of the Student Council. We noted that the members of SC and NSA are not all upper-classmen, that many are non-importants, that political, religious, and social organizations have a right to exist. Nevertheless, we feel confident that these organizations should be able to exist without interference, and we do not take exception to this ruling.

We do take exception, however, to any motion that would force students to accept malnourishment. Many of these resolutions do not include such sentiments, but rather include a wish that the student government would follow "Robert's Rules of Order." We believe that the student body should be consulted in making decisions about the future of the school, and that the members of SC are not all upper-classmen, that many are non-importants, that political, religious, and social organizations have a right to exist.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in its decision, has spoken for the students. It has ruled that the constitutionality of NSA regulations is guaranteed by the first amendment, and that there is no right for a citizen to be uncooperative with his government.

The case now being tested before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Kwartler's Corner

By Wallace S. Nathan

May 17, 1944. The Supreme Court of the United States (SC) declared the NSA regulations unconstitutional in the public schools. Schools in several states have since adopted the Supreme Court's decision.

One Southern surveyor states that it will result in more taxes to get schools in order. Several people felt the students would be more open-minded, as their ideas have been influenced. They showed increased action.

Poor Turnout Cancels Fray

For the first time since 1931, the annual Freshman-Freshman basketball game, known as the Freshman-Freshman Fray, was cancelled due to poor attendance. A total of 27 fans showed up for the event with the Freshman team leading the Freshman-Freshman Fray by a score of 20-15. Not only did attendance diminish, but the event also marked the last Freshman-Freshman Fray for the current seniors. The Freshman-Freshman Fray was a tradition that began in 1931 and was always held on the last day of classes, with the seniors facing off against the incoming freshmen in a friendly competition.
Lavender Conquers Army In Major Soccer Contest

In a driving rain that made the field as slippery as an icy sidewalk, City College established itself high up in collegiate soccer circles by defeating Army, 3-2, at West Point last Friday. It took a last-period goal by Wolfgang Wostl, plus something extra which marked its repetition, to overtake the Marine in the final two minutes of play. For the second straight time, the score tied at 2-2, Wostl, who also won the Kings Point game, 1-0, six days earlier, was at the termination of a quick-passing offensive maneuver that clinched City's third victory of its unbeaten season.

Wostl's goal came at the start of the final frame. It was a beautifully executed pass-four quick passes downfield with Wostl dashing in to score, leaving Cadet fullback Ted Green sprawled futilely in the mire.

Bartender-Goalie Wally Meisen Slips Shutout 'Mickey' to Fordham

By Stew Kampelmacher

A hulking 6-3, 265 pound part-time bartender, and an architectural major at the Uptown Center, can also be seen as a full-time goalie in time for the Lavender in last year's contest. Coach Palgais is gearing his squad towards a possible upset victory.

Queens will count heavily on the efforts of Pete Meyer, Spike Viscusi and Alex Felian, who are considered by the coach to be the three mainstays of the Knights' soccer team. Meyer, the Rams' center half, achieved All-City honors last season, when he tallied 8 goals. Viscusi, the inside right man, another All-City star last season, hit the peak of his career three seasons ago when he tallied 5 goals in a single game. Felian was part of the inside left position on the team.

The Queens soccermen, so far this season, have rung up a 3-1-1 record.

Karlinmen Ready to Play Two League Encounters

The undefeated City College soccer team will put their unblemished record on the line twice this week when they take on Adelphi and Queens Colleges at Lewishon Stadium.

College booters tomorrow at Lewishon Stadium. Adelphi is not expected to be too troublesome to the power-laden Beavers.

"We're a new team," explained Athletic Director George Faherty, "this is only our second year of endeavor so far this season have been done.

The aroused Cadets stormed back to take the lead after that, outplaying CCNY 4-3 in the remainder of the first half. Ironically, both of their goals were taints. City's Carroll, Wally Meisen, both unscouted upon this year, explained that, on both occasions, "I had stopped the ball after a shot but it was kicked out of my hands and into the goal."

On Army's first goal, Beaver Robert Lemestre was just about to clear the ball from goal-mouth when he slipped on the treacherous footing. Army's alert little fireball, Charley Heinz, con vected this opportunity into the tying goal at 3:05 of the second stanza. Midway through the second quarter, Dick Alphize gave Army a 2-1 lead.

Coach Harry Karlin's fired-up eleven charged back to take the lead in hand for the major part of the final 44 minutes. At 6:15 of the third, Jordan, assisted by Koutsantanou, tied the score with a shot during a scrimmage in front of the Black Knights' goal.

Wostl's shot was from the middle of the field. It was a beautiful exercticed pass-four quick passes downfield with Wostl dashing in to score, leaving Cadet fullback Ted Green sprawled futilely in the mire.

Rams: Sweep First 10 Place To Trounce CCNY Runner

Fairleigh Dickinson Meet Oct. 18

Bewitched, boilered and bewildered could well describe the City College cross-country team after they met with the overwhelming Rams of Fordham University Van Cortlandt Park last Wednesday. When the dust had settled in the five-mile course, the Lavender had shut out, 15-40.

"Although only the first five men to finish for each team count in the scoring, Bryan Quinn, the first, City runner, came in eleventh, behind ten Fordham men. There was a four-way deadlock for first place, with Walt Kocher, Art Cunningham, Ed McFarland and John Curran all being clocked at 28:06.9. Four Rams also edged up to provide a dead heat for the number five spot."

City coach Harry DeGirolamo stated that two factors prominent with his team were the absence of Beaver star Bill Kowalski, who was bedded with a foot infection, and the awe that the inexperienced City runners had for the veteran Rose Hill aggregations. Kowalski figured prominently in two ways: he was a sure bet to break the Fordham block of placing runners, and his absence dimmed his teammates' last remaining hope making them an easier target for the Rams.

That Fordham would triumph there was no doubt. This is strongest and most experienced squad Coach Arthur O'Conor has had at the Bronx school in recent years, while this team is severely undermanned.

Word came from Fairleigh Dickinson College that the meet scheduled for this week has been cancelled due to misunderstanding on the part of the schools. When the original meet was to be held on Oct. 8 and showed up at VCP, only Fordham and Fordham met on Oct. 22. A tight packed schedule for both school precludes the chance of a 71 off match later this season. Next meet is on October against Adelphi College at Van Cortlandt Park, the Bronx.
