Misthal, Klein Win Top SC Positions

Solodow Defeats Signer in Close Council Race

Foreign Trade Society Award:

Hoffman Wins ‘Man of the Year’

The Baruch School’s Foreign Trade Society presented their ‘Man of the Year’ award Tuesday to Paul G. Hoffman, former president of the Ford Foundation, at Fraunces Tavern.

Hoffman—was “selected for his contributions for greater understanding and international goodwill in foreign trade.”

A plaque was awarded Hoffman by Professor I. Harold Kellogg, director of the Business Administration department.

Previously, Hoffman was a Charter Day speaker at the Baruch School.

Born and educated in Chicago, Hoffman studied at the University of Chicago, and holds honorary degrees from a number of universities.

He began his business career as a salesman for the Steelhouse Economic Cooperation Administration (The Marshall Plan). He resigned this post in September 1960.

From 1951-53 he served as President of the Ford Foundation.

During the Eleven Nation Solution of the United Nations General Assembly, Hoffman was a member of the United States delegation, serving mainly as his country’s delegate to the Economic and Financial Committee.

Hoffman became the first Managing Director of the United Nations Special Fund January 1, 1959. The Special Fund is one of several UN Funds concerned with the development of the less developed countries.

He is the author of “Seven Roads to Safety” and “Peace Can Be Won,” as well as numerous magazine articles. He has received numerous national awards, including the Freedom House National Award.

Bernard M. Baruch and John J. McCloy will highlight the annual Baruch School Charter Day Convocation today in Pauline Edwards Theatre at 10:30. Mr. McCloy is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and will deliver the address entitled “The Imperative of Public Service.”

Baruch, McCloy Highlight Charter Day Convocation

Bernard M. Baruch and John J. McCloy will highlight the annual Baruch School Charter Day Convocation today in Pauline Edwards Theatre at 10:30. Mr. McCloy is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and will deliver the address entitled “The Imperative of Public Service.”

Foreign Trade Society Award:

Hoffman Wins ‘Man of the Year’

The Baruch School’s Foreign Trade Society presented their ‘Man of the Year’ award Tuesday to Paul G. Hoffman, former president of the Ford Foundation, at Fraunces Tavern.

Hoffman—was “selected for his contributions for greater understanding and international goodwill in foreign trade.”

A plaque was awarded Hoffman by Professor I. Harold Kellogg, director of the Business Administration department.

Previously, Hoffman was a Charter Day speaker at the Baruch School.

Born and educated in Chicago, Hoffman studied at the University of Chicago, and holds honorary degrees from a number of universities.

He began his business career as a salesman for the Steelhouse Economic Cooperation Administration (The Marshall Plan). He resigned this post in September 1960.

From 1951-53 he served as President of the Ford Foundation.

During the Eleven Nation Solution of the United Nations General Assembly, Hoffman was a member of the United States delegation, serving mainly as his country’s delegate to the Economic and Financial Committee.

Hoffman became the first Managing Director of the United Nations Special Fund January 1, 1959. The Special Fund is one of several UN Funds concerned with the development of the less developed countries.

He is the author of “Seven Roads to Safety” and “Peace Can Be Won,” as well as numerous magazine articles. He has received numerous national awards, including the Freedom House National Award.

Bernard M. Baruch and John J. McCloy will highlight the annual Baruch School Charter Day Convocation today in Pauline Edwards Theatre at 10:30. Mr. McCloy is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and will deliver the address entitled “The Imperative of Public Service.”

Foreign Trade Society Award:

Hoffman Wins ‘Man of the Year’

The Baruch School’s Foreign Trade Society presented their ‘Man of the Year’ award Tuesday to Paul G. Hoffman, former president of the Ford Foundation, at Fraunces Tavern.

Hoffman—was “selected for his contributions for greater understanding and international goodwill in foreign trade.”

A plaque was awarded Hoffman by Professor I. Harold Kellogg, director of the Business Administration department.

Previously, Hoffman was a Charter Day speaker at the Baruch School.

Born and educated in Chicago, Hoffman studied at the University of Chicago, and holds honorary degrees from a number of universities.

He began his business career as a salesman for the Steelhouse Economic Cooperation Administration (The Marshall Plan). He resigned this post in September 1960.

From 1951-53 he served as President of the Ford Foundation.

During the Eleven Nation Solution of the United Nations General Assembly, Hoffman was a member of the United States delegation, serving mainly as his country’s delegate to the Economic and Financial Committee.

Hoffman became the first Managing Director of the United Nations Special Fund January 1, 1959. The Special Fund is one of several UN Funds concerned with the development of the less developed countries.

He is the author of “Seven Roads to Safety” and “Peace Can Be Won,” as well as numerous magazine articles. He has received numerous national awards, including the Freedom House National Award.

Bernard M. Baruch and John J. McCloy will highlight the annual Baruch School Charter Day Convocation today in Pauline Edwards Theatre at 10:30. Mr. McCloy is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and will deliver the address entitled “The Imperative of Public Service.”

Foreign Trade Society Award:

Hoffman Wins ‘Man of the Year’

The Baruch School’s Foreign Trade Society presented their ‘Man of the Year’ award Tuesday to Paul G. Hoffman, former president of the Ford Foundation, at Fraunces Tavern.

Hoffman—was “selected for his contributions for greater understanding and international goodwill in foreign trade.”

A plaque was awarded Hoffman by Professor I. Harold Kellogg, director of the Business Administration department.

Previously, Hoffman was a Charter Day speaker at the Baruch School.

Born and educated in Chicago, Hoffman studied at the University of Chicago, and holds honorary degrees from a number of universities.

He began his business career as a salesman for the Steelhouse Economic Cooperation Administration (The Marshall Plan). He resigned this post in September 1960.

From 1951-53 he served as President of the Ford Foundation.

During the Eleven Nation Solution of the United Nations General Assembly, Hoffman was a member of the United States delegation, serving mainly as his country’s delegate to the Economic and Financial Committee.

Hoffman became the first Managing Director of the United Nations Special Fund January 1, 1959. The Special Fund is one of several UN Funds concerned with the development of the less developed countries.

He is the author of “Seven Roads to Safety” and “Peace Can Be Won,” as well as numerous magazine articles. He has received numerous national awards, including the Freedom House National Award.
The Awakenings

The dormant student body at Brooklyn College has shown signs of awakening under the administration's new strategy.

The Student Council editor, in an article detailing the administration's awareness of the discontent that envelope the campus, commented that the Student Council's editor administers a new strategy for the administration to address the dissatisfaction among the student body.

The editor also noted that the administration is developing a three-pronged approach to satisfy the needs of the student body. This approach includes increasing the number of student representation on the administration board, committing to the investigation of censorship charges, and establishing a new policy that will provide a framework for the administration to address student grievances.

The editor expressed hope that these developments will lead to a more responsive administration and a more engaged student body.
Harriers Finish First In CCNY Track Meet

By Marty Perl

City College, led by Jim Collins and Josue Delgado, took eight of sixteen first places in winning the first annual municipal college track and field championship at Van Cortlandt Park in The Bronx.

The Beavers scored 99% points in romping to the victory. Hunter placed second with 94 points. Queens had 40% points, and Brooklyn finished last with 36 points.

Jim Collins won individual honors by scoring 21 points. He broad jumped 21 feet 6 inches and threw the discus 90 feet 6 inches in winning these events.

Josue Delgado topped four "gold medals," winning the 220, 440, and 880-yard races, and running the anchor leg of the victorious Beaver mile relay team. He ran the fastest quarter of 0.50.8 seconds and totaled 141 points.

Vince Hamisch of CCNY was the only other double winner. He took the shot-put with 40 feet 10 inches and the hammer throw with 104 feet 8 inches.

City dominated both the track and field portions, grabbing three out of eight individual track events and four of seven field events.

The Beavers took the mile relay, beating Queens by 10 yards in 3 minutes 32 seconds.

The mile was won by Hunter's Ed Wright in 4:47.

Hunter took five of the remaining first places while Brooklyn had two and Queens one.

Other Beaver scorers were Mel Siegal, second in the mile, Charlie Singer, third in the 120-yard high-hurdles, Les Robinson, second in the pole vault and third in the discus throw.

Tom Johnson and Gordon Richgordon finished second and third respectively in high-jump behind Hunter's basketball star Brian Prince. Also, Joe Waidich, a member of the mile-relay team, finished third in the broad-jump.

TEMPORARY OFFICE JOBS

FOR

STUDENTS, TEACHERS, LIBRARIANS
AND SCHOOL EMPLOYEES

Typists, Clerks, Stenographers
and All Other Office Categories

Register Now For June During Summer Vacation

Work Full Weeks of Your Choice
No Fees To Pay. Highest Rates

REGISTER NOW! In New York City call: Worth 4-0175

OFFICE TEMPORARIES INCORPORATED
EMPLOYER AIDS DIVISION

NEW YORK CITY: 65 W. 42nd Street • 45 W. 34th Street • 39 Cortlandt Street
ALSO BRANCH OFFICES IN:
NEW YORK: Latham House, White Plains • JERSEY: Newark
CONNECTICUT: Bridgeport, Danbury • MASSACHUSETTS: Framingham, Newton, Stamford

THE TICKER Thursday, May 12

Basketball—Combined teams from A.C.B.H. and Student Council proved ineffective against a strong TICKER quintet Friday at the meet from 921 captured two meetings.

The first was by a 25-22 score, while the second showed a 28-25 score.

Mike Winston led all scorers with over twenty points in each game. Other players for the TICKER team included Bob Brooks, Norm Kleinberg, Les Lipset, Marty Perl, Dave Podol, and Bob Signer.

The only other scorers in the game for TICKER were Kleinberg and Lipset.

School Athletic Awards Granted at Annual Fe

167 undergraduate athletes who won varsity in twelve sports during the 1959-60 season were recognized at the College's 15th annual All-Sports Friday, April 28.

Heading the roster of special award winners was Nick West, who received the Ben Wallace Memorial Award of the Class of 1918, the College's top athletic honor.

West, co-captain of the Beaver swimming team, won the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Association low-board and high-board diving championship last month and has gone undefeated in two years of dual-meet competition.

Fred Schervitzman of the lacrosse team, Les Solney of the soccer squad, and Andrew Kemp and Reginald Slemp of the fencing team received the "most valuable player" in their sports.

Harold Mayer, recently to the All-American, is in fencing this spring, the Edward L. Lucia Award for sportsmanship.

The only other athlete more than one award was -Sullian, co-captain of the baseball team. Sullivan received the Felix Kramer Award as the most valuable member of the squad, and as the team-batter. Sullivan hit .415 for the season last year.

Industry Demands Trained Computer Programmers! The help wanted page of your major newspapers indicate the serious need to fill these well-paid professional positions. PSI can qualify you now.