Baruch Gives $10,000 For Fifth Straight Year

By Andy Meppen

Bernard M. Baruch has given two gifts of $5,000 each to the Baruch School, it was announced by Dean Emanuel Saxe yesterday.

This gift marks the fifth annual contribution of Baruch, who was a member of the graduating class of 1889, to the City College Fund.

One of the gifts was made directly to the Baruch School, while the other was given through the City College Fund.

The City College Fund gift was given in honor of the fifth anniversary of the installation of Dr. Buell G. Gallagher as president of the college.

Baruch Development Fund

Both gifts will be used by the Baruch Development Fund of the School. In the past, the Development Fund has financed conferences of businessmen who advise the administration on the development of coopera-

Gallagher Extends Plea To Eliminate ‘Hysteria’

The Real Villains of the Peace”

By Andy Meppen

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, city college president defeated his opponent, George Goldfarb, principal of the John Marshall High School in Brooklyn, yesterday.

The question arose at Dr. Gallagher’s press conference. He stated that the City College must be located in the business community.

It is the lack of money for major construction that caused the search for a new school site to be deleted from this year’s City Council budget.

Dr. Gallagher said that since the Baruch School is a private school of business in the city, it must be centrally located so that students from all boroughs who work in the business community can have no trouble reaching it.

He added that it must be situated in the business community for the benefit of faculty members and students who hold outside positions and who work in the business community.

Dean Saxe defined the midtown area in which the School must locate.

Term’s Program Discussed At Council’s First Meeting

“We must knock out the apathy,” stated Irwin Feller, Student Council President, at last Friday’s Council meeting.

Continuing, Feller said: “Student Council has enough money to carry out any activity it wants to undertake.” He then outlined his program for this year, in this opening address to Student Council.

One of Council’s major goals will be to supply free of charge magazine reading.

Groups Split Fees Money

The fees committee composed of the three student heads of THE TICKER, Student Council and the Intra-Mural Board, has met Friday to divide this semes-ter’s Student Activities Fee. It was the largest in Baruch School history.

THE TICKER received $3,605; Student Council, $2,615.11; and the Intra-Mural Board received $550.33.

Out of a total of $7,922.91, available for distribution, $1,437 was deducted for lounge furniture, Musak, Student Life supplies and a contingency fund.

The unusual large sum of $680.81, consisting of undistributed fees, was included in the (Continued on Page 4)

President Sees Possibility Of Moving School Uptown

City College President-Buell G. Gallagher said Wednesday that the possibility of moving the Baruch School to the Uptown Center was being given serious consideration.

However, he added that there were several strong objections to such a move.

Friday, Baruch School Dean Emanuel Saxe said that he was “strongly opposed” to any such move. Dr. Saxe said that “as a business school, we must be located in the business community.”

Dr. Gallagher’s main objection to moving across from his concern for the possible loss of many Evening Session faculty members and students who are midtown during the day.

He stated, nevertheless, that this objection was “definitive, but is an important consideration.”

The question arose at Dr. Gallagger’s press conference. He stated that the City College must be located in the business community.

Economics Department Begins New Instructing Experiment

By Robert Weinstock

An experiment dealing with the teaching methods of Economics 102 has been under way since December for the past two weeks. To further the student's understanding of economics, Professor William J. Orlowsky, chairman of the Department, announced that the course for this semester would consist of operating three separate sections.

The schedule of interviews for June and for positions with their firm; after the on-campus program brings the same exams. To have a check on the program, Dr. Robert Weintraub, chairman of the Economics Department, began the experiment because the outcome of the experiment, according to Weintraub, is to determine the success of the experiment.

Across the Nation

The American Association for the Advancement of Science, which promotes the advance of science, is sponsoring a series of public lectures this spring and summer. "Science and the Nation's Future," a series of lectures, is scheduled for March 25, 1959, at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the United States. The lectures are to be given by leading scientists and will cover a variety of topics, including the role of science in society, the future of science, and the impact of science on culture. The lectures will be broadcast live over the radio.
The Curriculum

There is a growing feeling at the Baruch School that the curriculum is not accurately describing the needs of the Student Body. Students have increased numbers of classes, faculty and volume documentation, with the courses offered to the half-hearted, in which many people are taught.

In today's THE TICKER Professor Bernard Rosenberg of the School of Economics at the Baruch School, realizing after three years of study, that the Baruch School curriculum serves only them.

He is the feeling of a substantial number. Certainly, the expression of the University as a whole is the idlest of all students who don't think--or who think too well about what is to come after graduation. This dissatisfaction will be confirmed in the Administration, who will be concerned with the almost innumerable details of day-to-day operations.

Many of the best minds among the Student Council members in the four-year study. They note that the Baruch School curriculum is almost entirely independent, the curriculum serves only them.

Young Republicans To Sponsor Talks

By Joe Karr

The concept of brotherhood will be analyzed at a Brotherhood Week lecture this Thursday evening. The City College Young Republicans are sponsoring the lecture, which is the second of a presentation of Brotherhood Week, Feb 16-27. Professor William Town, Jr., of the Political Science Department, will talk from the standpoint of an economist. The third lecture, a discussion of the principles of Brotherhood, will be presented by Professor John Retey of the Political Science Department of the City College.

Joe Bennardo:

Inexperienced Ballplayer Succeeds

By Sid Davidoff

It is both difficult and unusual for a man with hardly any basketball experience and lacking the advantage of height to win a position on the starting varsity. Under the coaching of Dave Polansky, Joe Bennardo achieved this.

Bennardo, a 5-9 senior majoring in mechanical engineering, started playing basketball for the College as a freshman. He did not play the game before that time and had no real experience until he came to City. At this time Polansky was the coach of the varsity team and from him Joe learned the defense and offense of the game.

"I consider coach Polansky not only a great coach and strategist, but also a good friend," says Joe. With the help of Polansky, the inexperienced Bennardo earned a starting spot on the varsity.

Baruch '5' Beaten, 68-59, To Face Beaver Frosh Next

The intra-mural board has planned a full schedule of events for the coming term. The semi-annual basketball battles will open the semester February 20. The classes will compete in a tug o' war, a friendly game of cageball and a mass basketball game.

A basketball tournament will begin February 27; applications will be available in 610A.

Trailing 32-17 at halftime, the Baruchians went into a zone defense in the second half and were able to come within five points of the Blackbirds with minutes remaining in the contest. Nevertheless, the rally fell short when LIU converted two foul shots and held the quick ball to clinch the victory.

The loss was due mainly to the Baruchians' inability to hit from both the field and foul-line. High scorers for the team were Bill Galtanini with 15 points and Jack Ross with 11.

City Freshmen Next

The team's next contest will be February 21 when they meet the College's freshman team in a game preceding the City-Wagner tilt; the contest will take place at the Wingate Gymnasium.

Sports Shorts

City College's swimming team halted its losing skid when it defeated Brooklyn College 44-42 in a meet held at the City College pool, Friday night. The victory was the team's second in six outings. Its next meet is Friday at Fordham University at the University Heights pool; the meet is scheduled to start at 4:30.

The College's fencing team suffered its third defeat in five outings when it was defeated by Harvard University, 17-10, Saturday afternoon. The only triple winner for the Beavers was Baruchian Manny Fineberg who posted three victories to clinch competition. The team's next match is tomorrow against Brooklyn College at the Wingate Gymnasium.

City College's rifle team was defeated by West Point, 1,450-1,391 at the Varsity range, Sunday afternoon. The beavers' next match is against St. Peter's College, Friday, February 21; match will take place in Jersey City.

By Isaac Sultan

Dave Polansky's Beavers invade Brooklyn College Roosevelt Hall Friday night in an attempt to duplicate their January victory over the Kingsmen.

The Beavers romped over Brooklyn by a margin of points in this season's first meeting of the long-stand rivalry. Brooklyn's high-scorer, Nick Gestani, was subdued by the City College defense held far to less than usual mark of 20 points.

Gestani is the Brooklyn averaging well over 20 point game; the senior is the biggest talent in the school's history.

In Brooklyn's 66-64 victory over Hunter College, Gestani scored 25 points. He scored points in his team's 91-77 rout of the hands of St. John's. In each contest, he proved to be the notch playmaker and will definitely be a threat against the Beavers.

This outing may be the best in which Gestani achieves his obvious sub-par performances the last against the Beavers. Brooklyn's recent loss to Wagner brought their overall record to 6-2.

Queens College

Monday, the Queens College Knights will try to return to earlier treasuring at the hands of the Beavers; the contest will take place at the Wingate Gymnasium, Uptown.

The Knights, coached by Edward Silver, with a height disadvantage, rely mainly on a shooting, teamwork and speed. Their offense centers around speedy 5-11 Bob Bazz, and shrewd 6-9 Al Mohd. Their rebounding strength lies in 6-7 Seiden and 6-1 Bob Koss.
