Alter the release of information, students rallied at a special committee meeting demanding to know what request was made to the general assembly of the metropolitan area to support the Brooklyn campus. A statement protesting the fact that City University students and faculty members were not consulted concerning the possible purchase of Long Island University as a site for the Baruch School was sent to the city's Board of Higher Education by many of the student governments at City University.

The statement, which also supported the final decision concerning the sale of the Brooklyn campus, be delayed until "guarantees for educational and faculty stability (are) made to the students and faculty of L.I.U.," was signed by the student government president at Hunter-Bronx, Hunter-Park, Brooklyn, Queens, John Jay, Queens Community and Bronx Community Colleges.

Paul Cohen, president of the Queens College student government, said that he expects that other presidents will be signing the statement shortly.

Student Council President Max Berger '68 had this to say when he was questioned about the actions of the other C.U.N.Y. presidents, "Paul Cohen has assumed about $3,000,000 in overhead and operational expenses and scenario."
The proposal that Baruch be set up as an autonomous college, was "hated" in a motion passed by Council.

Drama students went to City Hall to meet with the mayor and other officials. They were demanding to know what request was made to the general assembly of the metropolitan area to support the Brooklyn campus.

The students are engaging a faculty advisor in a later development, Ed Schwartz, student council president.

Don Birnbaum '68 defeated John Meitner, 53 to 28, for the one seat in the Class of '71, Paula Rizzo '69, defeated Jerry Rothman, 44 to 44, for the open seat in the Class of '69. The executive board of Student Council will have veto power on the Crypto Committee, except in cases where the actions of the committee are detrimental to the student body. The dean is required under a Board of Higher Education bylaw to retain ultimate control of the committee.

The problem of the American Indian appears in taking a closer look at his time when I happened to read that a new Native American history book was being written. The book, "The United States and the American Indian," by Bruce Peck, was mentioned in The New York Times. It is considered to be one of the most comprehensive and widely read works on the subject of Native American history. The book has been praised for its clear and accessible writing, as well as its thorough examination of the issues facing Native Americans today. It is highly recommended for anyone interested in learning more about the history of Native American communities.

American Indians: The Forgotten Minority

By GAIL GARFIELD

The American Indians are not by far the least fortunate of all the American communities. They have been suffering from a long history of mistreatment and discrimination, as well as from the effects of European colonization and the subsequent development of the United States. The American Indians have not only been displaced from their homelands, but they have also been subjected to forced assimilation and cultural erasure.

As we look at the situation for each group, we see that the Native American community is facing many challenges. They are struggling to maintain their culture and language, as well as to improve their economic and social conditions. Despite these challenges, the American Indians continue to fight for their rights and to work towards a better future.

Saturday the Day of Rest? Not for everyone. At left, Beaver booters struggle with Queens. Newcomer Elias Fokas played admirably for injured Everal Block; in the center slot and interested me after I learned of Sam's always a tough customer around the goalmouth, got into a pushing fracas when Beneshai's safety was endangered, but Klivetskii quieted things down.

Thursday the Beavers travel to Pratt and will face one of the toughest teams in the conference.

PROFESSOR SIRUTIS: Former Boxing Great

Chairman Winner Of Nat'l Honors

"You're doing well, punching hard. Watch me. Keep your guard up."

Those instructions were mouthed by Professor Yutin Sirutis as beads of sweat dripped from his brow while sparring with an eager student in his voluntary boxing program.

As a photographer snapped a camera, Prof. Sirutis, clad with headgear, teeshirt and a pair of lavender C.C.N.Y. athletic shorts, continued to spout wise notes of the "old" days as he estimated that "I won about 20 out of 40 bouts with a couple of draws."

Sirutis controlled play, tossing, parrying and walking only three to four yards behind a student on the art of self-defense.

"We've had little training and since scoring is compiled by adding the numbers that represent the order of finish of the runners. That indicates that the U.S.M.M.A. took the first five places with the Lavender 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 11th.

Beavers Drop To USMMA

The City College cross-country picture is all out of focus; there are injuries, illnesses, ineligibilities and transfers. There are reportedly several "finds" who are not competing. There are two managers for a dozen harriers. There are rumors of all sorts that boast of high school phenoms who will lead the team out the doldrums of mediocrity.

"This far for the course at this time of the year," said former Beaver sprint champ Don Schlesinger as he watched his former teammates get mauled by the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Van Cortlandt yesterday in their first dual meet Saturday.

The score was 15-41 which could not be excised from the record book since scoring is compiled by adding the numbers that represent the order of finish of the runners. That indicates that the U.S.M.M.A. took the first five places with the Lavender 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 11th.

Steinfeld Leads City Alliance Steinfeld, a senior, led the City contingent with a 20 minute 50 second performance over the hilly 5K course on Wednesday. Next junior Marty Grill in 31:17. All others were over 32 minutes.

All others were over 32 minutes.

Coach Francisco Castro: "We've had little training and no summer work," said Castro. "The other schools have worked out all summer. And we've had injuries like him (pointing to Andy Ferrare whose brittle knees are expected to be tested Saturday) in a similar duel against Adelphi, Queens, and Fairleigh Dickinson."
