Faculty View Evaluation
As 'Useful'
By LAWRENCE S. LEVITAS

The faculty evaluation now in preparation at the School was called "extremely wholesome" and potentially "useful" to the instructor by Professor Samuel Ranhand (Chairman, Mat.).

The proposed evaluation questionnaire, being prepared by Student Council's Educational Affairs Committee, was presented to instructors at a student-faculty meeting Wednesday, March 4.

Faculty members have been asked by Charles Dreifus '66, chairman of the Educational Affairs Committee, to submit recommendations so that a final form of the questionnaire can be prepared.

Once the questionnaire is amended, the student-faculty meeting, at which the final form will be chosen and changes will be made, will be held Wednesday, May 11.

They will be due the succeeding Wednesday, May 12.

Students at School Form Party for Coming Election

A group of students has formed the first political party at the Baruch School.

The party, which will nominate candidates for the May 4 election for Student Council executive, is in order to "extend and fight for student rights and to bring leadership of Student Council," according to Alan Wiener '66, one of its organizers.

Mr. Wiener, who is currently the School yearbook's editor, announced the formation of the group, to be called the Student Rights Party, last week along with Lenny Deten, a Student Council representative from the Class of '67.

"Mr. Wiener said the party's organizers were "checked at the manner in which the administration has been dealing with the student body."

"Certain student rights and demands," he stated, "should be accepted, not dismissed."

Steve Herman, chancellor of Sigma Alpha, Ronald Schoenfield '67, president of Student Council, and Norman Lipschitz, former president of Council, have announced their support of the party.

Other individuals supporting the party include: Bugsi Bill; Terence Grace, a member of Alpha Delta Sigma; the national religious organization's representative; and the Inter-fraternity Council's representative.

The Inter-fraternity Council from Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity; Robert Kaiser, president of the Young Republicans; Mary Lewis, president of the Faculty of the Retailing Society; Carole Rubon, president of the Psychology Society; Jack Mandel, president of the Class of '69 and a member of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity; Arthur Mehlman, president of the Statistics Association; Mary Stockfield, president of Harper '69 and a member of Student Council; Charles Terraneo, vice president of the Student Senate; and a member of Council.

Mr. Diener claimed that student rights have been violated at the Memorial Convocation for Bernard Baruch, which some students were forced to attend although the administration had promised to reschedule the event.

Petitions Available Friday
For S.C. Executive-Offices

Petitions for Student Council executive board positions will be available Friday at the information desk outside 104 S.C. Ronald Schoenfield, Council's president, announced.

A summary of the requirement for executive board positions are:

- The student must be a regular or senior class in his final year.
- The student must be a regular member of the outgoing student council.
- The student must be a member of the College Young Democrats and a representative to the Inter-fraternity Council from Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity.

The committee plans to put out a completely original edition of the yearbook in time for the students to have their memories from their four years at the Baruch School.

Errors Seen In Yearbook

Lexicon, the School yearbook, has had the same copy, the same pictures, and the same layout" for several years, announced Stuart Breidtbart '66, the editor-in-chief.

"It is curious to note," Mr. Breidtbart said, "that the same things appear in the 1964 and 1965 books and that sometimes pictures of the faculty go as back as the 1957 edition."

Mr. Breidtbart stated that he will put out a completely original edition, the largest ever, for the yogurt.

Starting this week, he added, any club or student desiring to order a yearbook may do so at the price of $10 for a hard cover, and $5 for a soft cover book.

Mr. Breidtbart enumerated the following differences in past Luxon: the copy and pictures in the sports section were very similar in 1964 and 1965. The introductory article in Yearbook was exactly the same. A picture of the 1964 Basketball team was also exactly the same.
Free Tuition Mandate Pending; \nOhrenstein Offers Final Proposal

A free tuition mandate, supported by Mr. A. M. Ohrenstein, the president of the College, was the focus of an amendment introduced on the Student Senate floor last week. Mr. Ohrenstein assured the senators that his amendment would be brought to fruition by the Student Senate before the end of the spring semester.

During the debate, Mr. Ohrenstein stated that his amendment would provide free tuition to all students who meet the academic requirements established by the Student Senate.

The amendment, he added, would be financed through an increase in student fees, which would be dedicated specifically to the funding of the free tuition program.

In closing, Mr. Ohrenstein reiterated his commitment to ensuring that all students, regardless of financial background, have access to higher education.

Bond Praises Effectiveness
Of Inter-racial Cooperation

The effectiveness of the civil rights movement is proportional to the number of white people participating in it, said Senator Robert F. Kennedy, who was recently laboring from his seat in the United States Senate.

Mr. Kennedy addressed a rally in this city Saturday, the last stop on a three day tour of the Northeast. The visit was arranged by the National Council of the United States Congress for Racial Equality (CORE), a group which advocates non-violent protest against racial discrimination.

"We are moving in the right direction," Mr. Kennedy said, "but we still have a long way to go."

A Student Rights Party

We welcome the formation of a political party by the students in which they are free to campaign for the rights of the students at the School more worthy or necessary. Two of the party's organizers, Alan Wiener and Paul Rogoff, have publicly announced, "We are forming a Student Rights party because we feel that the current administration is no longer meeting the needs of the students."

The Student Rights party aims to challenge the current administration, which has been accused of focusing on extracurricular activities and having students forced to attend liberalized offices such as candidates association think a football club is supposed to have over a student government made up of people who will defend their candidacy over some perhaps more exciting program. Since requirements have been liberalized for these offices, such candidates must get the second stringers out and the superior students in, and the entire proceeding will be a mockery of common sense.

The administration of the Baruch School is an especially conservative body composed of people who have a real knowledge of what education means. It has not done this in the past nor will it in the future. The administration and the Faculty are by nature conservative men. While believing that change must come, they tend to think it can only take place slowly, with a great deal of deliberation.

There is nothing which the student body has tried, short of a Student Rights party, to remove the brakes which are put on these changes. For there is nothing which the student body can do to remove the brakes which are put on these changes. The law is not going to change. They have been marred by a misunderstanding. Mr. Weiss not only knows this, but he has to live with it. The administration will have to face this new reality. The administration and the Faculty will have to face this new reality.

The administration may perhaps be doing some small degree of reform, but it has not been a responsible party. It certainly would not help attract new and willing students. It helps no one to believe that the Baruch School is a viable organ through which to initiate this change, the best possible and the only possible way to change the Baruch School.

It is for these reasons that the Student Rights party has been formed. We believe that change is necessary, that change is coming, and that the administration and the Faculty must be held responsible for making it happen.

The Student Rights party has taken the initiative in forming this party. It is for these reasons that we are forming a political party by the students in which they are free to campaign for the rights of the students. We welcome the formation of a political party by the students in which they are free to campaign for the rights of the students.
AN OPEN LETTER TO STUDENTS

Dear Baruchian:

On April 20 a Talk-Out will be held from 4 to 9 in 4S by a special committee of Student Council.

In contrast to the "hearing" which was held by the Faculty Council Ad Hoc Committee last December, which only committee members and twenty-three selected students attended; all members of the faculty and student body are invited to attend this Talk-Out.

This Talk-Out will be devoted entirely to giving students an opportunity to give their views in the areas of curriculum, instruction, and student rights at the Baruch School. The student Council Committee will coordinate the Talk-Out and record the views of the students.

A second Talk-Out will be held on Wednesday, May 11. At this session the Talk-Out Committee will present the views expressed by the students, along with the views of the Committee, to members of the faculty.

In order for the Talk-Out to be a success, it is necessary for you, the student, to take an active part. This is your chance to be heard, don't miss it.

Baseballers Open Season With Two Losses and a Win

When the pitchers are not effective, and the sluggers cannot compensate for lost runs, a baseball team loses games. This is what happened to the Beaver baseball team as they lost to St. John’s and Columbia, and managed to defeat Hunter during the recess.

The St. John’s tilt was the first home game, and the first league encounter for the Beavers this season, which proved to be a bad omen. City was edged 15-7, although the Redmen were out-hit 7-10.

Beaver backstop Steve Angel continued his display of power, hitting his second and third home runs of the young season. Outfielder Bill Miller also connected on a double for the Lavernders.

City pulled to within two runs of the Redmen at 7-5, before the team’s six errors started catching up with them, and the relief pitching fell apart.

Ron Rizi went the first five frames for City, and allowed seven runs. Baruchian Larry Best took over for Rizi, whose record now stands at 0-2. Best pitched the next two innings, and was relieved by Bob Engels, who was bombed in his one inning stint. Engels gave up six runs, including a grand slammer by Beeman George Hendrick. Tom Terzilli threw the final inning, and was the only Beaver hurler to hold the Redmen scoreless.

City garnered its first victory of the year against Hunter on Wednesday. The Hawks lost 15-7, as Barry Leifer went the distance for the Lavernders.

First baseman Lew Gatti and Angel homered for City. Angel’s homer plunged into the left-center field and rolled back almost 400 feet from the plate, driving in three runs. Gatti’s hit fell just inside the plate, driving in two runs.

Bob Givonne was the losing pitcher for the Hawks, having given up nine runs and nine hits, of which six were earned. Billy Morris homered for Hunter. In the opening game of the season last Monday, the Beaver “nine” were trounced by Columbia University 15-3, at Baker field.

Gatti had a fine day offensively, as he continued on his torrid hitting pace of last year, when he led the Beaver batsmen with a .333 average. The big first baseman went 2-for-3, including a huge two-run homer for the Lavernders.

Rizi started for City and basted six innings. The sophomore was touched for eight runs and seven hits. Only three of the runs were earned. Relievers Bob Engels, Tom Terzilli, and Lewis Weinberg were bombed in their brief appearances.

Tennis Team Continues Winning Streak; Netmen Triumph In First Four Contests

It looks like another their first four contests during the recess, continuing their winning ways of last year.

Tennis Team Loses, Pandoliano Is Sharp

The lacrosse team extended its losing streak to seven as the Beavers dropped their first two matches of the season, losing to the unbeaten Pioneers. Jim Pandoliano scored a goal for City and aided on another with an assist.

Pandoliano is trying to break Ron Orlando’s season record of 42 points. Points in lacrosse are scored just as they are in hockey, with a point for a goal or an assist. Mike Colucci and George Steinberg each tallied for City.

The stickmen played host to New Hampshire on Monday, April 4, for their first match of the season, and were trounced 15-3. The half-time score read 3-1, in favor of New Hampshire, with Beaver Abe Ruda, a midfielder, playing a good defense. But in the second half the roof fell in and City could score only four goals to New Hampshire’s nine. Pandoliano scored a goal and had two assists. Steve Leidstein—tallied twice for the Lavender, and Mark Klein and Richard Ravner each scored once for City.

City mentor George Baron looks at his squad as one with a “lot of difficulty. The bulk of the team is composed of sophomores, with very few players having more than one season’s experience.”

FLASH...!

The baseball team crushed Brooklyn College, 14-2, on Monday afternoon. Sophomore Harry Leifer went the distance for City, allowing only five hits, as he walked none and struck out seven.

The win off the Beaver offense by smashing a grand slammmer, Dave Minkoff hit a solo homer for City, and Lew Gatti collected four hits. The Lavernders scored eighteen runs, with a dozen of 120 feet, as Beaver Dennis Mihale finished second in that event. The freshmen team won 100-54, and Coach Francisco Castro said that the freshmen looked “pretty good.”

The win over Montclair was achieved with the aid of some excellent individual performances. O’Connor scored twice, and Scholes led with a two-mile individual races, with City’s lone loss coming at the hands of Iona, as they were downed 1-0. There was no play for the championship, and each school was permitted to hold the champion’s cup for one semester.

Field hockey's efforts against Iona were thwarted by the winning team's scoring prowess. The team played with strong defense and scored in only one of the four contests during the recess. The win over Montclair was achieved with the aid of some excellent individual performances. O’Connor scored twice, and Scholes led with a two-mile individual races, with City’s lone loss coming at the hands of Iona, as they were downed 1-0.
