Council Backs Vietnam Policy; Year-Term Motion Is On Agenda

Joel Johnson Supported In One-sided Vote

Student Council passed a motion, 17-5-3, last Thursday supporting the President's policy in Vietnam.

The motion, introduced by Marc Berman, a member of the Student Council and Public Administration, feels that for the welfare of the student body of this school it is imperative for us to voice our support of President Johnson's policy of using all avenues open to us in the United States to ensure a peaceful settlement in Vietnam, while continuing our military involvement supporting the people of South Vietnam. Furthermore, we express the hope that our

Free Tuition Drive Failed In NYC Vote

This semester's free tuition campaign by students of the College was an apparent failure as the targets of the drive were re-elected by greater margins than those of last year.

Assemblyman Paul J. Curran (Rep., 70 A.D.), was the victim over Democrat Donald A. Hopper, a candidate for the Liberal ticket, to the tune of 22,748 votes to 10,501 for Mr. Hopper and 4,570 for Mr.

Incumbent Sedgwick W. Green (Rep., 72 A.D.,) retained his seat with a vote of 27,149 against 1,152 for Mary Yankauer (Dem.), 5,350 for Lewis Kruger (Lib.), and 2,400 for Alfred (Con.).

Martin Schlow '65, vice president of Student Council, attributed the drive's unsuccessful result to the upset victory of Republican-Liberal candidate John V. Lindsay in the mayoralty race. Mr. Lindsay had large pluralities in the districts of both Mr. Curran and Mr. Green.

Looking at the future prospects of free tuition, he noted, "Although the campaign was not as big a success as it was hoped to be, we have managed to obtain a signed statement from the higher officials of the College stating their support of free tuition."

Commenting on participation of Baruch students in the free tuition drive, Mr. Schlow stated that eight to one hundred students joined the drive, many working in the evenings and on the weekends. Those students were able to reach about 5,000 voters by phone, he stated. Mr. Schlow expressed the hope

Calls For Altering SC Qualifications

A motion requiring all members of Student Council to be elected for one year will be introduced at Council's next meeting.

Presently, representatives and executives are elected each semester.

The motion also changes the qualifications required to make a student eligible for executive positions.

One term on Council and at least lower junior standing is required for the presidential and vice presidential positions under the motion.

The present rule requires a presidential candidate to have lower junior standing, and a member of the executive board. Candidates for treasurer, recording secretary, and any other member of the executive board must be at least a junior and a member of one of Council's standing committees in order to run under the proposed motion.

The motion, which seeks to amend the Council charter, will be voted on Thursday, November 18. Because Thursday is a School holiday (Veterans Day), there will be no Council meeting this week.

A draft of the motion was introduced last week by Council President Mel Katz '66. The draft reads as follows (deletions refer to items to be removed from the charter if the motion is passed):

Memorial Set For Baruch

A Memorial Convocation will be held in the School auditorium Tuesday, November 16, to pay tribute to one of the College's most distinguished alumni, the late Bernard M. Baruch.

For that day only, so that all students will be able to attend the event, class hours will be adjusted as follows:

- 8 o'clock hour as usual
- 8 o'clock hour as usual
- 9 to 11 o'clock hour
- 11 o'clock hour
- 12 o'clock hour and there
- 11 o'clock hour

The principle speaker will be the Honorable John J. McCloy, partner of the law firm of Milbank, Tweed, Hadley, and McCloy, and formerly president of the World Bank.

Mr. Baruch's family and several of his friends have been invited to attend.

Booth Set Up To Determine Student Ideas

Members of a Student Council committee have set up a booth in the lobby of the main building to solicit student grievances concerning the Baruch School.

The committee members will ask students to list the criticisms they have of the School on a questionnaire.

The booth opens today.

The questionnaire was made up jointly by the Statistics Society and the college's Ad Hoc Committee, which supports its chairman, Council Treasurer Norman Lipton '67, "function as a grievance committee for students."

He hopes to get response to the questionnaires from approximately five hundred students, and present the grievances considered most important by the student-faculty-administration relations, the Ad Hoc Committee decided to host a "talk-out," to be held in the lobby of the main building, to solicit student grievances concerning the Baruch School.

New Group Slated To Plan "Talk-Out"

A student committee to coordinate plans for the "Talk-out" has been formed, Associate Dean of Students David Newton announced Thursday.

The committee will be involved in planning the issues to be discussed, and deciding who will be invited to the "talk-out."

Members of the committee are Max Berger '68, a Student Council representative; David Goldberg '67, editor-in-chief of THE TICKER; Steven Gelb '67, a Sigma Alpha member; Norman Lipton '67, treasurer of Student Council and chairman of a special Council committee which is taking a survey to determine student grievances, and Thomas Murray '66, chairman of Sigma Alpha.

Plans for a "talk-out" arose from a meeting of the Faculty Council Ad Hoc Committee, chaired by Dean Newton.

For that day only, so that all students will be able to attend the event, class hours will be adjusted as follows:

Food 'inedible'

The hot food counter in the tenth floor cafeteria suspended service last week.

Associate Dean of Students David Newton, whose Department of Student Life supervises the operation of the cafeteria, stated, "The food did not meet the standards of the students. The New York Cannery Company is experimenting with different meats to meet these standards, but"

The company supplied the food served at the counter. In the interim, hot food will be provided in the vending machines, as it was in the past.

Charles King, assistant general manager for the Cannery Company, noted that his organization "is now in the process of experimenting with a dozen different hamburgers that are being cooked in ovens similar to the ones in the cafeteria."

He also said that, since experimentation began, the taste of the hamburgers has been greatly improved, but the problem of its odor must still becoped with.

Mr. King maintained that "every hamberger served in the cafeteria was top quality beef, and the prob

B.C. Journals, facing a possible shutdown because of lack of funds, have suspended publication of three of its five journals. The move is the latest in a long line of actions by the college administration to deal with a financial crisis that has left the institution on the brink of bankruptcy.

Dr. Gallagher Asking For Record Funds

The president noted during the speech that the college is in a critical situation. "It has been hoped, for some time to come," he said, "that the state of the economy will not allow us to continue as we have in the past.

Despite drastic measures and the sale of assets, the outlook remains uncertain. Dr. Gallagher stated that the Board of Trustees will consider a request for an additional $3 million in funds for the College's operations. He noted that the campus will be closed for two weeks during the winter break to help address the financial situation.

In my shots I tried to show the emotions of the men in Vietnam, a Pulitzer Prize winning photographer, Herb Faas, said.

"I used a camera to capture the reality of war," Faas said. "I wanted to show the human impact of the conflict." Faas, who has been covering the Vietnam War for the past three years, said his goal is to bring the war home to Americans.

In his photos, Faas has captured the heartbreak and struggle of soldiers, the devastation of war, and the resilience of civilians. His work has been published in major newspapers and magazines, and he has won numerous awards, including a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the war.

"I want people to understand the true cost of war," Faas said. "I hope my photos will inspire them to think about the impact of our actions on others.

At the slide show, Mr. Faas discussed the importance of freedom of expression in a democratic society. He said that the right to express our views is a fundamental human right, and that it is essential for the well-being of our society.

Humphrey Main Speaker At Annual Alumni Dinner

The former Vice President of the United States will be the keynote speaker at the City College's Annual Alumni Dinner held at the annual alumni dinner. Humphrey spoke about the importance of education and the need for cooperation between the government and the private sector to address the challenges facing our country.

"Education is the key to a better future," Humphrey said. "We must work together to ensure that all Americans have access to quality education." He also discussed the need for greater cooperation between the government and the private sector to address the challenges facing our country.

Dr. Gallagher Loses Election

The former governor was defeated in his bid for a second term as governor. Lindsay campaigned vigorously throughout the state, but he was unable to overcome the popularity of his opponent.

"I'm disappointed," Lindsay said. "I fought hard for this victory, but I wasn't successful. I'll take this in stride and continue to work for the betterment of our state."

Before the election, Governor Bobcat faced a series of challenges, including a recall campaign led by his opponents. Despite these obstacles, he maintained a strong presence in the polls. Lindsay's victory was seen as a major defeat for the incumbent governor and his supporters.
Year Terms

A motion will be debated at the next Student Council meeting discussing the idea of converting the current term system to a one-term system for one year terms, instead of one semester. The change would take place next January.

One of the major reasons for the motion's being forwa-ded is the idea of having a representative for the Javits Center. The Javits Center is the home of Baruch College's Engineering School. The student body of the Javits Center is weakly represented at the Student Council. The Javits Center requested that they be represented at the Student Council. This would give the student body of the Javits Center a stronger voice in the Student Council.

Another concern is the idea of having a representative for the School of Business. The School of Business is the largest school at Baruch College. Currently, the School of Business is not well represented at the Student Council. The School of Business requested that they be represented at the Student Council. This would give the student body of the School of Business a stronger voice in the Student Council.

The motion will be debated at the next Student Council meeting. The motion will be voted on at the next Student Council meeting.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

I am writing in support of the motion to have a representative for the Javits Center and the School of Business at the Student Council. I believe that these two schools should be better represented at the Student Council. The Javits Center and the School of Business are both important schools at Baruch College.

With mist hovering over the country, fall has made its mark. Summer's soothing breezes have receded into the past as winter's nipping winds prepare for the long season ahead.

With its multi-colored leaves dotting the landscape, fall brings more than the wonders of nature to America's colleges. Along with the withering of plants, fall brings out the strengthening of the football spirit in everyone's heart.

On Ivy League campuses throughout the country, the third of leathers against the crunch of spikes against gridsiron can be heard at almost any given moment. But in Beaver country there are no such sounds. There is football spirit, but it is suppressed in each individual heart. As Ken Geller, Sports Editor of Observation Post, puts it: "The body lay dead and motionless."

DAYS OF PAST GLORY: A scene scoreless tie. Scenes like this may happen again.

For those pigskin diehards who can no longer allow their spirit to be suppressed, an opportunity for the liberation of their feelings is now offered. Members of the Beaver football club are ready to exhume the body, to revitalize a sport which once flourished at City College.

Before the body was laid to rest from 1956 because of financial disease, there were many exciting moments. The Lavender first kicked off in 1872. Of course, the happenings on that chilly day are not remembered by any of our lower freshmen.

But we must remember the time that the team found themselves in a bit of trouble. For their lone pigskin, battered and beaten for a decade, was in desperate need of a replacement. After an attempt to purchase another ball failed, the next best thing was done: the old one was repaired.

In 1986, the gridironers, paced by their captain, scored a 19-9 upset over N.Y.U. This field leader later exclaimed further this season by his team, which Coach Noah Boll says is as good as any squad I have ever coached.

It must be quite a team, since the riflemen's mentor considers this squad superior to last season's team, which posted a perfect 15-0 record.

The team will be paced by returning lettermen Jerry Uretsky, Bruce Gitlin, Alan Feit and Matt Cardillo. These four will be counted upon heavily when the competition gets tougher during the latter part of the season.

One of the main problems that the nimrods must face will occur in December when Sergeant Hall leaves for Germany. He is being sent there by the Army, and as a result of this will not be here for a good part of the riflemen's schedule.

The high powered Beaver rifle team successfully opened its season with a 1302-1127 triumph over Cooper Union, Friday at Lewisohn Stadium. This victory lengthened the nimrods' consecutive home winning streak to eighty-seven matches. This phenomenal record should be extended further this season by the team which Coach Noah Boll says is as good as any squad that I have ever coached.

City Rifle Team Aims For Winning Season

The first big match is Friday, December 17 against the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point. Coach Ball considers them one of the Beaver's toughest opponents.
