Referendum On Elections Voted Down

A motion to have a referendum—before the one-year trial period set last semester on adopting year terms for all City College—was defeated, 19-8, at Thursday's Council meeting.

Dr. Isador G. Kugler, president of the senior class and maker of the motion, stated: "In considering this motion I am not saying I am for year terms or against them. However, just a year and a half ago the students indicated in a School-wide referendum that they were against the adoption of year terms."

"Nevertheless," he noted, "Student Council has decided to institute year terms for a one-year trial period after which the student body would have to vote year terms out, and this would be very difficult."

Arguing against Mr. Giata, Mr. F. F. Murray, chairman of the Student Council for the last semester when the year term motion was passed, stated, "I believe that year terms will improve Council in many ways. At least students should be given a chance to observe the change they are voting upon."

In other business, Council accepted seven of nine applications for charity drives. The applications of the Human Rights Movement to hold a drive for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (S.N.C.C.) and the Baruch School for the students who are striking at St. John's University were "turned down providing "intellectual stimulation."

The committee has prepared a three-page questionnaire to be distributed in all the classes of cooperating instructors. The results of the evaluation would be turned over to the faculty members involved.

Students will be asked to rate their instructors' teaching. The questionnaires will be passed around and students are asked to fill out the test and return it to the instructor. The results of the evaluation will be turned over to the cooperating instructors.

Evaluations To Begin On Faculty, Courses

Dr. "Kugler stated in a previous interview with The Ticker that the aim of the rally is to gain both moral and financial support for the thirteen-one dismissed professors and the instructors who, in sympathy, have refused to return to class since January 4.

College Urges No Exams On Albany March Date

President Buell G. Gallagher and the deans of all the schools in the City College have urged that no examinations be given on March 22, the day of the march on Albany for increased educational resources. The decision was reached at a cabinet meeting of the University. Each dean is sending his own letter to the faculty of his school. Faculty cooperation is vital.

President Gallagher noted that there will be no excused absences on the day of the march. Meanwhile, Steve Sandell '67, co-coordinator of the event at the Baruch School, noted that the drive to enlist student participation was progressing satisfactorily.

He said that the cost per student will probably be reduced from $3 to $2, because of the money raised from the sale of free tuition buttons. The buttons, being sold for a quarter, are an ante at a booth in the lobby of the main building.

Norman Lipton '67, president of Student Council, and coordinator of the march, announced that students with questions about the event can call 926-2634 for information.

The purpose of the march according to Mr. Lipton is to demonstrate the political strength of City College students.

Kugler, O'Reilly to Speak At Discussion on St. John's

The primary issues in the St. John's University controversy will be discussed at a 7:45 p.m. Thursday from 12 to 2 in 4 N.

Professor Aaron Levenstein (Mgt.), chairman of the Baruch chapter of the Committee to Defend Academic Freedom at St. John's, will speak.

Dr. Israel Kugler, president of the United Federation of College Teachers, and Reverend Peter O'Reilly, chairman of the St. John's chapter of the U.F.C.T., will also address the group.

The Baruch School chapter of the American Association of University Professors had previously voted to endorse the rally. However, it withdrew its support after it was learned that Norman Lipton '67, the Student Council president, will speak on the alternative to罢工 instructors at St. John's could take.

Although repeated attempts have been made, the organizers of the lecture, the School's U.F.C.T. chapter, Sigma Alpha, the undergraduate honor-society society, Student Council, and numerous clubs, have failed to obtain any speakers who would represent the St. John's administration's point of view.

Father O'Reilly is one of the thirty-one instructors who were dismissed by the St. John's administration earlier this year.

Dr. Kugler stated in a previous interview with The Ticker that the aim of the rally is to gain both moral and financial support for the thirteen-one dismissed professors and the instructors who, in sympathy, have refused to return to class since January 4.

Evaluation Committee and Student Council will hold the class' attention while giving the student body a chance to "speak out." These goals were announced by Tom Murray '68, the coordinator of the event at the Baruch School.

Baruch Cagers Finish Season; Team's Record Stands at 6-5

The Baruch School basketball team finished its season Friday as it bowed to Pratt Institute, 74-60. Coach George Wolfe's cagers concluded the year with a 6-5 record, an improvement on last year's 6-7 mark.

During the season, the team had a well-balanced attack with five players averaging in double figures. Guard Danny Howard led all scorers with a 14-point average. Danny likes to drive, and had a high game against Pace College, scoring 26 points. Howard is considered to be the floor leader of the team, as he directs the squad's attack.

Next in the scoring honors is 6-foot forward Marty Hutner, who averaged 14 ppg. Marty came on real strong towards the end of the season, and against Kingsboro Community College. Hutner scored 26 points. Back court ace Mitch Drobner tallied over 13 ppg. With the aid of his jump shot from outside, Mitch set a modern Baruch record as he pumped in 28 points against Cathedral College.

A surprise addition to the team this year was 6-3 Richie Goldwater, Richie joined the team late in the season, and during his stint he averaged 12 ppg. Richie shared the center job with Stanley Ginsberg, an Up-town student. Ginsberg, also 6-3, lives in Stuyvesant Town, and doesn't find it difficult to travel to Baruch to play.

This year's captain, George Anderson, was a stand-out player. Howard all-season, George averaged 10 ppg, but his real contribution came in the rebounding department. Although he stands at only 6-2, George managed to jump above, much taller opponents. In the last game of the year, George scored twenty points, as he pulled down a total of thirty rebounds.

For next season the team looks strong. From the bench many times to help the hoopsters out, and scored a total of 48 points this season. Although the cagers will miss Ginsberg and Hutner, George Wolfe will also be counting on Stanley Weber and four other subs. Weber is a fine passer, and by utilizing his set shot he scored 26 points in a game against the Hofstra frosh. Joe Mulvey, 6-4, forward turned guard, may be the one destined to fill Zuck's shoes. Joe averaged over 10 ppg, aided by his deadly shooting from outside.

As it stands now, it looks like Valiance will be converted to a guard, and will play alongside Pearl. Eisenmann is eligible to play only until January 1967, and until that point he will probably remain in his forward position. Kaiser will most likely start at the center spot, leaving a vacancy up front. If no one can take the job, Valiance will have to move back and Clifton or Mulvey will start with Pearl in the backcourt.

However it turns out, it looks like another good year for the City College basketball team.

City Hoopers Ready for Next Season

The prospects for another basketball look promising. The 1966-1967 "five" will pack some top replacements. Forward Jeff Kaiser, 6-4, averaged over 20 points per game, and was tough under both boards. He also broke Lawrence Blatt's individual scoring record by pumping in 59 points against the Hofstra frosh. Joe Mulvey, 6-4, forward turned guard, may be the one destined to fill Zuck's shoes. Joe averaged over 10 ppg, aided by his deadly shooting from outside.
