Bauer Raps 'Beat-niks'
As 'Cancer of Society'

By Sandy Starkman

"Beat-niks" are psychologically insensitive, insensitive to the problems of this generation. They are the symbol of the "cancer of our society." This statement was made by Professor John Bauer in his discussion of the Beat Generation to a standing-room-only crowd in the Faculty Council Lounge, Thursday.

Professor Bauer's objective was to analyze the Beat Generation and to discuss the "cancer of our society." He presented a lecture on the Beat Generation and Blackboard Jungle and its theme song, "Rebel Against Me," written by a group of People's University students in 1957.

"Beat-niks" are the product of a generation that is isolated, disaffected, and alienated. They are the result of a generation that is seeking a sense of identity and belonging. Bauer's lecture was a call to action, to hold the Beat Generation accountable for their actions and to hold them responsible for their impact on society.

Do You Think for Yourself?

"HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO FIND OUT!"

Can you honestly say you never question anything? Do you always follow an executive or leader you admire?

Are you entirely confident that you would not get "lost" if you worked alone? Wlap driving or spelling for some distance, do you like taking short or long walks in an unfamiliar or remote area, or in a city?

Are you naturally given to the actions of a person who is just "tactful"?

When faced with a long, detailed job, do you tend to tackle it at once or do you do it in stages, when you have time?

Soccermen Edge RPI, 2-1; Sund Scores Twice in Fray

TROY, N. Y., October 4—A combination of Billy Sund's two goals and a staunch defense, led by Johnny Paranos, gave the Beavers a 2-1 victory over Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in the season's opening game today.

However, the calm of the unclouded afternoon was shattered when goalie Wally Wolke was kicked in the face as he tried to get back to the goal line after a service. He was carried off the field by his teammates.

The game's deciding tally came with only a minute left in the third period, as Sund took a pass from Gabor Schlesser and rammed the ball past the Engineer goalie.

Earlier in the game, at the 9-minute mark in the second period, Sund had served on a pass from Wachter. This tied the score 1-1.

The RPI score came as outside left Randy Czobaji drove the ball past Wolke and then ran into him. The tally came at 2:17 of the second period.

Sharp Defense

Several times during the game, a combination of poor Engineer shooting and a sharp Beaver defense prevented further RPI scoring. More than once Czobaji, who was a thorn in the Lavender net all day, had clear shots at the Beaver goalie from the left side, only to miss the nets by a wide margin.

In the last period, Paranos saved the Beaver win as he kicked the ball out of the goal mouth as substitute goalie Leon Manfredi lay on the ground after making a save.

And twice during the last minute, RPI forwards broke away, only to be overtaken by the in-formidable defense of the Beavers. The defense was closely played throughout, with neither team gaining a clear advantage at any time. For every sustained RPI offensive attack, the Techmen would rally with one of their own. However, in the last quarter, the Beavers held the upper edge except for a short period.

Two Players Out: Harriers Get Set for '58 Debut

The City College cross-country team will kick off its season Saturday at Van Cortland Park against Fairleigh Dickinson. They will be out to improve upon their 6-1 record of last year.

The bright picture painted by the team at the start of practice has been somewhat distorted by the loss of two key runners.

Bob Clevy, the number one man on the City squad last season, will not have time to compete this term because of a heavy load of electrical engineering courses. Also out will be co-captain Tom Dougherty; he is suffering from a serious throat infection that will sideline him from competition.

Since two of the top three runners on the team are out, the Beavers will be short of proven talent. The third figure in the cluster of vets is the other co-captain Ralph Taylor. Last week these three veterans were set for season's play.

Cross-country coach Harry deGirolamo concurs that they lack an expected ready replacement for Clevy. However, he feels that a winning season is still possible.

The Coach maintains, "If the rest of the boys can get into the shape I want them in, we'll have a good year."

To intensify the shortages of players, it will be necessary for the team, under deGirolamo, to add "bodies" in the next few meets. The remainder of the schedule will also be limited.

Dr. Andrew Lavender, English instructor and Student Council faculty advisor of the tennis umpire at Forest Hills. At the West Side Tennis Club he has been the umpire for several local tournaments. Among others, he has 'umped' for a Pancho Gonzalez-Frank Sodergren match.

A teacher at the Baruch School for the last ten years, Dr. Lavender feels that a tennis official must be "affirmative in his decisions." As a result of this conviction, he has taken his place in a tight situation during a Gonzalez-Snedman match.

"During a World 6 championship match, I called the ball "out,"" said Sedman. "I called the ball "out,"" said Sedman. "I called the ball out," Sedman," he recalls, "everybody in the Stadium, except Gonzalez and I, thought the ball was "in." This happened in a key point in the game.

Besides being a member of the National Tennis Umpires Association for five years, Dr. Lavender is also in the National Eastern Umpires Association.

When he was playing the game years ago, Dr. Lavender was a winner in several local tournaments. "When you stop playing the game, you should stay away from the game," is the reason why he has stayed with tennis to serve as an umpire.

The Long Island University soccer team will invade Lewishon Stadium Saturday in an attempt to avenge last season's ignominious 9-1 defeat at the hands of the Beaver booters.

LIU has two coaches, John O'Boyle and Albert Picariello, at the helm. O'Boyle thinks that "the team looks very good this season." He observes that "it has good spirit and is looking forward to the (CCNY) game."

The Blackbirds compiled a 4-7 Metropolitan League record last season. Of the starting lineup that faced City in last year's game, only two lettermen are returning, Howie Taylor, who played halfback in 1957 will be the goalie. Frank Piccola will alternate between fullback and halfback.

In its first outing of the new season, LIU went up against Pratt Institute in a practice session. Although the Blackbirds were turned back, 7-6, O'Boyle felt that the team as a whole looked much better than last season.

Sunday, the Blackbirds lost to New York University's team, 5-0.

"What's bothering Harry Karlin's Beavers will face LIU with a juggled front line. Gabor Schlesser, who plays regularly at inside left last season, will be at the center forward slot. Heinz Minnerop, former occupant of the position, will move to one of the sides. Minnerop is co-owner of the season's scoring record. Against the Blackbirds, Minnerop kicked in four goals during the 1957 encounter.

Kings Point

The opening game of the season was washed out. The United States Merchant Marine Academy was supposed to play the Beavers Wednesday at the Kings Point field, however, caused the game to be postponed until tomorrow.

In period, RPI forwards broke away, only to be overhauled from the rear by Beaver defenders, thus preventing a score.

Robert Cleary, the number one man on the City squad last season, had clear shots at the Rensselaer goal and lay prostrate on the ground after making a save.

The tally came at 2:37 of the second period.

Carr, a man deaf-mute, had planned to fill in the vacancy left by Dougherty or Clevy, suffered a turned ankle last week and will be out 'indefinitely.'

DeGirolamo felt that Carr had been filling in conditioning as much as one of the squad. "He is an important cog in our wheel," said the Coach.

Still unable to evaluate the entire squad because of the holidays and rain, deGirolamo thinks that at least one spot is filled.

"Phil Phillips, a transfer from the Evening Session, could be second to Taylor," he said. "Right now, Phil could probably break 30 minutes."

The harriers will open their campaign in hopes of capturing their third consecutive Metropolitan League Title. The big test, however, will be against Colgate, in the annual Colgate-Franklin Championships. City placed second to Connecticut State Teachers College in the last two CTC meets.

The remainder of the schedule will also be limited. The Coach thinks that the team lacks an expected ready replacement for Clevy. However, he feels that a winning season is still possible.
