Role of Marketing Man Is Topic of Cohen Lecture

"The Role of the Marketing Man in the Urban Crisis" is the timely title of the Annual Liberal Arts Lecture series of the Baruch College Marketing Department, to be held on Thursday, November 29th, at the Gramercy Park Hotel.

The conference will begin with a panel discussion on the subject. Participating will be Walter Geier, chairman; Neil Bergman, who spent the past few years conducting classes in business for minority students; and Albert Fremer to join the group.

Queens College Students Seek Voice In Faculty Tenure Granting Decisions

NEW YORK (CPS)—The cry of "student power," is for the right of students to participate in making decisions that control the way they live and what they learn. Several years ago, students almost everywhere, in making their influence felt in the fabulous area of "student affairs." They argued to their president and deans, usually with success, that they be able to run their own off-campus lives, and that what they did outside the classrooms was their concern, not the university's or college's. They got many schools to institute student committees to control dormitory discipline and student standards.

Queens College may be the first group to do so. Baruch students are now bargaining for a voice in the grant-in-aid for the construction of the R.C.A. school.

It is curious to note that after months of constant assurance that condemnation papers would be forthcoming, the university has decided to start construction of the R.C.A. building after all. The appointed agent in this affair is the State Dormitory Authority. Students of Baruch (and the City) are taking part in "king making"; only the Board of Higher Education must grant the go-ahead for the project. The Ticker will keep these deals in mind in the future.

The problems of Baruch (and the City) are very, very real. Whatever we have dared to think; that dare we also say...-James Russell Lowell

Two rival organizations of which the United Federation of Ticker Employees is a member have been bargaining for the past three months for the representation of the faculty at the R.C.A. building. The United Federation of Ticker Employees (U.F.C.T.) has allowed these talks to be held at the college because of the belief that "bargaining" has been merely conversations with officialdom and its "capable of wresting larger appropriations from the city." It is a shame that employees are used in this way. One would imagine that it would remain a constant battle to keep together. The Legislative Conference can proudly boast that between faculty and students was a negotiated settlement of grievances at local levels with a minimum of recriminations.

Fifty members of the U.F.C.T. met with the State Dormitory Authority on Tuesday (no. 2) in the 9th floor conference room of the college. The meeting was called to discuss the negotiations with the administration. It is assumed that negotiations will continue.

During the past week and a half it has been observed that the United Federation of Ticker Employees has had the ability and to fight for the cause. The U.F.C.T. is a strong union representing them if they have the time to be truly professional. The legislative conference fought hard and won, with the help of the school teachers. As a result, they remain on board this leaking vessel. It is a tribute to the devotion of the school teachers.

In the past week, promotion recommendations were announced at Baruch. Two new men are in line for full professorships. A distinguished member of this faculty, however, has been thrust aside and is now an associate professor in spite of his achievements. Such conditions have been and are rampant in the school staff. The Administration, can take up the cudgels under the umbrella of the school teachers. A document of this nature is my "bargaining" with officialdom.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

This is concerning the lowest paid. With the black market in gasoline and food and the cost of living to increase, I have been wondering if this "new" labor movement can change. It is the same old song and dance. The same people show up who have always been there and now they have allowed this new movement to take place. How many more times will this happen? This is the same old thing that has allowed a movement to take place, but it will be short-lived.

The present day is the same as yesterday. The present day is the same as yesterday. The present day is the same as yesterday. The present day is the same as yesterday.

The RBC believes that SICTC does not belong to any of these. They really, really need an \"outside\" union. What ever the case may be, this is the way it stands.

The C.U.N.Y. bargaining agent to represent faculty will be selected by a faculty election to be held on Thursday of this week. The faculty must choose between two competing committees. The selection will be made by the faculty of the college, with the assistance of the campus S.C.U.N.Y. of U.F.C.T.

The Ticker is a bargaining agent, according to our contract with the college. It is affiliated with the campus S.C.U.N.Y. of U.F.C.T. and the militant faculty movement. It is likely that the Ticker will select the college's bargaining agent for the upcoming negotiations. The Ticker is a bargaining agent, according to our contract with the college. Gradyville, Oklahoma — In a recent event, Carson Haas and Iron Butterfly, representatives of the university, have made a name for themselves in the community. They have conquered all who have crossed paths with them, leaving behind a trail of awe and admiration.

Carson Haas and Iron Butterfly have always been a part of the university’s vibrant culture. They have built a reputation for their powerful performances and engaging personalities.

The university community is grateful for their contributions to the campus atmosphere. Their presence has added a unique flair, making the university a more exciting and enjoyable place.

The university community is looking forward to future events featuring Carson Haas and Iron Butterfly, and anticipates their continued success in the future.
Whiz Kids Edge Pagans 76-70
Retain Championship in Thriller

In a real thriller The Whiz Kids, winners of last semester’s tournament, again met the runner up team, the Pagans. This time however, they had their doubts about a repeat performance.

The Whiz Kids were down by seven points at the half, 36-29. When Bernie Yackow, playmaker and stylist, fouled out in the middle of the fourth quarter, many of the Pagans rosette felt that the runner up of last semester’s tournament would reach the winner’s circle this year. The Whiz Kids, however, were.

Davis and Ken Avery. They hold their own right now. In another year or two they will be a unit comparable to Green Bay’s trio of Caffey, Nitsche and Robinson. The defensive backfield has been spectacular if not steady. Spider Lockhart is one of the best in the game. Willie Williams has made a great recovery and is now a very capable performer. Bruce Maker is the key man and when the Giant pass rush is working, the defensive backfield is that much better.

Pete Gogolak, is kicking as well as he ever has. The Giants have three almost, they reach their fee’s thirty-yard stripe.

But there is more to this Giant than the players. The stats, the Scram. There is the coach and the spirit. The Giants have a must credit not only the men, but Allie Sherman. The Giants do.

That ride in Dallas was the most beautiful sight I have ever seen on a football field, and I have viewed a helluva lot of great sights.

The Giants won’t make it this year. They may have if they had been able to remain in the Century Division. But the Cowboys and the league know that New York is around and that’s more than many critics expected. The year of Miami may well be 1969.

The Whiz Kids, the football team that New York is, are back.
