President Voices Concern; 'Left-Wing' Students Cited

President Buell G. Gallagher, declared Wednesday that he once held about the political inclinations of several campus organizations had been confirmed.

Specifically citing one of the Uptown day student newspapers, The Observation Post (OP), along with another group, the Marxist Discussion Club, Dr. Gallagher noted "Communist-oriented" students, and possibly Communists were in control of the paper.

Peter Steinberg, editor-in-chief of OP, stated that the "charges are untrue and unsubstantiated." Dr. Gallagher's allegations arose chiefly from two controversies. One was the final editorial of OP last semester, entitled "Wrap-Up, and the other was the treatise accorded the war defense and sit-in demonstration incidents in the first issue of this term's paper.

The President noted that the "Wrap-Up" editorial of last semester "called for the revival of the class struggle at the college and the University, the student council and the faculty. The official University organ in part: "President Buell G. Gallagher said that there is no "class war" at the College between faculty or administration on the one hand and students on the other.

"The events of the past term have not, however, been in line with the views of the president." (Continued on Page 3)

Gallagher Cuts Ribbon At Center Ceremonies

President Buell G. Gallagher officially opened the Baruch School Student Center Monday, September 19, by cutting a lavender-colored tape at the building's entrance.

The Honorable Bernard M. Baruch was originally scheduled to cut the tape, but due to traffic tie-ups in the city he was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"Reopening this particular site brings history into its full circle" as this site was the original business school annex of the Baruch School, noted President Gallagher in his introductory address.

He added that in the center the students should involve themselves in activities different from those they engage in within their classes and offices.

Dean Emanuel Saxe noted that at the opening of the center, the theme should be to "use the building well." He urged Students to make use of the building fully and carefully.

The ceremonies occurred in the student center's main lobby before members of the Board of Higher Education, the City College Alumni Association, the faculty and student leaders.

"Twenty-Eight Years of Responsible Freedom" Baruch School of Business and Public Administration—City College of New York

Tuesday, September 27, 1960 By Subscription Only

Special Election Slated to Fill Council Posts

Student Council President Howard Misthal announced special elections to fill the vacant executive positions last May. He also reported that the position of recording secretary was vacated as a result of the resignation of Eleanor Kamins.

Elections are available in 416 Baruch School of Business and Public Administration—City College of New York

Mathematics Heads Failure List

The registrar's office has also released statistics on the number of students who registered any failure in the Department of Student Council and Class Council.

Howard Misthal

Earl Kaplan, Paul Donn, and both of the sophomore class have taken out petitions for the ten open posts on their council and treasurer of their class, respectively.

Approximately twenty four freshmen have announced their candidacy for the ten man executive board of the class of 64, while ten incoming noneligibles are vying for the four open positions on Student Council.

All petitions are due Friday at 2 and a candidates' meeting will be held Thursday, at 12:30 in 1221. All students who have taken out petitions must attend this session.

Grade Distributions:

Mathematics Heads Failure List

Described mathematics classes headed the list of classes for the Spring '60 according to figures released by Miss Arlene C. Shwab,Cancelled Registrars.

This marked the third successive term in which the mathematics department had extensive grade changes with the largest percentage of failures. Last term 26.8% failed prescribed mathematics courses while 23.4% failed prescribed mathematics courses.

Eight students received "A" while only 23.7% received an "A." Eight students received failures while only seven received an "A." The biology, German, music, physical education, and German education departments had no failures. Lastly, psychology departments also did not fail anyone the term before.

Total figure for prescribed courses showed 9.3% receiving an "A", 31.5% a "B", 42.6% a "C", 13.7% a "D", 0.5% an "F" and 1.8% an "N." The distribution of elective course marks presented a more liberal pattern. While 18.2% of the elective course marks were "A" only 6.7% were "F."

Other departments granting percentages of "A" include the German and chemistry students "45%", rated "16% and 14.4% of their students, respectively, as "excellent."

The mathematics was followed by Spanish and accounting in the distribution of failures, failing 13% and 6%, in that order.

Mathematics was followed by Spanish and accounting in the distribution of failures, failing 13% and 6%, in that order. Law had the distinction of being the only one in which more students failed than received an "A." Eight students received failures while only seven received an "A." The biology, German, music, physical education, and chemistry departments had no failures. Lastly, psychology departments also did not fail anyone the term before.

Total figure for prescribed courses showed 9.3% receiving an "A", 31.5% a "B", 42.6% a "C", 13.7% a "D", 0.5% an "F" and 1.8% an "N." The distribution of elective course marks presented a more liberal pattern. While 18.2% of the elective course marks were "A" only 6.7% were "F."

President Buell G. Gallagher officially opened the Baruch School Student Center Monday, September 19, by cutting a lavender-colored tape at the building's entrance.

The Honorable Bernard M. Baruch was originally scheduled to cut the tape, but due to traffic tie-ups in the city he was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"Reopening this particular site brings history into its full circle" as this site was the original business school annex of the Baruch School.

In addition, 64 students have transferred from the evening to the day session, while 70 have re-entered the day session.

RIBBON-CUTTING: President Gallagher, Dean Saxe and Council President Howard Misthal participate in the opening ceremonies.

President Buell G. Gallagher officially opened the Baruch School Student Center Monday, September 19, by cutting a lavender-colored tape at the building's entrance.

The Honorable Bernard M. Baruch was originally scheduled to cut the tape, but due to traffic tie-ups in the city he was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"Reopening this particular site brings history into its full circle" as this site was the original business school annex of the Baruch School.

In addition, 64 students have transferred from the evening to the day session, while 70 have re-entered the day session.

RIBBON-CUTTING: President Gallagher, Dean Saxe and Council President Howard Misthal participate in the opening ceremonies.

President Buell G. Gallagher officially opened the Baruch School Student Center Monday, September 19, by cutting a lavender-colored tape at the building's entrance.

The Honorable Bernard M. Baruch was originally scheduled to cut the tape, but due to traffic tie-ups in the city he was unable to attend the ceremonies.

"Reopening this particular site brings history into its full circle" as this site was the original business school annex of the Baruch School.

In addition, 64 students have transferred from the evening to the day session, while 70 have re-entered the day session.
Stigmatized

The recent controversy involving President Fred C. Gallagher and the Board of Governors has continued to be a topic of debate and discussion within the Baruch College community. The issue has been发酵蔓延，影响了校园的气氛和学生的生活。Gallagher's position on these two subjects was not fully explored in the previous article.

A great deal of the responsibility for the tension that has surrounded this matter falls on the expedient of the Board of Governors. The Board failed to mention its pertinent remarks on the sit-in movement. Dr. Gallagher's remarks on these two subjects were not utilized for general educational purposes.

Regarding the Academic Senate's concern for curriculum, it is important to note that there has been a shift in academic focus. The Senate has asked that the Board of Governors consider the need for a more comprehensive curriculum that addresses current social issues. Dr. Gallagher has also discussed the importance of providing a curriculum that is relevant and responsive to the needs of the students.

It should be evident, therefore, that the Academic Senate proposes to present a more comprehensive view of the situation that is currently affecting the college. The Board of Governors is encouraged to consider the following recommendations:

1. The Board should engage in a thorough discussion of the curriculum and its relevance to the students.
2. The Board should streamline the administrative processes to ensure that decisions are made efficiently and effectively.
3. The Board should work closely with the Academic Senate to develop a more comprehensive and responsive curriculum.

In conclusion, the Academic Senate believes that the Board of Governors has an important role to play in addressing the issues facing the college. The Board's actions will have a significant impact on the future of Baruch College. It is imperative that the Board takes a proactive approach to these issues and works collaboratively with the Academic Senate to ensure a positive future for the college.
Castro Named Coach Of Beaver Harriers

By Lew Lipset

Francisco Castro, a former Puerto Rican Olympic Star, was named head coach of the Track and Cross Country squads at City College, it was announced by Hyman Krakower, chairman of the physical and health education department.

The new Beaver coach was a member of the Puerto Rican Olympic Squad in 1938 and 1953. From 1946 to 1950 he held the Central American and Caribbean championships.

He coached the Puerto Rican team in the 1955 Central American games and was the technical advisor in athletics to the Puerto Rican government.

Castro, a graduate of New York University, succeeds Harry Girolamo as track coach.

Girolamo, who just completed his fifth season as coach, recently requested reassignment to teaching duties in the department of physical and health education.

In last year's spring term, Girolamo's runners captured the annual Municipal College Track and Field championships.

The former track coach marks the third Beaver coach to retire from coaching in the past five months. In June, Leon "Chief" Miller, lacrosse coach, retired, and this month Nat Holman will be leaving the scene at the Hotel Manhattan.

Those who are to attend the testimonial dinner, to be held tomorrow at the Hotel Manhattan, include Dr. Roche G. Gaugler, president of the College; James Weisler, editor of the New York Post; Clifford Anderson, who at 6-6 was the New York Giants in 1930; and the City college in 1938, and Leo Klauber, captain of the 1923-24 basketball team.

The dinner is sponsored by the City College Alumni Association, its Varsity Alumni Association, and the City College Club.

City Defeats Columbia In Soccer Scrimmage

Coach Harry Karlin got an opportunity to see his potential champion CCNY soccer team in action Saturday, when the Beavers whipped Columbia 3-1 in a pre-season game in Lewisohn Stadium.

After the game Karlin remarked that the team showed some “weak spots” but, hoped that with additional play the boys—many of whom have never played with each other—would work out their difficulties. He also mentioned that several experienced players, who have never played varsity for City College, would turn out for practice this week.

The Karlinmen tallied two goals in the first quarter of the game. The first came when Nick Wohlgemuth booted a hard shot from the Lion goalie. As the ball rolled free in front of the net, Vic Politano shot it home for the Beavers. The second goal was scored at 20:30 by Alcide Camber della.

Nick Wohlgemuth added the third and final Lavender goal in the second period.

Although the Karlinmen controlled the ball for the final two quarters, they did not score.

Columbia's only tally came in the closing seconds of the final period on a screen shot past goalie Bob Berkson. He never had a chance to stop it. Although the Karlinmen controlled the ball for the final two quarters, they did not score.

After the game Karl In re-tailed the possibility of giving his players additional work. He also mentioned “weak spots,” but hoped that with additional play the boys would work out their difficulties. He also mentioned that several experienced players, who have never played varsity for City College, would turn out for practice this week.

In the hope of giving his players additional work, Karlin has tentatively planned another exhibition game with Hofstra tomorrow.

Baseball

A ninth inning triple by Richie Bertodato scored Bill Cuddy and St. John's to defeat CCNY 4-3, Saturday at Van Cortlandt Park.

Sophomores prospect Howie Friedman and all-star Henry Steinback pitched for the Beavers.

The game marked the initial coaching assignment for Al Dillenard.