Also running unopposed are Ed Sullivan and Carol Groeinger for corresponding secretary and recording secretary, respectively.

There are two students in the vice-presidential race, Matt Levinson and Bob Nadel.

Fund Supports Study
To Establish Bureau

A fund has been set aside for an "exploratory study" to establish a bureau of business research.

Dean Emanuel Saxen announced last week the money is part of the annual interest from the $300,000 Morton J. Wollman Fund.

The study will attempt to find out how other research bureaus are run, how they should be run and what a research bureau should do. The initial appropriation will be $3,4000, said Dean Saxen, and may "ultimately" reach $5,000.

Professor Leo Rosenblum of the Accounting Department is the initial designer for the post of director of research. Dr. Rosenblum will devote half of his usual teaching time to prepare a blueprint for a permanent bureau.

Other Projects

Other projects to be established from the $9,000 interest are:

- A $1,000 undergraduate scholarship fund. Scholarships will be made available to entering freshmen enrolled undergraduates.

- A $1,000 to be used for the establishment of a graduate scholarship fund. Scholarships will be granted for advanced study in business and commerce at the Baruch School or elsewhere and, as the undergraduate grants, they will be based on need.

To Start in 1959

- Annual awards to outstanding students will be established in Accounting, Economics, Business Administration and Industrial Psychology. They will be first presented at the June, 1959, graduation.

- Establishment of a $500 award for an outstanding book, research study or achievement for the benefit of students.

- A fund of $1200 to be reserved for inviting visiting lecturers to the Baruch School.

- A fund of $5000 to be divided among the students for research projects.

- A fund for the purchase of books, equipment or supplies for the new library.

- A fund of $1200 to be divided among the students for research projects.

Javits Stresses Leadership In 11th Charter Day Talk

By Larry Miller

"The American crisis is one of leadership and morals," stated Senator Jacob K. Javits, (R-NY), in an address to the University of Chicago at Thursday's Charter Day celebration. In his talk, Senator Javits emphasized the importance of leadership and the need for an American spirit of nationalism.

Senator Javits began by discussing the history of America and the importance of leadership in shaping the nation. He pointed out that the United States was founded on the principles of freedom, democracy, and individual rights, and that these principles have been the foundation of American leadership.

He went on to discuss the current political climate and the challenges facing American leaders. He said, "We are in a period of great change and uncertainty. The United States is facing new threats and challenges, and we must be prepared to meet them.

The alternatives abroad, Javits said, are the willing acceptance of world leadership or the acceptance of world leadership as an important responsibility.

Javits ended his talk by urging the students to take an active role in shaping the future of America. He said, "We must be the leaders of tomorrow. We must be the ones who will shape the course of America. We must be the ones who will make America great again."
Prometheus

President Berdell G. Gallagher pushed the scissors through the yellow pages of the College's literary magazine, Prometheus. Within a few seconds, the publication had gone on sale. Dr. Gallagher, who had taught at the College for many years, remarked, "We are proud of the fact that the idea for the publication was conceived by students, and that it is now in the hands of students.

The publication of Prometheus is a milestone in the history of the College. It is an expression of the students' desire to express themselves freely and to publish their own work. This is a valuable addition to the educational experience of the students, and it is a reflection of the College's commitment to fostering an environment of freedom and creativity.

Elections

It is disappointing to note that a large number of candidates are running unopposed for the various positions in the Student Government. This is a reflection of the lack of student participation in the electoral process.

It is unfortunate that the students are not taking advantage of this opportunity to express their opinions and to participate in the decision-making process. The College should encourage students to become involved in the electoral process and to take an active role in shaping the future of the College.

NSA Delegate

What is the United States National Student Association (NSA)? The NSA is a national organization that represents the interests of college students. It is a student-run organization that aims to promote the dignity of the individual and to defend the student's right to education.

The NSA is the only student organization that is allowed to represent the student body on a national level. It is a powerful voice that can speak on behalf of the students and can bring attention to the issues that are most important to the students.

Laughing Stock

If you've ever watched a movie, you know that the characters are often depicted in a comical manner. This is because the use of humor is an effective way of communicating with the audience and of making the movie more enjoyable.

However, there are times when humor can be used in a way that is not appropriate. This is especially true when it comes to the portrayal of students. It is important to remember that students are not objects of entertainment and that their dignity should be respected.

Economics

In the past, the emphasis was placed on the production of goods and services. However, today, the focus is on the production of ideas. This is because the ideas that we produce are the driving force behind economic growth.

Student Government

The Student Government is an organization that represents the interests of the students. It is an important part of the College and it plays a crucial role in the decision-making process.

The Student Government is responsible for a wide range of activities, including the selection of the President, the selection of the Board of Trustees, and the allocation of funds. It is an important part of the educational experience and it is a reflection of the students' commitment to their college and to their education.

The Silent Generation Speaks

The author of this letter is a former student of the school and was a member of the faculty during the time he was writing his column. He is in a similar position today and has taught at the school for several years, though his approach has changed.

The letter was written in support of a proposal that the school should offer a course on the silent generation, which he believes is important for students to understand the history and culture of the time. He argues that the course would be valuable not only for students in the silent generation, but also for those who came of age during the period.

He also notes that the school has a responsibility to prepare students for the future, and that this includes understanding the social and cultural dynamics of the past. He concludes by urging the school to consider offering the course, and to take into account the concerns of the silent generation when making decisions about the curriculum.

Across the Nation

In a separate section of the newspaper, a story about foreign trade and the election of Johnston Man of the Year is presented. The story highlights the importance of foreign trade and the role of business leaders in promoting economic growth.

The story also covers the election of Johnston Man of the Year, which is awarded to a business leader who has made significant contributions to the community. The story notes that the award is given by the Chamber of Commerce and is a recognition of the leader's contributions to the local economy.

The story concludes by noting that the award is an important way to acknowledge the contributions of business leaders and to promote economic growth.

The newspaper also features a column about the silent generation, which discusses the importance of understanding the history and culture of this period.

Overall, the newspaper provides a range of stories and articles that cover important issues and events, and is a valuable resource for understanding the community and its activities.

Tracksters Finish Second
In Intercollegiate Tourney

By George Pravracy

Competing in the annual outdoor Collegiate Track Conference at Adelphi's James E. Sitles Stadium, a squad of Beaver trackmen captured second place honors in a field of 18 colleges. The defending champions, Connecticut Teachers College, took first honors with a score of 105 points. Overall, the Stuyvesants, in second place, amassed 94 points.

The standout performer of the meet was Beaver co-captain Stan Dawkins, who captured three gold medals: the 220 yard low hurdles in :25.4 and the 100 yard dash in 10.2. In the 220 yard hurdles, he broke the old mark set by Bob Robins of Brooklyn College in 1957 by more than a foot and a half. In the 100 yard high hurdles, the lanky junior from Jamaica, British West Indies, overcame the mediocrity of his middle relay team. The neophytes composed of Baruchian Roccio Monoio, Tom Piazza, and two Uptowners failed to place.

In a test of endurance Bob Ettis and Jay Hammel tripped Al Bishop's frosh sprint medley relay team. The victory boosted the racquet squad's record this term to a commendable 5-1.

The City College tennis team continued its winning ways Saturday as it beat Hunter College, 6-3, on the loser's courts. The victory boosted the racquet squad's record this season to 11-2-1.

Ron Ettis and Jay Hammel won the match at No. 2 doubles over their Baruchian opponents, 6-4, 6-0. Ron Ettis, 5-10, and Jay Hammel, 6-0, both won their matches by identical scores of 6-2, 6-1.

The first City win was registered by Baruchian Roy Frenchman. He outlasted Ira Nazel, 6-3, 6-0. The captain raised his season's record in singles matches to 3-2.

Ron Ettis and Jay Hammel both won their matches by identical scores of 6-0, 6-3. In the sixth spot, Ray Pestrong stopped George Strauss, 7-5, 6-0.

In the doubles matches, Coach Harry Karlin's netmen took two out of three sets.

Ettis and Hammel tripped Al Geiger and Strauss, 6-4, 6-0. Sophomore Mark Buckstein and Geiger defeated Baruchian Roccio Monido and Tom Piazza, 6-1, 6-2. The lossers were defeated 6-3, 7-5, by Hauben and Cliff Hamburger.

Ralph Taylor

Clearly placed fifth in the grueling, one mile run, Veteran distance runner Randy Crossfield completed the two mile breath taker in third place.

In this year's Collegiate Track Conference, the College entered far future with the physical education major. He overcame a five yard deficit on the last lap and stormed to victory by ten yards.
