Petitions Due For Student Council Seats

By MARTIN FLANK

Response to the availability of petitions for Student and Class Council positions at the School next Thursday, has been met with a flurry of activity. Positions for Student Council representatives are open in all classes, and the Class Council is scheduled to make a statement to the Student Body, expressing its enthusiasm for the open seats.

"Two seats, one for each of the Classes of '67 and '68, are available to students interested in participating in this important political process. Petitions will be on hand at the Student Center lobby, and are due Thursday at 12. A meeting of all candidates will be held on November 5 at the Student Center.

"Two seats, one for each of the Classes of '67 and '68, are available to students interested in participating in this important political process. Petitions will be on hand at the Student Center lobby, and are due Thursday at 12. A meeting of all candidates will be held on November 5 at the Student Center.

SC to Distribute Text Of Minutes in School

A motion to distribute the minutes of Student Council meetings throughout the School was passed Thursday by Council.

"Copies of the minutes will be placed in the library, at the Student Council information booth in the Student Center lobby, and in display cases in selected parts of the School.

"As a result of the change, Miss Garfinkel explained, the library problem: it will be voted on Thursday.

The Campus Affairs Committee reported that the election for vacant seats in both Student Council and Class Council will be held Wednesday, October 13, 9-3.

The Community Affairs Committee reported that meetings to discuss the free tuition campaign were held Saturday at the Alpha and Omega, the Free Tuition Committee.

(Continued on Page 7)

Free Tuition Calls To Highlight Campaign

Telephones have already been installed in the Student Council office, as this semester's free tuition program gets underway.

"The campaign is being conducted primarily to the Student Council, where telephones are set up in 416 (the Council office) and 412 (the Council executive office) for volunteers to phone constituents of Assemblyman Sedgwick Green (sevenieth A.D.). Speeches will be provided for callers.

"A decision by the City University Free Tuition Committee to conduct this campaign against Assemblyman Curran (seventieth A.D.) may be reversed. Mr. Curran is expected to make a statement tomorrow in which he will come out in favor of an amendment to the State Constitution making free tuition mandatory at CUNY.

"Both legislators vote against the free tuition mandate bill last year.

A list of voters in Mr. Green's district will be available Thursday, when the telephone campaign will begin.

"To help raise money for the campaign, a dance, featuring the Byrds, a rock and roll group, will be held November 5 at the Hunter College Playhouse. Tickets may be purchased at $2 each from Mr. Berger.

(Continued on Page 7)

Tutorial Program Site Changed; More Hours Slated for Tutoring

The location of the tutorial program has been changed to Twenty-Fifth Street and Fourteenth Avenue, announced Gail Garfinkel, '67, chairman of the Tutorial Committee.

The reason for the change, Miss Garfinkel explained, was to make more hours available for tutoring, since the administration of the Church of the Crossroads, the previous location of the program, had only requested tutors for Monday afternoons from 3:30 to 5.

"The program that Baruch School students now tutor in is called the Hudson Guild-Stuyvesant Den, which has been set up entirely for the purpose of tutoring elementary and high school students who have fallen behind in school.

"The study den also has a "Read start program," in which pre-school children from deprived areas are introduced to the materials that they will use upon commencing their education.

"Currently, an orientation program for tutors is being organized to acquaint them with methods of tutoring and to tell them about the type of children with whom they will be working.

Students desiring to volunteer their services as tutors in time to take advantage of the orientation program should see Miss Garfinkel in the TICKER office, 416 S.C. C., for further information.

"Volunteers may tutor for as many hours as they have available, Mondays through Thursdays, 3:30 to 5. However, the tutor determines the time and number of hours that he will tutor one child, but must appear every week to do the tutoring at the designated time. Usually, Miss Garfinkel noted, tutors work one to two hours a week.

"Thus far," she stated, "approximately twenty-five people have volunteered to tutor, but the need for tutorers is still great. Everyone with one hour to spare each week could not possibly devote it to a better cause."
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

The question of...
Elections

This semester, Student Council is undertaking projects in three major areas. It is continuing the Fight for free tuition, it is organizing a literary project, and it is endeavoring to strengthen student-faculty-administration relations. For Coalition purposes, student representatives are provided in each project. The Student Council is involved in various projects devoted to each project.

There are currently six ways in the Year '89, four in the Year '88, two in the Year '87, and one in the Coalition. The Student Council is only interested in the projects devoted to each project.

The Student Council is planning to have the following projects in the Year '89:

1. Free tuition
2. Literary project
3. Student-faculty-administration relations

Just as in previous years, no petitions have been filed for the Year '89, so the Student Council is not planning to have any projects for the Year '89.

Justice?

Last week, the American judicial system was disgraced when the Haywood County Sheriff, inadvertently in charge of the local jail, allowed a prisoner to escape. The prisoner was subsequently recaptured after a long and costly search.

The State Attorney General Richard Farnsworth attempted to have the prisoner held in jail for another six months. The prisoner was a first-time offender and was serving time for a minor property offense.

When Attorney General Farnsworth refused to continue the trial, the Sheriff decided to have the prisoner held in jail without bond until the end of the year. The Sheriff claimed that the prisoner was a threat to the community.

The House of Representatives passed a resolution condemning the Sheriff's actions. The Senate, however, voted to continue the trial and to have the prisoner held in jail for an additional six months.

The F.A.B. (Federal Agency for Black Americans) has been monitoring the Sheriff's actions. The F.A.B. is a non-profit organization that advocates for civil rights.

International Trade

The International Trade Department has announced that it will be expanding its operations to include more countries.

The department has also announced that it will be opening new offices in Asia and South America.

In addition, the department has announced that it will be increasing its emphasis on sustainable and ethical trade practices.

Let's Get Out

By JOE FIELD

Mr. Fletcher, who was graduated from the School in 1945, was a member of THE TICKER. He was a member of the editorial staff and served as Business Manager. Often in the spring, Mr. Fletcher would call upon THE TICKER to help him develop the school newspaper.

Mr. Fletcher was a valued member of the school community and will be missed greatly.

American Peace Movement: Past and Present

Peace Activities Begun With War of 1812: Movement Still Continues in 20th Century

"Peace isn't necessary. Peace isn't human. Peace is in heaven's will. But I believe in it, and I believe we can have it on earth in our lifetime, for the sake of the children."

By NORMAN A. ROSS

What is most interesting about the American peace movement is the fact that it exists. The United States, in the words of President Woodrow Wilson, is not a peaceful nation. Yet it has been active in peace movements for over a century.

The movement began with the War of 1812, when citizens of the United States joined together to seek peace. The movement continued through the 20th century, with the United States involved in wars and conflicts around the world.

The movement continues today, with peace activists working to end war and promote peace. The movement is committed to creating a world where war is not an option. The movement is committed to creating a world where peace is not just a dream, but a reality.
Peace Campaign: From the War of 1812 Through the War in Vietnam

(Continued from Page 3) VII) "Millions of Americans have joined in a movement to end all war in the United Nations in a war which the United States led.

The American Peace Society, founded 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.

The American Peace Society, founded in 1776, has seen many ups and downs in the movement for peace. Its 10,000 members, including the editors of this magazine, have worked for peace and non-violence since its inception. The Peacemakers, a group of 30,000 members, was organized in 1820 to work for peace and to help the poor. The League of Universal Brotherhood, founded in 1846, was one of the earliest international peace organizations.
Youth Leads Modern Day Peace Efforts in U.S.

(Continued from Page 3)

peace is antimilitarism. The greater gift of all recent issues of their magazine have dealt with the Arab threat to Israel, the German threat to Israel, and the German-Arab threat to Israel. The concept of a world government is as elusive as the much the same definition as the U.S. forces seem to ascribed. The U.S. is a confederation of nations, with their sovereignties largely intact. It can act only as an entire nation, and it can’t change, which, in fact, poses the greatest threat to peace.

The Campaign for World Government, established in 1907, calls for a world authority. This authority, which in turn, would act directly upon individuals within nations if they violated, or threatened, the peace. To create this structure, the campaign proposes a world constitutional convention.

Youth on the Move

Adolescence is a time for rebellion, not only against the established order. Any sort of this rebellion gains ground if there is rebellion against the rebelling itself. There are, nevertheless, differences that distinguish them and make their victory possible. The young generation has faith in the future, faith in change, faith in humanism, and faith in the possibility of social reform. Many of the young generation’s parents were the generation that overthrew the old order.

Though the pacifist groups are somewhat overlapping in membership and philosophy, there are, nevertheless, differences that distinguish them and make their victory possible. The young generation has faith in the future, faith in change, faith in humanism, and faith in the possibility of social reform. Many of the young generation’s parents were the generation that overthrew the old order.

Youth Toward Peace

One of the most familiar and persistent social movements of recent years is the peace movement. The American Youth Movement, for example, emerged in the late forties. The movement was composed of young people who were seeking a world that would be peaceful and just. The movement was organized in 1948, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Youth Movement was organized in 1948, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Youth Movement was organized in 1948, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people.

In 1960 a new youth group was emerging in America. This group was called the Peace Movement. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people.

In 1960 a new youth group was emerging in America. This group was called the Peace Movement. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people.

In 1960 a new youth group was emerging in America. This group was called the Peace Movement. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people. The Peace Movement was organized in 1960, recognizing the need for an organization to help young people.
1. Retired IFC Athletic Trophy-winners three years in a row.
2. Scavenger Hunt Award — Two terms in a row.
3. Most Improved Chapter Award TAU EPSILON PHI National Fraternity (75 Chapters)

We must be doing something right!

SMOKER
25 West 23rd Street
OCT. 8, 1965 — 8:30 P.M.

FOOD

BEER

SAGA Alpha Mu
51 IRVING PLACE
GR 5950
(Corner 17th Street, One Block East of Park Ave. South)
Near All 14th St. Stations

SMOKER
Refreshments — Entertainment
October 8, 1965
8:00 P.M.

Congratulations To Our Brothers At L.U.U. On Setting The 100 Hour Motorcycle Endurance Record.
But, What About Your Classes?

ALPHA PHI OMEGA
World's Largest Fraternity

SMOKER
Friday, October 8, 1965
8:30 P.M.
323 Park Avenue South
(Corner 24th Street)
BAD NEWS FOR BEAVER BOOTERS: The N.Y.U. Violets completely out-played the Lavender Saturday, holding them scoreless.

Soccermen Suffer Their First Defeat

By BOB STERN

The City soccermen were soundly beaten by the Metropolitan Conference's third-place team, the N.Y.U. Violets, Saturday, September 25, but played the Lavender Saturday, holding them scoreless.

The City soccermen were soundly beaten by the Metropolitan Conference's third-place team, the N.Y.U. Violets, Saturday, September 25, but played the Lavender Saturday, holding them scoreless.

The victory gave the Beavers a 1-0 record in Met Conference competition this season.

The game was played at University Field, Saturday. The N.Y.U. Violets were led by Coach William Killen, who has compiled a fine 12-2-1 record against the Violets. However, this time the Beavers were up against a well-seasoned club, the Violets were able to capitalize on the Beaver errors.

Right halfback Mike Shamir tallied the first goal, and one of the Beavers' errors. The Beavers were down 1-0 at the 35th minute of the first half. The Violets completely out-played the Lavender, holding them scoreless.

According to Coach William Killen, "N.Y.U. is still a strong contender for the Met Conference championship. Although they lost, the team is improving. The team is improving. Iona is a tough team, but we played well. The team is improving."

The City soccermen were soundly beaten by the Metropolitan Conference's third-place team, the N.Y.U. Violets, Saturday, September 25, but played the Lavender Saturday, holding them scoreless.

City 'Nine' Performs Admirably But Attains Only Tie and Loss

By WARREN HALM

Facing a seasoned Iona opponent, the Beavers were able to get away without this season.

Ron Rizz, sophomore right halfback, went the route in the opener, his second complete game in two starts. He was headed for his second defeat when Jimmy LoPiano, a fast-rising newcomer, cracked a two run homer in the ninth inning.

This made the score 3-4 with Iona still in the lead. Later in the same inning Lew Gatti singled across the tying run. In the fall extra innings are not played.

Dave Mandel, a senior who played another excellent game at shortstop, established himself as the most consistent Beaver player.

Sophomore backup Dave Rosenblom and Russ Auerbach are solving City's catching problems. They will be followed by Coach William Killen's second-year unit.

Leading the City runners; Jim O'Connell covered the grueling five mile race in 31:5.8, establishing himself as the most consistent Beaver player.

According to Coach William Killen, "N.Y.U. is still a strong contender for the Met Conference championship. Although they lost, the team is improving. Iona is a tough team, but we played well. The team is improving."

The City soccermen were soundly beaten by the Metropolitan Conference's third-place team, the N.Y.U. Violets, Saturday, September 25, but played the Lavender Saturday, holding them scoreless.

Harriers Run Over Adelphi As Jim O'Connell Starts Fast

By STEVE GLUSBRAND

Starting the season off "out the right foot, the Beaver harriers defeated Adelphi 15-49, Saturday, at Van Courtlandt Park. The City runners, Jim O'Connell covered the grueling five mile race in 31:5.8, establishing himself as the most consistent Beaver player.

O'Connell was well represented by his crew. The harriers defeated Adelphi 15-49, Saturday, at Van Courtlandt Park. The City runners, Jim O'Connell covered the grueling five mile race in 31:5.8, establishing himself as the most consistent Beaver player.

Booters to Face Powerhouses

By JOHN FAMULARI

Coach William Killen's soccermen face two powerhouse clubs this week in what is shaping up as another exciting season for the Beavers.

The championship L.I.U. and C. W. Post teams will play the Beaver booters this week. Both games will be played at the Beaver booters this week. Both games will be played at the Beaver booters this week. Both games will be played at the Beaver booters this week.

The championship L.I.U. and C. W. Post teams will play the Beaver booters this week. Both games will be played at the Beaver booters this week. Both games will be played at the Beaver booters this week.

Challenge

TICKET, Student Council, and Lexicon challenge the English Department to a softball game on Sunday, October 24, at the softball field in Central Park at 66 Street.