Nine Run for SC Posts; NSA Referendum Slated

Nine students handed in petitions yesterday to qualify for one of the five executive board openings on Student Council at the regular School-wide elections next Wednesday. No one took out a petition for the post of Student Council Activities Committee Chairman and this sixth open seat shall remain unfilled.

In the order in which they will appear on the ballot, Sandy Alan Eagon '68 and Max Berger '68, the incumbent, will vie for the presidency of the Council.

Mr. Eagon is a representative of the Class of '68, chairman of the Theatron Board and a number of the Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee. A past secretary and vice president of the Council, Mr. Berger is running for his second term as president.

In the race for the second highest executive board position is Pat Morrow '68 and Marvin E. Schecter '68.

The group presenting the play "Exit the King," a full-length play by Eugene Ionesco, was responsible for the petition. The play, which will include "far out" experimental staging techniques, is the Speech and Drama group, open to all students and alumni who wish to serve on the Council. The group also performs at Baruch's annual Christmas convocation.

BHE Group Considering Standards for President

Three faculty members along with student representatives and alumni will meet with the Baruch College Committee today to discuss criteria for selecting a president of the university liaison of Theatron Board and its president of Alpha Delta Gamma, the honorary journalism fraternity.

Mr. Trager has been a representative from the Class of '70 and is currently Corresponding Secretary of Council and president of the German Club.

Running for Council's recording secretary are Richard Faber '70 and Elmar Kellin '70. Mr. Faber is now a member of Council as a representative from the Class of '70.

Miss Elkin who represented the Class of '68 last year is currently the Council's Campus Affairs Committee Chairman.

By Geller '68 is running unopposed for the seat of Campus Treasurer.

Lexicon Last Day for Photos Set

Only two and one half weeks remain to purchase the School yearbook, Lexicon, for seven dollars. Beginning December 15, the cost of the publication will rise to twelve dollars.

Students who have not yet posed for their individual pictures must do so before Monday at Lorstan Studios, 1723 Third Avenue, near Eighty-fourth Street. They are open daily, including Saturday, from 9:30 to 4:30 and Thursday until 7.

"People have not purchased Lexicon '68 because they say they don't have money right now," commented Ed Buchholz '68, editor-in-chief of the journal. Mr. Buchholz could not understand their reluctance. The price is increased to cover the cost of student pictures.

Orders for Lexicon '68 may be placed with either the Boosters who operate a booth in the lobby of the Student Center from 10 to 2 or by mail addressed to Lexicon '68, care of the Baruch School, 17 Lexington Avenue.

The editor-in-chief noted that credits for participation in student activities will not be listed with the individual pictures. They will be placed in the back of the journal to facilitate smoothness of layout, increase the room for credits, permit the use of larger candid shots taken around the School and generally save space.

I Can't Help Thinking

By KATHERINE SCOTT

I suppose that when nuns and other members of religious orders are given the privilege of teaching in public schools, the public does not have too high an opinion of what the teaching will be like. I also imagine that when the public schools are given the privilege of training nuns, that the public does not have too high an opinion of what the training will be like. If this is so, then I would say that we are all in the same boat.

A Challenge of Decision, Doctrines and Dialogue

In the first few issues, several columns were written by students who had been involved in the Vietnam War. These columns were critical of the war and its effects on American society. One column, written by a student named John, described his experiences as a soldier in Vietnam and his return home after the war. He spoke about the trauma he had experienced and the difficulty he had in adjusting to civilian life.

The column also addressed the issue of student-faculty relations and the role of the faculty in the education process. John expressed concern about the lack of communication between students and faculty, and suggested that more opportunities for dialogue should be provided.

Letters to the Editor

We received several letters in response to John's column. Some readers commended his bravery and courage in speaking out about such a sensitive issue. Others, however, criticized his views and accused him of being片面 and biased.

The Real Losers, Joel Mandelbaum

To the Editor of the Ticker:

"The Real Losers," Joel Mandelbaum, in his article in the November 10 issue, refers to the "fifths out of fifty dollars," which he says are being used by others to produce a "spurious" sense of importance and accomplishment. He says that this practice of using the five-dollar note as a symbol of success is a "relic of a bygone age" and that it is now time to "repeal" this custom.

However, his obvious ignorance of the importance of the five-dollar note is a spurious one. The five-dollar note is a symbol of American culture, and it is a symbol of the American dream. It is a symbol of the American way of life. It is a symbol of the American dream.

Lucia's Swordsman Faces the East

BY MARC BLOOM

Within a week those who await the mid-season surge in hopes of four other sports as the Blue and White begins to play for league titles. There is no question of this year's varsity and freshmen teams, two in basketball, one in baseball, and one in track, who will be featured in the regular schedule. Last year the varsity team picked up where the 1965 team left off, and the freshmen three won a league title.

Although the winters have been mild, the weather has been poor. The track team had to move their practice to the gym. The men's and women's basketball teams will play in the gym until the new gym opens. The women's basketball team will play in the old gym until the new gym opens.

The varsity team's championship hopes are high. The team's schedule includes games against Fordham, St. Francis, and Manhattan, three teams that have been on the varsity schedule for many years.

Army, Violets Head Slate

By DAVE APER

"Two out, three deep, Hustle men, shoot." These words of encouragement were conveyed by Coach Jerry Domerschick to his freshman basketball team. According to the coach, this is the first time in his 15 years of service that he has many players contending for starting positions.

The team will consist of talented players such as Kenny Bernstein, Bonnie Wynn, Bob McCullen, Paul Hunt, and Eytan Rihner. Domerschick felt that it was unusual to have so many talented players coming out in the same year.

The coach is particularly enthusiastic about Bob Summers, who called his "alert". Summers has shown great potential as a jumper and rebounder, "he said.

Independent

The team is classified as an independent, even though it plays most of its games as a prelude to the varsity events. The freshman schedule consists of fifteen games.

The highlight of this year's schedule, according to the coach, is a game with Army on their home court December 6.

A new look that kept us going, she said.

LUCKY 13: Beavers! Richie Knel takes a breath during practice.

The team wins or loses, they will be "in" every game. It's just a matter of men, shoot.

Last Season

Hard to Top

By PHIL WAXBERG

The story of a great basketball season isn't written in the box scores or in the won-lost record. It begins with five or six individuals, continues through a series of exhilarating triumphs and heartbreaking defeats and ends in a championship.

The highlight of this year's team was its string of games. From the beginning, the Beavers were competitive. Under the able guidance of Coach Dave Polansky last season, the City College basketball team posted its finest record since the golden rays of 1960. Polansky molded a variety of athletes, ranging from those who had never played any form or organized basketball to those who had been high school stars, into a smooth running and exciting team. The team compiled a 13-5 slate.

The fact that City College was No. 2 in the Eastern and American Basketball Leagues, forerunners of the National Basketball Association, speaks for itself. In 1960, the Beavers defeated many teams that are now considered to be among the top teams in the country.

The Beavers began the season with a loss to the New York University, the team that lost to the Beavers in the final stages of the practice period. The Beavers won their first game against the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 74-63, and went on to win their next six games.

The Beavers then lost to the Boston University, 77-64, and went on to lose two more games. However, they won their next two games, and the season ended with a loss to the New York University, 74-67.

Women's Cagers: Rounding Into Form

Mrs. Cohen Sees Tough Season

By PETE CORSENTINO

With a women's touch, this year's varsity women's basketball team has been polising their skills in an attempt to continue the trend established during last year's successful campaign.

Mrs. Roberta Cohen, the team's queen, looks forward to this "tough" season—one that should prove difficult for the female Beavers. The key to success is the winning attitude of the women's basketball team. Under the able guidance of Coach Dave Polansky, the Beavers have been competitive in all of their games. The Beavers have won 10 of their 13 games so far this season.

The team is lucky to have an experienced coach in Mrs. Cohen. She is a valuable asset to the team and has been instrumental in the Beavers' success.

Wolfe Molds JV Hopefuls

Baruch's Junior Varsity cagers are fortunate in that they have an experienced basketball man at their helm. He is George "Red" Wolfe.

Red is a former playmaker with the Philadelphia Sphas of the Eastern and American Basketball Leagues, forerunners of the National Basketball Association. In the 15 years that he played for the Sphas, Red molded a variety of athletes, ranging from those who had never played any form of organized basketball to those who had been high school stars, into a smooth running and exciting team. The team compiled a 13-5 slate.
