Gallagher Discusses Possibility Of Obtaining More State Aid

President Biell Gallagher said he was "guardedly optimistic" about obtaining the money to finance construction and operations at the City University this year.

Speaking at a press conference Wednesday, the president stated that unless the necessary money is granted by the state Legislature, the number of entering freshmen would be reduced from 2,500 to 1,500 next September.

A "normal growth budget," he added, would allow the College to augment its facilities, and raise admission standards.

Dr. Gallagher noted that under no circumstances would a tuition fee be charged of City University students.

Discussing the possibility that raised admission standards and scheduled cuts in construction and operations at the City University, the president added that few members of these groups are currently enrolled in city colleges, and said change in admission standards would be of minor consequence.

Admission to the City University of New York of students from minority groups is considered to be one of the social consequences of which the city University must meet in order to justify its free tuition policy.

The president said that the recent statements of State Education Commissioner James Allen Jr. may help induce the state Legislature to accept several bills sponsored by Senator Manfred Ohrenstein (Dem., Mt. Vernon) while money for construction and operations at the City University.

Dr. Allen remarked Tuesday that more state aid to the University would be preferable to the establishment of five colleges in the city.

Julian Bond will Speak At the School Thursday

Julian Bond, who was recently barred from his seat in the Georgia House of Representatives, will speak at the School Thursday at 12:30 in 4S.

His appearance is sponsored by the Student Government, The Ticker, Student Congress, Sigma Alpha, the Class of '67, the Literary Society, and individual students, faculty, and administrators who signed the invitation in today's issue.

Student Council's co-sponsorship of Mr. Bond's appearance at the School was approved by the body by a vote of 11-6 at its Thursday meeting.

In order to co-sponsor and contribute $5 toward the advertisement, the advertisement was presented by Sandy Brown, a Council representative, from the Class of '68 and a member of the Human Rights Movement.

The move to bar Mr. Bond from taking his seat was introduced in the Georgia House of Representarules affecting students to be codified; S.F.C.S.A. to meet on fees prohibition

Rules Affecting Students to Be Codified;

S.F.C.S.A. to Meet On Fees Prohibition

Minister in Charge Of the Program

By ALAN MATCOVSKY

Steps are now being taken to codify all rules and regulations of the Department of Student Life in order to enforce governing student's actions.

The codification is expected to help students and faculty know what rules and regulations are in effect, and to make the material more easily accessible and easier to follow.

The project was started in the fall of 1966 by Dr. Irving Gregor, head of the Department of Student Life.

The codification procedure is now in full swing, and it is expected that the project will be completed in mid-April and will be made available to all students.

The codification procedure is now in full swing, and it is expected that the project will be completed in mid-April and will be made available to all students.

Human Rights Case To Be Examined

The status of the ruling prohibiting religious, political, and social groups from receiving student fees will be considered by the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Activities tomorrow.

The ruling, originated by the Department of Student Life, was enforced the previous academic year and resulted in the suspension of the "social action group." The ruling was considered at the committee's last meeting, on March 9, but a final decision was postponed until its status was determined.

At present, if a member of the faculty of a student organization is suspended because official groups desire to locate a student recruiter, it is expected that a final decision will be made on the matter.

At the Baruch School, this fee is $5.
The Queen of the Mardi Gras Dance Syndrome. The Queen of the Mardi Gras Dance Syndrome is to announce the Student Blood Bank to be set up in the Student Center and to bring it to the attention of students. The Student Blood Bank will be open for the first time on Thursday, April 6, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Student Center. The Blood bank drive, which will be conducted by the Student Blood Bank and the American Red Cross, will be open to all students. There will be no charge for blood donated and students will receive a Blood Donor's Recognition Card for their participation.

SIGMA ALPHA PRESENTS BOOK-OF-THE-TERM ESSAY CONTEST "The Financier" by THEODORE DREISER $75 IN PRIZES

It matters not whether you are Queen of the Mardi Gras or Ugly Man on campus, everyone can eat a free pickle at ALADIN PULL TO SERVE THE BEST FOOD

CLASS OF '67 RINGS ARE ON SALE STARTING THURSDAY, MARCH 31 - 12-2 FRIDAY, APRIL 1 - 12-3 AT BOOK STORE $5 DEPOSIT NEEDED

Ginzburg Will Issue Statement In Address at School Tomorrow

Ralph Ginzburg, chancellor of the City University of New York, will make a major policy statement tomorrow, it was announced by Dr. W. H. G. Bratt, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The statement, which will be made in an address to the Board of Trustees, will outline the chancellor's plans for the future of the City University system. It will be the first major policy statement made by Ginzburg since he took office as chancellor in January 1966.

The statement will be made at a meeting of the Board of Trustees at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Board Room of the City University Center, 55 Water Street, New York City.

The chancellor's plans for the future of the City University system will be discussed in detail in the address. He will outline the university's goals and priorities, as well as its plans for expansion and development. The address will also include a review of the university's budget, financial resources, and financial aid programs.

In a statement released today, Dr. Bratt said, "The chancellor's address will be an important opportunity for the Board of Trustees to hear the chancellor's vision for the future of the City University system. It will be a valuable guide for the Board as it considers its role in shaping the future of the university."
Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.

Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.

Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.

Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.

Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.

Baruch Convocation

Last week's attractively presented ceremony to honor the schools allowed us to attend events at which their presence was noticeable. They were the number of students, students, and dignitaries who passed through the doors of the Music Hall. The event was a grand success, as evidenced by the reaction of the audience.

We also revere, however, that despite the presence of the audience, who do not do so, students were at first found in the same manner as those of the College of Education. The College of Education is a much better school because of its location in the heart of Manhattan. It is educationally more desirable for students to attend a college in the heart of Manhattan because the city provides students with a better atmosphere.

The students take their basic liberal arts courses in the College of Education and do not have to travel far to get a good education. The College of Education is located in the heart of Manhattan, which is a more desirable location for students.

The physics majors at Cape Kennedy, and the botany majors in Central Park, are typical of the kinds of students who attend the College of Education. These students are well-prepared to study in a college that has a real campus, rather than to be just blades of grass.

Blood Bank Success

The Student Senate Council, and especially those members who worked so hard on this project, are deserving of praise. Five points of blood were collected, nearly double the number received last semester.

As a result, the blood bank's reserves have been replenished, and it can continue to supply blood to the College of Education.

Student Funds

Student Council at its Thursday meeting passed a motion authorizing $2,500 for the operation of the school and the Student Union. This money will be used to support various activities on campus.

The motion passed unanimously, and it was agreed that the funds would go to the School's central treasury. The funds will be used to support various activities on campus.
Baruch School Greets

JULIAN BOND

Thursday, March 31, 1966
12:30 P.M. – 4S

The Literary Society

of the Ticker, the Student Weekly

State College of New York at Baruch

Date Issued on Draft

Staff: The Statement Issued on Draft Concerning 2-S Deferrment

(Continued from Page 3)

Mr. Allen went on to say that the student movement has

Mr. Allen went on to say that the student movement has

April 1 is FRIDAY EVENING:

Hootenanny – 8-10

Gala Dance – 10-1

Sponsored By

SCAC & Christian Association

Has Your Club

Signed Up For A

Delegation For The

MOCK POLITICAL

CONVENTION

MAY 19, 1966

SIGN UP IN S.C. OFFICE 416 S.C.

NOW!

Sponsored by the Human Rights Club, Student Council, Sigma Alpha, The Ticker, and the Class of ’67
City Sluggers Open At Columbia

Starting Lineup Is Not Set Yet

The Beaver "nine" opens its season April 4, with Columbia University serving as the opponent. The game will take place at the Lion's Baker Field at 3:00 P.M.

The opening-day lineup, as obtained from Coach William Mishkin, seems strong: It is subject to change, and only two positions have yet to be filled.

The pitching staff, although described by Coach Mishkin as "indescribable," seems to hold the most promise. Larry, Leifer and Baruchian Larry Beat and right-handers Ron Rizzi and Tom Terzilim, impressed during the fall season. Leifer and Rizzi are best bets to become the two starters, according to Leifer and Terzilim serving as relievers.

The receiving end of the battery is in good shape. The inside track belongs to Sam Rosenbloom, who impressed in the fall season. Barruchian Larry Beat and third baseman Mike Greenstein, the team's one constant this season, are expected to make an impression.

PLAY BALL: A Becker pitcher working out before the opener.

Catcher, Infelder Still Missing

"Don't forget, coach," reminded the mentor, last year's record holder, but no infelder was found. We cannot hope for a much better record this year, because catching is something we have experienced. The team has a pretty good one, although we are the only one in the Metropolitan League to be considered.

"The Easter egg is the take-off for the first game of the season, the Columbia game. City will take on Hunter College April 6 at 11:00, and have a chance to win.

Nimrods Win in Meet: Teams Are One-Two

The City College rifle team entrants in the International Sectionals held this weekend at Kinnear Point finished one-two, buoying City's hopes for a high national ranking.

The first team fired a total of 1090, with co-captain Jerry Uretsky leading the Beavers with a score of 279. Bruce Gitlin followed with a 278, as he was trailed by Allen Feit and Paul Kanciruk, who fired 271 and 270, respectively.

This is the first time that the College's sharpshooters have entered an International Sectional meet. Prior to this year the team had been firing at conventional targets, and last year the team was ranked twenty-first nationally on those larger targets.

The second City team secured second place in the meet with a total of 1069 points. Dave Keller led that squad with a firing of 273.

The final league contest for the nimrods will take place this Friday, as they play host to the shooters from Rutgers University.

Stickmen Defeat Alumni; An All-American Scores

Although the weather was brisk outside on Saturday afternoon, it was not able to dampen the enthusiasm of the alumni team and alumni who came out in full force to support the team under one of the greatest minds in America—William Mishkin.

Coach Mishkin has a fine group of alumni. The starting backfield should be Steve Borecodi, Richmond College's sharpshooter, and Dave Minkoff in right. Backing them up are Alex Miller and Jimmy La Piana. Of course, Mishkin takes a realistic look at this season, and is not overly optimistic. "We hope to be competitive," he said, "but we have a tough schedule in a tough conference."

The City College alumni scored on goals by Dave Rosario and Pete Brooks, and rounded out the squad with a 259, Yones a 209, and Pete Brooks a 259.

All the scores of the various sectional meets in the country will be sent to the National Rifle Association's headquarters in Washington, where the final standing and the national ranking will be posted. Currently leading the country is West Virginia's, who has already fired an 1132.

The final league contest for the nimrods will take place this Friday, as they play host to the shooters from Rutgers University.

Architecture Or Fencing — Both!

George Weiner

It was either architecture or fencing, and although you would never be able to tell, George was and remains the former. The one thing which makes it difficult to tell is that George is presently the captain of the Beaver fencing team, and has led the foil team to victory for the past three years.

"Both architecture and fencing demand perfection," George notes, "but if I did not spend more time on my studies, I would have to look for a new occupation." And in fact, the College George was able to bring his marks up to a B-average, and any help to his fencing ability.

Other sports did not attract this five-foot, 145-pound Queensite, but fencing was "very pleasing" with his recent play.

George is presently the captain of the Beaver fencing; prior to this year the Beavers were captain Pat Salaman and Craig Birns '64.

The team is a pretentious one of experienced," sees himself as holding the most promise. Southpaw Barry Leyfer was expected to become the two starters, and the experienced, "seems fairly strong! It is sufficient to tell the story.

Send all letters to a London, architecture firm, "just in case."

My mind made up he went to the United States, and in 1962 he captained the team to a PSAL silver medal. From Tech George entered City and en rolled for the five-year architecture engineering course. For this summer George has secured a job with a London architect firm. "I just sent out a rash of job applications hoping to be accepted at the closest one to London," George explains. "I enjoy travel very much, and believe that a chance to work in England will greatly enlarge my horizons."

Although George did not consider it, he could not play other sports too well, and I could tell that fencing was my sport," George explains.

With his mind made up he went for lessons under the guidance of Sentelli, the man who coached City fencing mentor Edward Lucia, who still takes lessons at the famed Greenwich Village based academy, and views his teacher as "one of the greatest in history."