Baruch Students Protest Johnson Vietnam Policy

BY JOEL FELDMAN

WASHINGTON, D.C. April 17: Equipped with picket signs and packaged lunches, about forty sleepy Baruch School students piled into a Washington bound bus at 6:30 this morning to demonstrate their opposition to Johnson Administration's Vietnam policy.

Once in Washington, the students went to the White House to demonstrate their desire for an end to the Vietnam war and their wish for world peace.

This is an excerpt from a report on the march on Washington to protest the United States' Vietnam policy. The author, who is Editor-in-Chief of THE TICKER, gives his impressions of the event.

The rally and demonstration were sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society; participation were sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society; participation was coordinated by the Committee on Human Rights.

The students walked slowly around the chief executive's mansion, counter-picketers demonstrated across the street. The rally was announced by Howard Yahm '65, president of the Baruch Student Association, which accused the bank of unethical conduct in underwriting bonds to finance segregated Mississippi colleges, three white and two Negro.

The demonstration will be held in front of the Twenty-third Street branch (across the street from the School) on Thursday and Friday. During the demonstration, students will be handing out leaflets. "Faculty members will join the picketing," Mr. Yahm stated. Thursday at 1, students, members of the faculty, and neighborhood merchants will withdraw their funds from the bank. At that time they will present a statement to the branch manager explaining the reasons for the withdrawal. The point that the demonstrators are business students protesting "immorality" in business will be stressed during the protest, Mr. Yahm said.

His organization is working in conjunction with the Committee on Banking and Civil Rights, which is composed of approximately twenty-five civil rights organizations.

Executive of the Committee met with the President and the Bank two weeks ago, at which time First National City refused to refrain from underwriting future bond sales of the state of Mississippi.

The committee will be picketing the Ten branches of The First National City Bank on Thursday. The Twenty-third Street branch will be the only one to be picketed Thursday.

Picketing of First National City Called To Protest Sale of Mississippi Bonds

Picketing of a branch of the First National City Bank has been scheduled for Thursday and Friday to protest the bank's underwriting of a Mississippi bond issue.

The demonstration was announced by Howard Yahm '65, president of the Baruch School Committee on Human Rights, which accused the bank of unethical conduct in underwriting bonds to finance segregated Mississippi colleges, three white and two Negro.

The demonstration will be held in front of the Twenty-third Street branch (across the street from the School) on Thursday and Friday. During the demonstration, students will be handing out leaflets. "Faculty members will join the picketing," Mr. Yahm stated. Thursday at 1, students, members of the faculty, and neighborhood merchants will withdraw their funds from the bank. At that time they will present a statement to the branch manager explaining the reasons for the withdrawal. The point that the demonstrators are business students protesting "immorality" in business will be stressed during the protest, Mr. Yahm said.

His organization is working in conjunction with the Committee on Banking and Civil Rights, which is composed of approximately twenty-five civil rights organizations.

Executive of the Committee met with the President and the Bank two weeks ago, at which time First National City refused to refrain from underwriting future bond sales of the state of Mississippi.

The committee will be picketing the Ten branches of The First National City Bank on Thursday. The Twenty-third Street branch will be the only one to be picketed Thursday.

For the first time in over two years, the presidency of Student Council is being contested. Candidates for the position in the May 12 election are Mel Katz '66, now vice president, and Irving Yoskowitz '66, editor-in-chief of the school yearbook.

Other contested executive posts are treasurer, for which Jan Chang '67 and Norman Lipton '66 are running, and corresponding secretary, for which Lucille Yarber '66, and Ronald Schoenber '65 are the candidates.

Steve Scherr '67 is seeking reelection as vice president of the Athletic Association. He is unopposed.

In the only contested election for Student Council representative, nine members of the Class of '68, Carlos Aniell, Max Berger, Harry Binder, Margaret Fargo, Jerry Kaplan, Steve Leighton, Barry Tenenbaum, Susan Weinsten, and Alan Wiener, are running for six available seats.

Candidates for that post from the Class of '69 are Mr. Lipton, Thomas Murray, and Alan Reich. There are six seats open.

Mark Chernoff, Lenny Diener, William Slusser, and Steve Scherr are running unopposed for four of the six available seats in the Class of '67.

With six seats also open in the Class of '69, David Lewinsky, Herb Marks, and Harry Pace are the candidates.

In the race for president of the Class of '69, Sheila Offman and Irving Becker are candidates for vice president and treasurer of the class, respectively.

Five members of the Class of '69 are running for Class Council representative. The students are Douglas Lederman, Jack Mandel, Bette Panelli, Sharrone Shapiro, and Bonnie Weiss.

The election for the queen of this term's Mardi Gras will be held today and tomorrow. The voting will take place in the Student Center lobby.

The four finalists, Angela LeRe '68, Rodine Newitz '68, Lillian Yae Newkoo '68, and Susan Weintraub '68, were chosen by a panel consisting of Associate Dean of Students David Newton, House Planner Anita Pernell, and three members of the Department of Student Life.

All students may vote for the queen. The winner will be announced at the Mardi Gras on May 1.

Tickets for Mardi Gras are on sale this week in the Student Center lobby at $1.50 each.

Mardi Gras

"For the first time in over two years, the presidency of Student Council is being contested. Candidates for the position in the May 12 election are Mel Katz '66, now vice president, and Irving Yoskowitz '66, editor-in-chief of the school yearbook."

"Other contested executive posts are treasurer, for which Jan Chang '67 and Norman Lipton '66 are running, and corresponding secretary, for which Lucille Yarber '66, and Ronald Schoenber '65 are the candidates."

"Steve Scherr '67 is seeking reelection as vice president of the Athletic Association. He is unopposed."

"In the only contested election for Student Council representative, nine members of the Class of '68, Carlos Aniell, Max Berger, Harry Binder, Margaret Fargo, Jerry Kaplan, Steve Leighton, Barry Tenenbaum, Susan Weinsten, and Alan Wiener, are running for six available seats."

"Candidates for that post from the Class of '69 are Mr. Lipton, Thomas Murray, and Alan Reich. There are six seats open."

"Mark Chernoff, Lenny Diener, William Slusser, and Steve Scherr are running unopposed for four of the six available seats in the Class of '67."

"With six seats also open in the Class of '69, David Lewinsky, Herb Marks, and Harry Pace are the candidates."

"In the race for president of the Class of '69, Sheila Offman and Irving Becker are candidates for vice president and treasurer of the class, respectively."

"Five members of the Class of '69 are running for Class Council representative. The students are Douglas Lederman, Jack Mandel, Bette Panelli, Sharrone Shapiro, and Bonnie Weiss."

"The election for the queen of this term's Mardi Gras will be held today and tomorrow. The voting will take place in the Student Center lobby."

"The four finalists, Angela LeRe '68, Rodine Newitz '68, Lillian Yae Newkoo '68, and Susan Weintraub '68, were chosen by a panel consisting of Associate Dean of Students David Newton, House Planner Anita Pernell, and three members of the Department of Student Life."

"All students may vote for the queen. The winner will be announced at the Mardi Gras on May 1."

"Tickets for Mardi Gras are on sale this week in the Student Center lobby at $1.50 each."

"For the first time in over two years, the presidency of Student Council is being contested. Candidates for the position in the May 12 election are Mel Katz '66, now vice president, and Irving Yoskowitz '66, editor-in-chief of the school yearbook."

"Other contested executive posts are treasurer, for which Jan Chang '67 and Norman Lipton '66 are running, and corresponding secretary, for which Lucille Yarber '66, and Ronald Schoenber '65 are the candidates."

"Steve Scherr '67 is seeking reelection as vice president of the Athletic Association. He is unopposed."

"In the only contested election for Student Council representative, nine members of the Class of '68, Carlos Aniell, Max Berger, Harry Binder, Margaret Fargo, Jerry Kaplan, Steve Leighton, Barry Tenenbaum, Susan Weinsten, and Alan Wiener, are running for six available seats."

"Candidates for that post from the Class of '69 are Mr. Lipton, Thomas Murray, and Alan Reich. There are six seats open."

"Mark Chernoff, Lenny Diener, William Slusser, and Steve Scherr are running unopposed for four of the six available seats in the Class of '67."

"With six seats also open in the Class of '69, David Lewinsky, Herb Marks, and Harry Pace are the candidates."

"In the race for president of the Class of '69, Sheila Offman and Irving Becker are candidates for vice president and treasurer of the class, respectively."

"Five members of the Class of '69 are running for Class Council representative. The students are Douglas Lederman, Jack Mandel, Bette Panelli, Sharrone Shapiro, and Bonnie Weiss."

"The election for the queen of this term's Mardi Gras will be held today and tomorrow. The voting will take place in the Student Center lobby."

"The four finalists, Angela LeRe '68, Rodine Newitz '68, Lillian Yae Newkoo '68, and Susan Weintraub '68, were chosen by a panel consisting of Associate Dean of Students David Newton, House Planner Anita Pernell, and three members of the Department of Student Life."

"All students may vote for the queen. The winner will be announced at the Mardi Gras on May 1."

"Tickets for Mardi Gras are on sale this week in the Student Center lobby at $1.50 each."
The T poster Abraham Lincoln, God must have loved abo-!

Many times something is stolen and we take the attitude have been many thefts recently In the Baruch School. They through the ballot and not to their friend in the lunchroom. I handle bonds marketed by the matter of the gravest social import by organizing "picket lines. Before cial responsibility. This ia assemblies at which all candidates will be able to express the donor's home.

If students do not vote and do not attend the co wide book drive called "Books for Edulcation/"

Student and Class Council elections will be held May

Sports EditoV

Bob Famighetti '67
Associate ixiitor

Student and Class Council elections wijl be held May

The College Young Democrat

The Psychology Society will

Flancing Society

The fundamental historical fact of the twen-

Assistant Professor of History

Professor Kl* re­

Assistant Professor of History

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Professor Kl* re­

Assistant Professor of History

Professor Kl* re­

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History

Assistant Professor of History
Learning About Yourself Can Lead to Better Job and More Satisfying Life

Self-analysis Chart Provides Answers

by MORTIMER E. F. FREIBURG
Associate Professor of Psychology

One of the hardiest of the truths is to look at yourself objectively, realistically, without pretense, without self-deception. Such self-analysis is a very old process. In a variety of ways, men have always been forced to analyze themselves—by their parents, their teachers, their superiors, their subordinates, their peers. People analyze themselves, even in their dreams when they answer the question "What are you doing?"

Self-analysis is a very important and useful process. It helps us to understand many things about ourselves—our limitations, our strengths, our virtues, our defects. It helps us to see the world that we live in. It is a great aid to personal development and self-fulfillment.

In this article, we deal with the process of self-analysis. We try to show how it can be done, why it is important, and what it can achieve.

Self-analysis is a process of introspection, a conscious effort to know oneself. It involves three steps: the asking of questions, the answering of questions, and the interpretation of answers. The questions are directed at the individual, and the answers are to be found within himself. The interpretation is done by the individual himself, and it is his responsibility to draw the conclusions from the answers.

The questions that should be asked should cover the whole range of the individual's life, from his childhood to the present. They should cover his physical, mental, emotional, and social development. They should cover his successes, his failures, his achievements, his disappointments.

The answers to the questions should be sought in the individual himself. They should be found in his memories, his experiences, his feelings, his thoughts. They should be sought in his past, in his present, in his future.

The interpretations of the answers should be done by the individual himself. He should interpret his own experiences, his own feelings, his own thoughts. He should interpret his own history, his own present, his own future.

Self-analysis is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

People who have had a lot of self-analysis have often been called "wise" or "sage." People who have had a lot of self-analysis have often been called "deep" or "wise." People who have had a lot of self-analysis have often been called "sensitive" or "intelligent." People who have had a lot of self-analysis have often been called "self-aware" or "self-understanding."

Self-analysis can be useful in a variety of ways. It can be useful in personal development. It can be useful in self-fulfillment. It can be useful in self-discovery. It can be useful in self-knowledge.

Self-analysis can be useful in personal development. It can help a person to understand his strengths and weaknesses. It can help a person to understand his virtues and defects. It can help a person to understand his successes and failures. It can help a person to understand his past, his present, his future.

Self-analysis can be useful in self-fulfillment. It can help a person to achieve his goals. It can help a person to reach his dreams. It can help a person to live his life to the fullest.

Self-analysis can be useful in self-discovery. It can help a person to understand his own nature. It can help a person to understand his own history. It can help a person to understand his own future.

Self-analysis can be useful in self-knowledge. It can help a person to understand his own strengths. It can help a person to understand his own weaknesses. It can help a person to understand his own virtues. It can help a person to understand his own defects.

Self-analysis is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

In conclusion, self-analysis is a very important and useful process. It is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "wise" or "sage." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "deep" or "wise." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "sensitive" or "intelligent." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "self-aware" or "self-understanding."

Self-analysis can be useful in a variety of ways. It can be useful in personal development. It can be useful in self-fulfillment. It can be useful in self-discovery. It can be useful in self-knowledge.

Self-analysis is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

In conclusion, self-analysis is a very important and useful process. It is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "wise" or "sage." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "deep" or "wise." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "sensitive" or "intelligent." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "self-aware" or "self-understanding."

Self-analysis can be useful in a variety of ways. It can be useful in personal development. It can be useful in self-fulfillment. It can be useful in self-discovery. It can be useful in self-knowledge.

Self-analysis is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

In conclusion, self-analysis is a very important and useful process. It is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "wise" or "sage." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "deep" or "wise." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "sensitive" or "intelligent." The individual who has had a lot of self-analysis has often been called "self-aware" or "self-understanding."

Self-analysis can be useful in a variety of ways. It can be useful in personal development. It can be useful in self-fulfillment. It can be useful in self-discovery. It can be useful in self-knowledge.

Self-analysis is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.

In conclusion, self-analysis is a very important and useful process. It is a process of growth. It is a process of development. It is a process of self-fulfillment. It is a process of self-discovery. It is a process of self-knowledge.
Business: Touched by Comic Madness

Ritz Crackers In Apple Pie
By EDWARD W. MASON
Professor of Speech

The food of the gods has always been associated with a certain quality, a certain something substantial that seems to strip its true nature away from all others. It is a food that is in a class by itself.

Ritz Crackers, the apple pie of the working class, are not that food. They are the food of the night club. The new flavor, however, may be the food of the supermarket.

"What sort of records do they think I keep?" she asked, startled. Then I realized that this was progress, this thing, a new kind of joke. It was only a month or so before I had started taking records, borrowing to take the place of my old flattening can, doing the dishes. I had done this for a few months ago. Then imposing capitals produced their music, and I started again, trying to make a record of my own. But business is differtial. Ritz Crackers, for instance, have been introduced into the apple pie. This is the apple pie of the supermarket, not the working class, but the look and the flavor are there. The recipe for making an apple pie is as follows:

I. Take an apple and cut it up. You can also buy apple pie in the supermarket.

II. Cut up the apple and slice it thin. You can also buy apple pie in the supermarket.

III. Mix the sliced apple with sugar and a little eggs and cream. You can also buy apple pie in the supermarket.

IV. Bake the apple pie in the oven. You can also buy apple pie in the supermarket.

V. Serve the apple pie with whipped cream. You can also buy apple pie in the supermarket.

The apple pie of the supermarket is different from the apple pie of the working class. It is more of a joke, a food for the night club, not the working class.

Revolution

(Continued From Page 8)

reflects the future of Latin America. The city will be led by the forces of change. The people will take control of their own destiny. They will struggle for their freedom. They will be free.

Defend the Church!

No longer can those traditional power machines be taken for granted. The church has begun to be challenged. The people will take control of the church. The church will be free. It will be free of the old, corrupt, and power-hungry people. It will be free of the old, corrupt, and power-hungry people. It will be free of the old, corrupt, and power-hungry people. It will be free of the old, corrupt, and power-hungry people.

The people will take control of the church. The people will be free.

Runners Show Improvement

The return of Bob Boos, a versatile middle-distance runner, has led to a new revitalization of the Beaver track team. Boos, who has gained strength to wrestle and recover his form, has set new personal records in both the 880-yard run and the high jump. His improvements have caused the team to look forward to a strong showing in the coming track season.

Penn Relays

Parced by the second place sprint medley relay team, coach Francisco Castro's trackmen gave a creditable showing at the Penn Relays. Vincent Berger led off with a 52.4 clocking in the quarter, and Dave Schlesinger and Bill Wildgode ran the intermediate 220 yard leg in 22.3 and 23. Pete Ziemba ran the anchor leg, the half mile, in 2:51.5. The Triple jumper Bob Boygart jumped 43’7” at Franklin Field, to place eighth. Jimmy O’Connell set a new scholastic mark in the two mile event with a 9:28.4 time. This time earned him fifteenth place out of thirty-six long distance men.

---

Violets Edge City, 5-4, Miscues Cause of Defeat

Playing their second league game of the season, the Beaver ‘Nine’ was defeated by the N.Y.U. Violets 5-4 at Ohio Field, Wednesday, April 14. It was the first loss of the season for the Violets, while the Beavers have had from four to seven days rest between starts. As long as we don’t have four or five games in a week, we’ll be all right.”

The Beavers are looking for the fourth straight week of baseball games on hitting alone. ‘Today we got the breaks. They had more men on base than we did, but our defense held them off. ’

---

Meyreles, Smith, That’s It

A generation ago, the Boston Braves won the National League Pennant with a pitching staff of Smith and Meyreles, and then pray for rain.” The 1965 Violets also expected to make a strong bid for the Metropolitan Conference crown. If it does, its rallying cry may well be “Meyreles, Smith and that’s it.

---

Raquetmen Lose to Iona

By Steven Glusband

Coach Robert Cire’s netmen swept two matches with Pace and Yeshiva during the Easter vacation. Keene of the Gaiters, who has been named the only one of the players who are hitting over 200.

The Beavers lost their first match against Iona 5-1, at the Gaels’ Court Saturday. No further information about the match is available at this time.

The Yeshiva meet got off on the right foot, as the two top singles men for City dropped their rivals. David Pincus defeated Marty Deitch, 6-0, 6-0. Mark Sarnoff defeated Ely Block, 6-2, 6-1.

---

Killen Appointed Soccer Coach; Karlin Pleased With Selection

By Bob Stern

The Beaver baseballers got back on the winning track by edging Iona, 2-1, at Gaels field, in New Rochelle Tuesday, April 30.

The game was highlighted by the Beavers’ seventh hit, one of only seven hits as they won the distance. The defense was sharp again, and an off day for N.Y.U. Coach Mishkin said. “The defense was really great, especially after the game Coach Mishkin commended Eleanore Meyreles for his pitching. Iona jumped out in front quickly in two walks and an error producing a single. After this Iona settled down and shut out the Gaels for the rest of the game.

The Beavers capitalized on sloppy fielding by Iona in the third. Danny Schneider and Lou Gatti were safe on errors. A wild pitch and Bernie Martin’s two-run single scored the second run for the mark of victory.

After the game the Beavers played at West Point was cancelled because of rain. Because of scheduling problems, the game will not be played.

Monday’s game scheduled with Seton Hall at West Orange, N.J. was rained out. The game will be rescheduled in the near future.

---

Lacrossemen Top FDU, 11-2

By Andy Winner

"Going ahead and then losing the game is the story of our lives." These were the words of Larry Pincus, the Levitman for George Baron, after one of the stickmen’s many defeats.

It took the Beavers half a season, but they finally were able to prove that even coaches can be wrong. They trounced Fairleigh Dickinson University, 11-2, Wednesday at New Jersey.

The Beaver’s record is now 1-3-1. They had been defeated by the Army 3-2, 7-2, Wednesday, April 14.

In the F.D.U. game, good performances were turned in by Isid Juvic, Doug Hirsch, and Middlefield Rudy Chaloupka, who each also scored three goals. Goalie Sagi Max also played well.

Against Army, City was leading at the half, 5-1. But, as Coach Babcock said, “It was a close call.”

Middlefield Juvic played well in a losing cause. Once again, he was the Beaver’s defensemen Mary Sandburg also looked good.

Sandburg feels that ineptness is a major reason for the team’s losing record. "We are always down there, every win, but when the second half comes we just collapse."

There are two tough games coming up for the Beavers.

---

Killen’s Appointment Rejected; Karlin Pleased With Selection

By Bob Stern

Dr. Hyman Krakover, Chairman of City College’s Department of Physical and Health Education, has confirmed the appointment of William Killen, twenty-four year old graduate of West Chester State College in Pennsylvania, as the Beaver’s new soccer coach.

Killen will replace Harry Karlin, who was between the net for a half century at City College and eleven years as the mentor of the Beaver Boaters.

Coach Karlin is pleased with the department’s selection. He says, "As a player I have seen Killen play and he has a good account of himself."

When asked if he thought that Karlin’s appointment was a liability, Coach Killen said, "... Definitely not. I think that his youth will help him. Being twenty-four age as most of his players, Bill should have no trouble getting his ideas across to them."

---

Karlin Pleased With Selection

By Bob Stern

Karlin Pleased With Selection – A member of the 1961 National Champions, Killen has also played baseball and basketball. In fact, he was co-captain of both his high school soccer and basketball teams.

Several candidates were named as a possible replacement, only two were given any serious consideration. Besides Killen, Coach Karlin’s leading alternate, Lester Solney, was also considered.

But due to a City College rule, which was instituted as the result of the scandals of the fifties, Solney was disqualified. The rule states that the head coach of any Beaver team must be a full-time member of the faculty.

Solney teaches industrial arts in Junior high school. As a result, he was declared ineligible by the College, in spite of Coach Karlin’s backing. In any event, he will stay with the team.

Killen took over at Orance County Community College in Middletown. In the early spring, he was selected as an alternate halfback for the United States Pan American and Olympic teams.

In addition to his soccer activities, Killen has also played baseball and basketball. In fact, he was co-captain of both his high school soccer and basketball teams.