Jug Club Membership Approved At Meeting

Membership in the Jug Club, a portion of the Baruch school blood bank program, was formalized and approved by Student Council by an 85-1 vote Wednesday night.

Paul Zarrett '66 presented the motion to Council. The substance of Zarrett's motion was that upon distribution of four pints of blood among the undergraduates, a fully matriculated student and members of his immediate family, the draw upon the School's deposit with the Red Cross for five years after graduation.

Students holding Jug Club membership prior to December will derive the benefits—including life membership—that have granted to them before the expiration of the new procedure. Time was spent debating an amendment proposed by Danny Baumgarten that a Jug Club membership be granted for life. Baumgarten said, "What I am asking about (as well as donors) get out of school, but when they need it."

It was decided that the time of greatest need for blood was not immediately after graduation, but in the later years of life.

Students State BM Machine Location Poor

Gary Berkley '65 supported Baumgarten's contention to extend the membership period. He believed that the increasing demand for membership had sacrificed much for the entire student body and ought to be rewarded with life membership.

However, a number of S.C. representatives disagreed with this line of reasoning. Jeff Levitt '66 pointed out that the School might be placing itself in a perilous situation.

The City University budget request will be submitted to the City in January. Next June, the board will announce fees and tuition rates where applicable, for the following school year. The fee will account for 18.3 per cent of the funds for the new budget. New York City tax funds will account for 41.9 per cent of the proposed budget. The necessity for developing at once, the graduate program of the City University needs no argument. The overall total includes $4,567,800 for the graduate program. Four new doctoral offerings are proposed for September, 1963, in history, biology, physics, and engineering." Dr. Rosenberg concluded.

BHE Requests Record Budget of 70 Million

The Board of Higher Education approved a record-breaking operating budget request for the next academic year for the City University. Submitted by the board's Committee on Finance and Facilities, the $670,560,945 tentative appropriation is a rise of 16.5 per cent from this year's budget, announced BHE Chairman Gustave Rosenberg.

"The times require us," Dr. Rosenberg declared, "to make a record-breaking educational effort to extend the services of the City University. Current events make it all too clear why there is an emergency demand for a great many people of exceptional educational background and with highly trained abilities."

The City College share of the request is $16,820,065. The largest increase included in the proposed budget is for the City University graduate program, which will receive $2,022,786.

The new budget reflects an increase in enrollment of 1,200 students in the day sessions at the four municipal campuses. Also, 107 additional day session instructors are provided for in the budget.

Thirty-Nine Baruchians Vying For Student, Class Councils

Jeff Barash '63, currently treasurer of Student Council, and Neil Palomba '63, this semester's vice-president, are running for the post of Council president next semester. The Schoolwide election will be held Wednesday, December 12.

For vice-president, Mark Grant '64, Student Council corresponding secretary, is running against Alan Silverman, "George" Frerer and for class president, Barry Epstein is unopposed for the post of Class of '63. They are Donald Neubauer, Barry Epstein, Paul Geller, and Richard Horn. The election is between two tickets.

Election will be held December 5 between 10:30 and 3 in the a.m. and Marble Lodges of the Student Center.

Each student and faculty member eligible to vote for the blood in the School must be able to vote for the School and his immediate family, regardless of whether or not he has donated blood.

"This year we are stressing the need for student awareness," stated Gollin. "Since blood is however, inhaleable, the reserve must be replenished every year."

The blood drive will be held December 5 between 10:30 and 3 in the a.m. and Marble Lodges of the Student Center.

All students over eighteen are eligible to give blood, anyone under twenty-one must present a minors' release which is obtainable in either the Student Council or Boosters' office.

The blood drive is coordinated by Student Council with the assistance of Boosters and Alpha Phi Omega.

If you, or a member of your immediate family, need blood, contact the Department of Student Life at once, preferably before entrance into a hospital.

Blood Bank To be Held December 5

The goal of the semi-annual blood drive of the Baruch School is at least 200 pints, according to chairman of Student Council's Blood Drive Committee.

This year the blood drive will be held December 5 between 10:30 and 3 in the a.m. and Marble Lodges of the Student Center.

Students are facing a blood drive which is simple and painless. The Blood Cross Doctor will see that those who give meet the physical requirements.

The theatre's "Stalag 17" slated for Production

A preview of Thietron's production "Stalag 17," a comedy melodrama, will be presented on November 17 in the auditorium. The play was written by Robert E. Sherwood and directed by Donald Seeman.

Speech Slated On Functions Of Controllers

“Control Function” is a talk scheduled to be given by Selwyn L. Del Tufo, president of the American Management Association, in the auditorium on November 15. The talk will be followed by a luncheon at which fourteen ASB representatives will be present.

Letters

To the Editor of THE TICKET:

We feel deeply that some of our readers consider a letter to be a form of writing that is too formal for their use. We feel the opposite, however, and consider a letter to be an informal and friendly way of expressing one's thoughts. Letters should be short and direct, and should deal with topics of interest to the reader.

Blood Drive

The semi-annual blood drive has arrived, and with it comes an opportunity for all members of the student body and faculty to offer their support. At least forty members of the school have already volunteered to give blood, and we encourage others to do the same.

Cafeteria

We look with satisfaction on the school's purchase of an IBM computer. There can be no doubt that this purchase will improve the cafeteria's efficiency and reduce the wait for meals. We are all in favor of the new computer.
Veteran Cagers Oppose Upsala in First Contest

A predominantly veteran team will start for City College Saturday as the Beavers open their basketball season against Upsala in Wingate Hall at 8. The freshman teams meet at 6.

The game is played for the benefit of the Stein Fund, which provides medical aid for intercollegiate athletes injured during intercollegiate competition. A one-dollar admission charge is assessed, but all other games are free.

Coach Dave Polansky plans to start only one sophomore, Steve Goulden, at center. Probable starters at guards are seniors Jerry Greenberg and Johnny Wyles. Jump shot ace Don Sidat will start at one forward. Juniors Ray Camisa and Alex Blatt will battle for the other spot.

Upsala, which has not defeated City in four tries, has seven freshmen on its twelve-man team. At Upsala, freshmen are eligible for varsity competition.

Coach Fred Wiebolt, referring to the freshmen, said, "This is the best bunch of recruits I've had in my six years at Upsala. How well they do this year will depend upon the way these fellows fit into the varsity schedule. Four or five could be in the starting unit."

The Vikings will depend upon three seniors, Ed Pete Johnson, 6-2 Sheldon Kaplan, and 6-2 Bill Enarska for rebounding chores.

Upsala's leading rebounder and scorer, Bob Brandis, was graded "A" for rebounding skills.

Only four players are returning from last year's team, which compiled a 7-17 record. They are Gene Ekholm, 6-5 Ron Gates, 6-6 Gary Loper, and 6-3 Tom Jackson.

City Harriers Get 5th Spot

The Beaver harriers ended their season successfully by tying for fifth place in the "B" division of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America (I.C.A.A.) championships November 30 at Van Cortland Park.

City and La Salle had 112 points each. Maine, the winner, scored sixty-seven points. Mike Davy (15:51) and Leo Young (20:59) paced the LaSalle harriers.

Pennsylvania Meets CCNY Fencers

All-American Vito Mannino will lead the City College fencing team into action Saturday in the season's opening match against the University of Pennsylvania at Wingate Hall at 2.

Coach Ed Lucia noted that the team has been working hard in practice, although no definite opinion of its capabilities can be given until the first match is completed.

The Beavers, with a 5-4 record last year, playing one of the toughest schedules in the country, Navy, Columbia and N.Y.U., which consistently rank in the top ten, will be once again on the slate.

Last season City finished eighth in the National Championships at Ohio State.

Missing from the team are Bernie Eisenbaum and Ray Fields, who were of all-American caliber and had competed in two national championships.

Lucia is fortunate that he has over thirty players trying to break into the starting lineup. The main sources of new material are last year's freshman team and the special fencing physical education class.

Practice has been conducted three times a week and daily candidates are constantly looked over by the coach to determine the best prospects. These prospects will be listed with the lineup of the starting team.

Wrestlers Confident Of Winning Year

Despite the loss of Marv Goldstein and Phil Rodman, the Beaver wrestlers are confident of having a successful season.

Goldstein and Rodman were the stars of last year's club, which won four of six conferences, and competed in the 130- and 147-lb. classes respectively.

Two juniors, George Franklin and Marc Miller, will probably replace the standouts. Both have had one year of varsity experience.

The only veterans who will make contributions will be seniors Mike Bratnick, Alan Fain and Al Leidecker will be the starters in the 123-, 167-, and 175-lb. classes, respectively. Junior Larry Silver, who won the heavyweight class will be listed with last year's starting team.

Mal Schwartz and Harvey Taylor, this year's co-captains, will compete in the 177- and 195-lb. divisions, respectively.

Coach Dave Polansky plans to give the freshmen a chance to compete. The only freshmen on the team are Ber- ry Shay, who are no longer with us. Shay will make contributions.

Other new additions are Alexander Schwartz and Harvey Taylor, who have had some experience and have good prospects.

Returning veterans include Joe Desi, Bill Williams, and Jack Young. Young handles the freshmen.

The only veterans who have been added are Ralph Cohen and Sharyn, who are no longer with us.

This combination of seasoned veterans and some newcomers, who will give the team depth which it has not had in recent years.

City opens its season Saturday night against Columbia Saturday in Wingate Hall at 8:30.

Other teams on the card are Montclair, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Yeshiva, Temple, Bard, Franklin Dickinson, Kings Point, Hunter, and New York University.

Newcomers Bold in Swimming Team

City College's swimming team, bolstered by seven talented newcomers, will have a good chance of improving its season's 3-5 record.

The outstanding new arrival is Jimmy Stoller, who opened the season with a 1:42:9 in the 200-yard freestyle. In practice he has broken the C.C.N.Y. 200-yard freestyle record set by Sol S. for eighteen years.

Other new additions are Jerhett. Dennis Mor and Meken. These prospects have good prospects of making contributions.

Returning veterans include Leon Kostro and WOAD-Woolflebe and WOllebe are the two stars of last year's swimming team.

Pessis excels in the breast and distance swimming. Youngs handles the free-style events.
