Free Tuition Rally Slated On Thursday

President Buell G. Gallagher, who is leading a rally from South Campus to North Campus Uptown Thursday in an attempt to raise the awareness of students in the fight for free tuition.

Commenting on the rally, which will take place from 12 to 2, Associate Dean of Students David Davidson said that students were willing to give up their only club hour for this cause.

However, he did not expect the Uptown crowd to effect passage of the free tuition bill, which was vetoed last week by Governor Nelson Rockefeller, unless coverage by the media created sufficient public interest. A two-thirds majority is needed to override the veto.

"The purpose of the rally is to interest students in this semester's free tuition fight," Student Council President Fred Schwartz '66 stated.

Plans for the drive will be formulated at a meeting of the City University Free Tuition Coordinating Committee today at 7:30 at Queens College.

Attending from the Baruch School will be Mr. Schwartz, Council Secretary Robert S. Grossman '67, and Steven Sandell '67, chairman of the Council's Free Tuition Committee.

Speakers Ban Measure Introduced in Legislature

A bill banning speakers on campus with subversive organizations and speakers advocating doctrines, which tend to cause discrimination by race, creed or color from all public colleges and all public properties in New York State has been introduced into the Legislature.

The bill would apply not only to New York State premises, but also to non-profit branches of any of the subdivisions of the state. It would, therefore, include the College's campus.

Assemblyman Michael G. Rice (Dem., Queens) is sponsoring the bill, which was introduced by the Queens Chamber of Commerce.

It would direct the Board of Regents to adopt appropriate regulations and to define the subversive organizations referred to in the bill.

Douglas W. Hughes, chairman of the chamber's Legislative Committee, declined to comment on the precise effect the bill would have if passed.

"It is something the courts will have to decide," he said.

He said that a free college education is the best way to "educate our readers" to basic standards of Lincoln Rockwell's being invited to speak at Hunter College last year.

President Buell G. Gallagher, in his annual address to the faculty, called for a "fundamental violation of academic freedom."

English 1 & 2 Fused: New Changes Stated

English 1 and 2 will be combined into one four credit course next semester, Professor Andrew Lavender (Sub-chairman, Eng.) announced.

"Since English 1 and 2 have three recitation classes, with more frequent writing assignments of the students, instructors will have a reduced teaching load and students will benefit by a more intensified course in writing."

The student will also be able to complete his English requirement more quickly and go on to his major, he noted.

English 1 will be an intensified course in writing. Dr. Lavender explained, with an emphasis on exposition and usage.

More written material will be required of the student, including a term paper, and so that students who have completed English 1 only can take English 2.

"Because there are four credits for three class hours, (in the new course), the teacher will require the student to do more outside writing," Dr. Lavender stated.

"If we can get the student to do more, it will be beneficial to the student if it included four recitation periods a week," Dr. Lavender said that the course does not need the fourth period if it is done correctly. This depends on the initiative and the drive of the teacher, he said.

Dr. Rosenberg Attacks Veto

Governor Nelson Rockefeller's veto of the free tuition mandate bill was called contrary to a growing trend toward free tuition in this country by Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

"The people of the City of New York," he said, "as far as they have manifested their home rule privileges by voting to mandate free tuition, in the first place of the college now composed by the City University of New York by a six-to-one majority."

"In 1961 the law mandating free tuition was changed to a permissive law," he continued, "this was against the will of the people expressed in the law which has been successfully administered since 1847."

This year's bill, which guaranteed free tuition at the City University's four senior colleges, was vetoed by the governor on March 1. The Legislature passed the measure on March 1.

Emphasizing trends toward free higher education in other countries, Dr. Rosenberg pointed to recent events in Newfoundland and England.

"Only last week," he said, "the Newfoundland Finance Minister announced to the Provincial Legislature that first-year university student pursing higher education in Newfoundland would have to be supported by society. The Newfoundland Finance Minister stated that the expectation was that it would be extended to second and third years."

"A year and a half ago, in October, 1960," he continued, "the report by Lord Robbins and a twelve-man committee on higher education in Britain laid down as an axiom that free tuition achieves. "Invaluable school and college graduates. By that hour belongs to the student."

"This British government adopted this principle, and it has been followed by the officials in London as one of the most important state papers of the century," Dr. Rosenberg said.

He also quoted an American authority on higher education on what and who, which was qualified by ability and attitude to pursue them and wish to do so."

"The British government adopted this principle, and it has been followed by the officials in London as one of the most important state papers of the century," Dr. Rosenberg said.

Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg Speaks Out for Free Tuition

While rockefeller's veto of the free tuition mandate bill was called contrary to a growing trend toward free tuition in this country by Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

"The people of the City of New York," he said, "as far as they have manifested their home rule privileges by voting to mandate free tuition, in the first place of the college now composed by the City University of New York by a six-to-one majority."

"In 1961 the law mandating free tuition was changed to a permissive law," he continued, "this was against the will of the people expressed in the law which has been successfully administered since 1847."

This year's bill, which guaranteed free tuition at the City University's four senior colleges, was vetoed by the governor on March 1. The Legislature passed the measure on March 1.

Emphasizing trends toward free higher education in other countries, Dr. Rosenberg pointed to recent events in Newfoundland and England.

"Only last week," he said, "the Newfoundland Finance Minister announced to the Provincial Legislature that first-year university students in Newfoundland would have to be supported by society. The Newfoundland Finance Minister stated that the expectation was that it would be extended to second and third years."

"A year and a half ago, in October, 1960," he continued, "the report by Lord Robbins and a twelve-man committee on higher education in Britain laid down as an axiom that free tuition achieves. "Invaluable school and college graduates. By that hour belongs to the student."

"This British government adopted this principle, and it has been followed by the officials in London as one of the most important state papers of the century," Dr. Rosenberg said.

He also quoted an American authority on higher education on what and who, which was qualified by ability and attitude to pursue them and wish to do so."

"The British government adopted this principle, and it has been followed by the officials in London as one of the most important state papers of the century," Dr. Rosenberg said.

The proposed changes will take place even more beneficial to the student if it included four recitation periods a week, Dr. Lavender said that the course does not need the fourth period if it is done correctly. This depends on the initiative and the drive of the teacher, he said.

Addressing the students, Dr. Rosenberg said:

As you must already know, the system which enabled you to receive high quality education at little or no cost is virtually unique in American education. If we may venture an opinion here, I will state that the existence of a system of free education for the gifted has a far more important function in the whole scheme of a civic education than the numbers of graduates from that system indicate. Being able to count on a free college education provides the talented high school graduate, particularly if he comes from a family of modest means, with an incentive to plan for a college education. Those of us who have taken an interest in the college education of southern Negroes have found that the biggest obstacle to receiving a college education is the relatively low level of aspiration of Negro high school graduates. By contrast, Negro students in many young men and women hope to overcome this obstacle to the future, whether economically or professionally.
Scholarship Awards To Aid 23 Students

Twenty-three Baruch School students were recipients of scholarships this year. The students were notified this week that they had received the scholarships. The students are from various departments and programs within the College. The scholarship program is administered by the Student Financial Aid Office at Baruch College.

The scholarships were awarded through various funds, organizations, and foundations. The recipients were selected based on academic merit, financial need, and other criteria determined by the scholarship committees.

The scholarships ranged in amount from $500 to $5,000. The students will use the scholarships to cover tuition, fees, books, and other educational expenses.

The Scholarship Awards Committee at Baruch College is committed to providing financial assistance to qualified students. The committee evaluates scholarship applications from students in various departments and programs, and awards scholarships based on academic merit, financial need, and other criteria.

The committee encourages students to apply for scholarships and to explore all available sources of financial aid. The committee is available to answer questions and provide guidance to students throughout the application process.
Letters

To the Editor of the Ticker:

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.

The best way to learn is to hear all sides of an argument, determine the flaws of a many diverse ideologies. If we have the right to hear a person that the civil rights "movement is subversive; others feel that not segregated education is right or wrong.
Baseball

Mr. Barnett's presence on the field was a constant reminder of his commitment to the team. His power on the mound was a testament to his skill and dedication. The decisions he made during the game were crucial, as he had to carefully balance the risks and rewards of each pitch. His leadership was evident in the way he inspired his teammates, encouraging them to give their best in every situation. His presence on the field was not just a physical presence, but a mental one as well. He instilled a sense of confidence and belief in his team that helped them perform at their highest level. Mr. Barnett's influence on the team was immeasurable, and it was clear that he was a true leader on the field.

---

Seeking Employment?

Pi Sigma Epsilon, the National Professional Advertising Fraternity, is seeking motivated and hardworking members who want to make a difference in the advertising industry. We offer opportunities to network, gain practical experience, and develop skills that will benefit you throughout your career. If you are a forward-thinking individual with a passion for advertising, we encourage you to apply.

Why Does I.M. Travel to Bridgeport to See "F.F.?"

The answer next week.

---

The Ticket Congratulations

Editor-in-Chief

Chief Features Editor

---

Rosenberg...

(Continued from Page 11)

Booster Sports Director

---

Thompson...

(Continued from Page 11)

---

AMBASSADOR

---

CONGRATULATIONS TO

WILLIAM W. BALDWIN

---

Catholic University of America

---

George Shearing

---

Baseball...

---

Summer Flights To Europe

---

New York Daily News

---

Alumni Association

---

Senior Council

---

NCAA

---

Seniors

---

LeXicon

---

Gamma Deltas

---

Sports

---

Men

---

Lexicon

---

The Ticket

---

Subjects

---

The Ticket

---

The Ticket

---

The Ticket

---

The Ticket

---

The Ticket

---
Fencers Ninth In NCAA
As Stan Lefkowitz Excels

"It was an honor to be associated with these boys," These were the words of a worn and tired Edward Lucia, City Fencing coach, Sunday, only fifteen hours after the Beavers put on a tremendous show of fencing skill and courage to finish ninth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships.

The Beavers finished with a total of fifty-six points, one point is awarded for each bout won. The Lavender finished twelfth in both foil and sabre, and thirteenth in epee.

Coach George Baron, "It may sound a little strange, but it's true," he said. "I have been coaching for twenty years, and this is the finest team I have ever had in the NCAA finals. Navy and New York University were tied for second.

The Beavers were also still in contention, and it was beginning to look like it was a sure thing for them to better their fifteenth place finish of a year ago.

All three City fencers maintained the high level of form they had shown the day before. But as the day wore on, once again they were overtaken by more experienced fencers.

(Continued on Page 7)

Coach Edward Lucia and some members of the City College fencing team, after the Beavers' fine showing in the IFA's, last Saturday.

Winning Season
Is in View

POWER, the ability to consistently hit the long ball, will make the outstanding characteristic of the 1965 City College baseball team. In fact, according to Coach Sol Mitchell, "This club should be the best hitting team I have ever had.

The Beavers will open their season against Columbia and Archie Roberts Saturday, April 3, at Baker Field in Madison Heights. City came on long way last year.

Coach Baron Optimistic;
Newcomers Pace Stickmen

By ANDY WIENER

The City College varsity lacrosse team will open its 1965 season Saturday, April 3, against the University of New Hampshire at Lewisham Stadium.

Optimism is the key word describing the Beavers' chances this season. In the words of Coach George Baron, "I may sound a little optimistic, but I think we have a chance at the limelight this season.

The main obstacle facing the Lavender stickmen, who will try to reverse last season's record of 2-8, is the team's lack of experience. This season there will be fourteen new players, who have never played the game before. Joining them will be veterans Ossie Johnson, Lloyd Smith, and Roy Chaloupka. The coach also has high hopes for sophomores Vincent Pandiliano, Mary Schaffer, and Stan Nack, a goalie.

Even with the loss of last year's all-American Emil Castro and Leo Brown, who was voted to the New York Times All-American team, Coach Baron can say, "We will do well this season."

Last year's goalie, Andy Markoff, won't play either. Andy, one of the most underrated players in the East, averaged around twenty saves a game. Coach Baron described him as "the finest goalkeeper I have ever coached in City.

City has a ten game schedule this year. There are some tough teams on it, Adelphi University, Union College, C.W. Post College, Fairleigh Dickinson University, and the West Point, N.Y. team. The important sophomores, especially goalie Stan Nack, come through the Beavers should improve on last season's record.

We Have A Chamberlain Too

BY STEVE GLUSBAND

Records are made to be broken, and Baruchian Cuthbert Chamberlain is breaking every record in sight.

The winner of the 1965 Metropolitan Indoor Track Federation championships, he has broken the National Intercollegiate record in the 60 yard sprint with a 6.6 timing, and his 32.4 time in the 300 broke the school standard. A jump of 19-6 at the Metropolitan Championships also gave Chamberlain a school record.

At the CTC Relays, his four lap relay team won the National Intercollegiate championship, and with a distance medley of 3:21, he won the IC4A Championship.

Barry Mander, a second year back-stuffer, obtained his first 500 record in a couple of seasons. Coach Mitchell has a good mixture of returning veterans and promising sophomores, who should enable the Beavers to finish in the first division of the Metropolitan Baseball League.

In the fall, Coach Mitchell said that his biggest need was power. As the result of some additions to the starting line-up, he now has a good chance to take the foil

The Password Is Power

Smith To Carry Pitching Load

Baruch's Martin, a 215 pound southpaw, came through very quickly and has behind the plate. He will replace Barry Feuzeltis, who was a 240 hitter last year. Feuzeltis was invited to the Baltimore Orioles training camp, but he was not signed.

Last season Martin was an outstanding pitcher for the freshmen, but Coach Michalin wanted his powerful bat in the line-up. Bernie has come along very quickly and has made a favorable impression on everyone.

Lou Gatti, who transferred from Hunter College, will be at first base. Lou is another two hundred pounder (215), and in addition to