City University to Sponsor Television Education Series

The first in a series of television lectures sponsored by the City University of New York and televised on WPX, The University's Division of Teacher Education is producing the series.

Dr. Hyman Kublin, professor of history at Brooklyn College, will present the lectures. He is a pioneer in the development of Asian studies in social studies in the schools.

The twenty-nine half hour lectures will focus on the civilizations of India, China, and Japan. Specialists in various phases of Asian civilizations from local colleges and other organizations will appear on the series as guest lecturers.

Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the University's Division of Teacher Education, said, "We are happy to extend our services to teachers through television. We feel that no one can do the work of Professor Kublin's distinction. We hope that many others in the community will want the series too. Several members of our staffs have undertaken television teaching, but this is the first program to be produced by a division of the university. We hope that it may be a forerunner of future television programming."

Dr. Kublin said, "In a city which is host to the United Nations, the teaching of various civilizations and cultures is still neglected. Our first job is to prepare the teachers to undertake these studies. The television course is designed to unfold the richness of the cultural heritage of three countries whose populations collectively represent about one-half of the people of the world."

The next program will be held Monday on "China: The Land and the People."

Rivlin Says Cafeterias Inadequate

Dr. Harry N. Rivlin, acting president of the City College, noted at his press conference Thursday that the cafeteria facilities at the College were inadequate. He referred to both the Uptown and Downtown campuses when discussing the eating areas.

The acting president stated that students need adequate cafeterias and that if we win the support, there is still a problem of a site for a new cafeteria, location and availability of land. The best way, he said, is to improve what we have and make it as good as possible. The acting president emphasized that students should realize the cafeterias' hance. He said they should not have to be told to leave when others were waiting to eat.

Students Offer Varied Views About Bridge

Josephine Oppenheimer and Donald M. Feeney, members of the student body, gave their views on the recent controversy over the bridge at Baruch College.

Josephine Oppenheimer said she was not at all pleased with the decision to open the bridge.

"If the bridge had been open, we would have been able to save a lot of time," she said. "But now we have to walk around and we have to make a lot of excuses to other people." Donald M. Feeney, another student, agreed with her.

"I think it's a great idea," he said. "I think it's a waste of time to walk around and make excuses to other people."
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of THE TICKER: There is no question that the city of New York is quite content with its government. The reasons are many:

1. Our government has a great impact on society. It provides public services such as parks, libraries, and museums.

2. Our government is run by people who are knowledgeable and experienced. These individuals have dedicated their lives to public service.

3. Our government is responsible for maintaining law and order. Without a strong government, our city would be in chaos.

4. Our government is accountable to the people. It receives funding from the public and is therefore responsible to the people who pay taxes.

5. Our government is efficient. It is able to provide services to a large population quickly and effectively.

6. Our government is transparent. It is required to provide information to the public, allowing them to understand how their tax dollars are being spent.

7. Our government is responsive. It is able to respond to the needs of the people quickly and effectively.

8. Our government is inclusive. It represents the diversity of our city and includes people from all backgrounds.

In conclusion, I believe that our government is doing a good job and should be proud of its accomplishments.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

In the formation of a Young Democrats Club, the student body would welcome any help that they might need. The club is nonpartisan and is open to all students.

The Young Democrats Club was established by students who wanted to have a political organization of the Baruch School student to discuss the issues of the day. However, only students interested in the issues of the day will be interested in the club.

This is an opportunity to get involved in the political world and it will be a valuable experience for those interested.

Beavers to Play Ft. Schuyler Tomorrow in Search of Title

In quest of a league title and Nation Collegiate Athletic Association tournament bid, the Beaver booters will open their 1961 soccer season tomorrow against the New York State Maritime College (Fort Schuyler) in Lewishohn Stadium at 2.

Newcomers

Reynold Huntley and Neville Parker, both from the West Indies, Huntley has a strong kick, and will be used on the free side. Parker is a stand-up at halfback. The big test for the Lavender Storks will be against Brockport State seniors, who are the New York City League's top team. Parkers, after the season terminates.

Other fine prospects are sophomores.

Graduation Losses

Both New York State Maritime and L.I.U. were hit hard by graduation losses and are finding it extremely tough to obtain replacements. Last season, City defeated the Academy and L.I.U. by 7-1 and 6-0 scores, respectively.

Star for Center

In the center, there are two promising sophomores, Lenny Zane and Bill DeAngelis, who are likely to help most. Both Lennys and Zane are the other names under consideration.

The City College soccer team, coached by Francesco Casto, has been training vigorously, to get into shape for its coming triangular meet with Fairleigh Dickinson and Hunter College Saturday.

In the opening, the Beavers drew first blood by scoring four runs in the third inning. This was secured by two two-run doubles by long Island and seven errors. The "gams" totalled L.I.U. runs, seven hits and seven errors.

Two returning lettermen, Paul Lamprinos and Bill Hill, and two promising sophomores, Lenny Zane and Bill DeAngelis, are likely to help most. Both Lamprinos and Zane have been outstanding players in the last couple of seasons.

The Beavers will again try to find the winning way when the meet Monday night.

Beaver Nine Beaten Twice

After winning their opening game against Hunter, the C.C.N.Y. nine faced two stunning setbacks by Fordham's basketball team. Carmen Fiord was the only bright spot on the team. The Blackbirds finished the campaign with an 0-8 state record.

Newcomers

The experimentation employed by Coach Harry Karlin with his new team was successful, as evidenced by the fine play of newcomers Hank Windischmann, Wing Ong, and Peter Edey, all from the Columbia University in a serigraph game Wednesday. Coach Harry Karlin will probably continue experimenting with his players during both the New York State Maritime game and the L.I.U. encounter to find the position best suited for each of his players.

White starts are sophomores.

Carroll

The twenty-one year old Parker is a civil engineering major. He has a potential to become an all-American, tallied against Scarlet, exhibiting good form, also scored. Billy Sond, one of the booters' all-time greats, was the lone scorer for the Admirals. Sond holds the single season scoring record at C.C.N.Y. with twenty-six goals.

As evidenced by these contests, Karlin is depending heavily on the newcomers to strengthen the Beaver. Man like Neville Parker, Reynold Huntley and Neville Parker, along with the other newbs previously mentioned, will be counted upon for a successful season.

The Karlinmen commence their season with a triangular meet tomorrow at the New York State Maritime College in a Metropolitan Conference game at Bowdoin Stadium.

Neville Parker:

Booter Made CCNY the Hard Way

By Alvin Revkin

Neville Parker, a mainstay on C.C.N.Y.'s freshman soccer team last season, came to City College the hard way. Except for one season's scholarship and the matriculated status, which is full scholarship for foreign student scholar.

While living in the British West Indies, Parker was denied a student visa because his parents were living in the United States. Parker was living with his aunt in the Indies.

A few years later Parker was able to obtain a permanent visa, allowing him to be a U.S. resident. He lost his status as a matriculated student, which he had before, and to start school in the Uptown Center as a non-matriculated student.

Parker promptly ended this situation by compiling a "B" average on his fifteen credits and regained the matriculated status he "almost" had previously.

Last season Parker was a vital cog in the winning season, and this season he hopes to add the varsity in what we hope will be a winning season.

Managers

Harry Karlin, soccer coach, needs managers for his team. Interested students should contact Coach Karl in 413.

Travel

Students who are interested in watching the Beavers play can reach Lewishohn Stadium by either taking the I.R.T. to 187th Street, or taking the Long Island R.R. to 145th Street. Admission is free at all home games.

The City College cross-country team, coached by Francesco Casto, was the best runner in our country there is—more convincing than the Wehrmacht. He also has some depth to be provided by such reliable runners as Mike Lester and Morty Schwartz. Last fall, in compiling a 4:4 record, the Bears beat Hunter but lost to Fairleigh Dickinson in a close meet, 31-24.

The meet will take place at Van Cortlandt Park at 11 a.m.

Trackmen to Compete In 'Triangular Meet'

By Jay Weller

The Lincoln Trackmen were high-lighted by the out-standing play of sophomore Harry Windischmann, who was 9th in the country.

Two newcomers, Wing Ong and Peter Edey, also made the scoring column for C.C.N.Y. One of the returning veterans is Andy Houtkruyer, returning the team could be successful this season. Parker, who has two marri.
