Baruch School Librarian Finds Job "Is Never Dull or Boring"

By Helen Schuman

At the Baruch School Library, the job is never dull or boring. "Every day is different," says Miss Edna Berghoff, the librarian, and she means it. "Sometimes," she says, "I am busy doing something that is completely different from the day before."

Now, this is typical of a modern library. The Baruch School Library is a very active place, not only for the students, but also for the faculty and staff. It is a place where ideas are exchanged, and where information is sought and found.

Miss Berghoff, who has been with the library since 1939, says that she is always busy. "I am never bored," she says. "I am always doing something different." And she is right. The library is always busy, with students coming and going, and with faculty members stopping by to look for information.

One of the things that Miss Berghoff does is to keep the library organized. "I am always trying to keep the library organized," she says. "I am always trying to make sure that everything is in its place." And she is right. The library is always organized, with everything in its place, and with everything ready for use.

Another thing that Miss Berghoff does is to help the students. "I am always helping the students," she says. "I am always trying to help them find the information they need." And she is right. The library is always helping the students, with everything ready for use, and with everything in its place.

Beavers Can Snarl Met League Race
A futile and fruitless baseball season may yet be salvaged this week-end by the City College baseball team. But things were to go according to precedent, such as last Saturday's loss to Manhattan, 6-0, there doesn't appear to be much hope.

Thursday and Saturday, Coach LaPlace's charges will take on the Beavers from New York University and Columbia University in home and away games, respectively. A victory for the Beavers in any one of these contests can really snarl up the Met League standings and bring a degree of salvation from a dismal campaign to the Beaver camp.

John's, which led the league practically all year, is currently in second place with a 6-3 record while NYU is 6-2. If City, which has lost five of its last six games, can defeat the Violets in one of the games, it will prove to be an embarrassment to the league leaders. The Violets will also have to prove themselves tomorrow when they take on third placed Manhattan, which has a 5-3 mark.

Saturday, at Babe Ruth Field, the Beavers were unable to score any runs off the hurling of Manhattan's Bob Hoese, in who struck out 12, walked three and allowed six hits. Stew Weiss was the starting and losing pitcher for City giving up three runs in seven frames. He was pinch-hit for in the seventh and Ronny Check came in to finish, allowing the Jaspers to score their last three runs.

City will play one game before it encounters NYU. Today, the Beavers meet Hofstra on the latter's home field.

Tennis Team Finishes With 6-1 Record

With the match against Adelphi College rained out Saturday, the City College tennis team concluded its season with one of its finest records ever and on going six straight games without a loss. Today, until Wednesday, the netmen by a bad twist of fate, lost a heartbreaker to Fordham University, 5-4.

City had its number two man for the Beavers, unable to complete the singles. He injured a leg ligament the Sunday before the contest. With the number two spot open, each man moved up one in order to fill the gap. Ironically, both men competed against an opponent in a higher class bracket.

Feated Al Cummings, 6-2, and 8-6. This gave the Rams a 4-2 lead going into the doubles competition.

Jong and Drimmer rallied in the doubles to defeat Bob Coleman and Cummings, 6-7 and 6-2 and Dick Woodley and Ferrara, who limited himself to the nets, outscored Ed Tubis and Mc Donald, 10-8 and 6-2, to tie the score at 4-4.

The final, deciding match was Wally Ritter and Harvey Rohnstein, who finally pushed their heads in an attempt to upset a Fordham duo. In a tight and thrilling match, the Beaver twosome finally succumbed, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Drimmer, the graduating senior, performed in the number three spot, was the high scorer for the Beavers this season with 11 points. He was followed by Woodley with nine points.

Ferrara, who was undefeated in singles competition, bore the brunt of a forfeited game against St. John's, was elected captain of the '57 City College tennis team.

Lacrossers Beaten, 9-6

The City College lacrosse team traveled up to play Drexel College, Saturday, and came away after being spurred to a 9-6 setback.

The Beavers kept pace with the Philadelphiaans throughout the first half as each team tallied three goals. Drexel finally took command of the game in the third quarter when it scored four goals while blanking the Beavers. The Beavers have lost their last four matches and are 5-0 on the season.

Merritt Nisius and Wes Wiger each scored two goals for the Beavers while Ron Boes and Harvey Lapidas each chipped in with one.

The Beaver stickmen will play their last game of the season, against Lafayette and Lehigh, on Saturday. City defeated the Panthers last year, 12-4.

Ramblings

By Ralph Sobovinsky

Once upon a time, a long time ago, in the land of Philosophical Sayings, there lived a prince who was the wisest and the cleverest of all men. He lived in a castle by his every whim and wish. He was young, dark and handsome, and was the most learned of sages. People came from far and wide to seek his advice and never left his marble castle without satisfaction.

For instance, a man from Hardship Island beckoned to the prince for advice. The prince leaned back in his throne. He brought his clenched fist to his forehead and stared straight in front of him. After several moments of contemplation, he held his hand on the man's shoulder, leaned forward in his seat, and said, "That's the way the ball bounces."

The man looked up, a smile broke out on his face, and the prince continued, "Things will never be the same," answered the prince.

"Yes," argued the man, "But what I mean to ask is, things like this. I want sympathy. You see, sir. I want cut and dry answers to my meditations... I want you to tell me one more thing your honor, what will become of me now?"

"Sir, I have a problem, but I'm wondering whether or not I should ask you for advice. I wonder if you have enough knowledge to understand that which bothers me."

The prince leaned back. His face turned red with anger. Nobody had ever questioned his advice or asked me for it."

"But sir, that is exactly why I am skeptical about asking you for advice. I do not seek the monetary reward or the monetary returns I am not interested in getting what I can regardless of our civilization, the backbone of our society, the prince: "Blood" Klot, the fancy-legged dribbler of the bookstore, "Clem-o-dent" Thompson, of Student Life; "Set-Shot" Ja Roberts, of the BA Department; "Roberts, of the BA Department; "Punchy" Strutus, "Speedy" Henderson, and "Fairly Greenberg and Ralph Sobovinsky of TICKER; Richard Naush, Marty Lipsett and Sam Setoff of the Intramural Board; and, "Stu Rosenthal of the Inter-Club Board.

The Faculty-Student basketball game set to tap off at 12:15, Thursday, in the sixth floor Hansen Hall gym, according to manager Ralph Sobovinsky, promises to be one of the best games in the long illustrious history of the event.

The students, a care-free lot, will try to break a five-game losing streak by employing such School standouts as Steve Mann (Continued on Page 7)
