Republican Candidates for City Posts To Address Political Forum Thursday Between 12-2 in Baruch Auditorium

The Republican candidates for mayor, controller and City Council president will speak in Pauline Edwards Theater Thursday at 12. State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, John J. Gilhooley and Paul A. Fino will speak at a political forum sponsored by Student Council and the Young Republican Club.

Lefkowitz graduated cum laude from Fordham University School of Law in 1934, and was a member of the State Assembly in 1928, 1929 and 1930. In 1942 he was appointed a Justice of the Municipal Court of New York by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. In 1942 Lefkowitz was a counsel for the New York State War Rations Commission, and from 1942 to 1954 served as counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee to Recodify the Revised Election Law.

He was elected as acting assistant attorney general in the 1946 general election. He served as a member of the New York Board of Education from 1945-1950, and as a member of the Board of Regents of the State University of New York from 1950-1952. In 1953, James P. Mitchell, then Secretary of Labor, named Gilhooley as his assistant, and in 1956, 1958 and 1960.

President Harry N. Rivlin clarified Council's Stand

President Harry N. Rivlin said Friday that the Administrative Council's speaker policy statement "represented the thinking of eight people who were grappling for an answer to the question: What should the policy be?"

At a special press conference which the acting president called for the student newspapers, Dr. Rivlin said that the speech had "been begun with an open mind."

Dr. Rivlin stated that "What the council did was to try to formulate principles which would apply to all institutions of the City University system. He added that "this was not a document to be accepted or rejected."

Dr. Rivlin pointed out the responsibility of "policy construction" to "obey the laws of the state and the nation." Thus, he said, the council relied upon legal advice from those people it had a right to rely upon for such advice.

"Let's clarify the whole procedure for the invitation of speakers," he pointed out. "Benjamin Davis, national secretary of the Communist Party, had been advised to supply legal advice."

"We were aware of the problem," said Dr. Rivlin. "In regard to possible changes in the statement he said that "This is not a decision for me to make. Ours is a government of law and not of men." If new evidence or other evidence is presented, the council will re-examine its policy, said Dr. Rivlin.

When asked about the criteria for determining who is a "known" Communist, Dr. Rivlin stated that this problem is step two of the process.

He said that the policy statement was part one, since it represented the formulation of the procedure. This, he added, "is the formulation of the procedure."

President Rivlin stated that the decision was at the discretion of the responsible educational official at each college, but that in the case of "doubtful" Communists, the "obvious answer" is to ask the Administrative Council.

Dr. Rivlin emphasized that the council had a "basic respect for our students as people" when it considered the situation. (Continued on Page 7)
Christian Association Hears Walker Speak

By Edward V. Palomba

The Reverend Brooke Walker told the Christian Association of Baruch College that the Church's greatest task is to help man realize his goal of understanding the meaning of his existence in living faith.

He delivered his message this Thursday at 10:45 a.m. in the N. S. A. room in the Robert Moses Center.

The Reverend Walker said that his single aim is to help people understand religious faith.

The theme of the speech was "Challenges of the Church's Existence Today." Mr. Walker believes that the function of the Church is to help man achieve a deeper understanding of what the meaning of his life is in relation to God and his fellow man.

The Reverend Walker said that the Church is not only a religious institution, but also a service organization. He believes that the Church has a mission to spread spiritual knowledge and to help people understand the meaning of their existence.

Jeff Bloom, chairmen, of the newly formed B.B.A. program at Baruch College, said that the meeting was an opportunity to present the program to the students.

Dean Saxe noted that the study of business is one of the main courses offered at Baruch College. He believes that the program is important to the students, and that it will help them to understand the importance of business in society.

The program, the B.B.A. program, the B.B.B. program, and the B.B.S. program are all part of the study of business.

Each one has its own unique focus, and each one is aimed at developing the skills necessary to succeed in the business world.

Mr. Bloom said that the program is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in business.

The program offers a wide range of courses, including finance, marketing, and management.

The program is designed to help students to develop the skills necessary to succeed in business, and to provide them with the tools they need to be successful.

Today is to fuse 'power and morality', "Well, they say every family should be alike to be happy."

"It means you can be happy, if they agree.

And for some reason, they decided not to."
Kelly States Problems Of Catholic Marriages

The problem of contraception is more than just words to use to twist people's minds. It is a genuine issue that affects the welfare of the individual and the society as a whole. The recent controversy surrounding this issue highlights the need for open and honest discussion on the topic.

The problem is not new, but the perspective has changed over time. In the past, the Catholic Church was stationed firmly against the use of contraceptives, believing that it went against the natural law of creation. However, the Church's stance has evolved over the years, and it is now more open to understanding the needs of individuals in modern society.

The problem is further complicated by the various mass media, which have played a significant role in shaping public opinion. In the past, the news was focused on positive stories, but today, the mass media often highlight negative aspects of society, which can have a profound impact on public perception.

The problem is also exacerbated by the limited access to information. In the past, information was not as readily available, or it was often difficult to access. Today, however, with the advent of the internet and social media, information is readily available to people around the world.

The problem is further complicated by the cultural and religious differences that exist. In some countries, the use of contraceptives is accepted, while in others, it is not. This can lead to confusion and misunderstanding, which can further complicate the issue.

In conclusion, the problem of contraception is a complex one that requires a balanced approach. It is essential to provide access to information and education, while respecting the beliefs and values of individuals and societies. Only then can we hope to reach a solution that is acceptable to all parties involved.

Letters To The Editor

We need to address the problem of contraception with open minds and a willingness to listen to all perspectives. Only then can we hope to find solutions that work for everyone.

The Beavers' hopes for an NCAA soccer playoff bid were dimmed Saturday when fighting City team, 2-1 at Lewisohn Stadium. However, the league championship is still within the Beavers' grasp. CCNY, dropped from first place in the Metropolitan Conference to six with Adelphi for the second spot. The first place teams are Brooklyn and Pratt.

Kingsmen Much Improved

Jim Kalifman found the Kingsmen much improved since the score deficit when the Brooks lost their squad contests from C.W. Post and Hunter.

There was no scoring in the evenly played first half. But in the third quarter, the visiting coach Carlton switched all-American left wing Ben Gibbs to center forward. Gibbs, a junior who had sustained an ankle injury earlier in the year, was able to use his exceptional speed more effectively at center forward.

Game's Initial Goal

It was Gibbs who set up the game's initial goal. He passed Fred Wallace, and the senior right wing shot home from short range. The goal would be the score 2-0.

Walt Maas tallied the Lavender's single goal in the second half, was also his second of the season. Also in the second quarter, Richard Zerlick, the Beaver goalie, was called upon the right to make two saves. Zerlick's save on the right fingertips by a Queens player attempting to score and had to be removed from the game.
