Federal Reserve Member To Speak Wednesday Eve

The prime interest rate is already at dizzying levels; can or will it go higher? What is the “Fed’s” position on the liquidity problems inherent in the growing Euro-dollar market? What will be a prolonged consequence of the Vietnam War and its impact on our payments situation? Is the course of global growth or is the system getting out of hand, vulnerable to inflation?

Dr. Andre Brimmer, member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, may be able to suggest some answers to questions like the above and those of similar nature, in his address before an audience of the Morton Wollman Distinguished Lecture Series. The gathering will assemble in the Tiffany Room of the Gramercy Park Hotel, at 8:00 P.M., Wednesday, March 26. The subject is entitled “Monetary Policy and the National Economy.” Students are invited.

Designation: Governor Brimmer’s appointment was made by the Johnson Administration in 1966, for a full term of fourteen years, as one of the seven members of the Governing Board. Dr. Brimmer shares responsibility for the Federal Reserve System policy, the operation of the Federal Reserve Banks, and the Federal Open Market Committee.

Qualifications: Governor Brimmer received his B.A. and M.A. in Economics from the University of Washington. He was a Fulbright Fellow at the universities of Delhi and Bombay, and in 1957 received his Ph.D. from Harvard University. In 1962, he was appointed Deputy Assistant Secretary for Economic Policy Review in the Department of Commerce. Two years later, President Johnson appointed him Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs in the same department.

Dr. Brimmer is a frequent contributor to professional journals and to publications focusing on economic challenges to the Black community.

Despite Albany Success, Budget Crisis Continues

Many members of the legislature, both Democrats and Republicans, have indicated support for the CUNY budget in the last few days, but according to Mayor Lindsay the final outlook is still “bleak.”

The mayor met with four representatives of the Students Advisory Council, including Ticker editor Lew Sturm, and told them that he could hold out little hope for the University. “Albany just does not understand the nature of the problems we face in New York City,” said Mayor Lindsay. The city will be forced to cut back in all areas under the Rockefeller budget according to the Mayor.

Some hope did emerge from Tuesday’s March on Albany, as the Student Advisory Council received letters, these were, from many members of the Senate and Assembly. From all parts of the state, legislators are pledging no cut in the education budget this year.

Mr. C.A.C. chairman, Jean-Louis d’Heilly indicated that if most of the F.B.R. members keep their pledges, we will be assured of a substantial budgetary appropriation from the state. Jean pointed out that for the first time, many upstate legislators are talking about the City University, and that the reason was last year’s most orderly demonstration ever to descend on Albany.

Bronx Boro President Herman Badillo To Highlight Baruch Puerto Rican Week

Thursday, March 27, Puerto Rican week will reach its climax as Bronx Borough President Herman Badillo will speak on campus. Mr. Badillo, the highest elected official in the history of the city, is a graduate of Baruch.

Badillo, who was elected in 1968, is known for his strong demands on the state legislature for increased funding for the City University.

One of the purposes of Puerto Rican Week is to have the members of the Puerto Rican community enlightened about Puerto Rican students and faculty. The events will start at 12:15 and refreshments will be served.

Besides the Thursday appearance of Mr. Badillo in the second floor of the student center, other Puerto Rican Week events will be, a lecture by Mr. Piri Thomas and a film based on his book “Down These Mean Streets.” Those events will take place today in the Oak Lounge at 12:00 and 48 at 3:00.

On Wednesday, an Intercollegiate Talk Out will be held between members of Puerto Rican clubs from around the city. The talk out will begin at 3:00 in the Student Center’s North Lounge.

Frankly Speaking
Anything You Please

A terrible thing has happened. A diet of madness and anger has been left at the office of the College of Education. It may never recover. How can any peace, person, or society be saved when there is such a diet of hatred and destruction in our society? It is like being a labor to give more money to CUNY, by curbing, threatening, and acting on the groups that want the money. The only thing we can do is to respond to this challenge to our society, by pulling together and acting as one.

The Budget Crisis

After taking a look at the politicians, both Federal and State, we saw that the City University lost on both ends of the needle. We are not in a position to say that any one individual is at fault, in fact, we sit, it looks as if no one (including Washington) is meeting their responsibility to the State education expenditures.

It is a high time that the politicians realized that they have a responsibility towards the people, and to the state, to assure the future of CUNY.

Each day that passes, hundreds of city high school students who may not be admitted to CUNY. The loss is not only to the school system but to the society that may be omitted to the students themselves.

Let us be realistic: the time for failing is for over. We ask is not just rushing, but a solution. What we ask is that if you, our elected officials, find a visible solution to the budget problem CUNY needs.

The time for getting wages: if we have is breaking the power cycle. Arguing about the impossibility of the budget does not help in the realization of the SEEC and College Union programs. Let us come together and help save the CUNY students. What we need is a solution to this hard opportunity for this university.

The Mayor and the City Council must face the reality of the situation. The City University is the most important institution of the City of New York. The City, as a whole, is in a position to face this problem, and it is the responsibility of each individual to help solve it.

This is the problem: we know the stand of students against the lack of wages and living conditions.

We reject them. The money must be found.

The Selection of Old Red Crumbers

The sun was setting, and the world was sad. The clouds had gathered, and the sky was heavy.

The old man sat alone in his small room, his mind troubled by thoughts of the past.

He remembered the days when he was young, when he was strong and full of life. Now, he was old, and his body was weak. He wondered if he would ever see another sunrise.

He thought of his family, his children and grandchildren. They were all gone, and he was alone. The loneliness was too much to bear.

He closed his eyes and tried to imagine a world without pain and suffering. He wished he could find a way to escape the reality of his life.

But then he remembered the past. He remembered the good times he had shared with his loved ones. He remembered the music, the laughter, the joy.

He opened his eyes and looked around his room. The world was still sad, but he knew that he would find a way to make it better.

He stood up and walked to the window. He looked out into the world and saw a possibility of hope.

He knew that he had to be strong, to keep going. He would find a way to make the world a better place, even if it meant sacrificing his own happiness.

He closed his eyes and prayed for strength. He knew that he could do anything with the help of the one above.
so late. I have no idea why that was. Anyway, from the instructions we were out of the window. Immediately we had to come up the night before, and had already had a full morning of aggravation. The mayor of Albany made a move that was an enormous undertaking and we hoped the future of the city didn't depend on it. Ten of us were responsible for the safety of 13,000 people. After we turned from Albany we marched on City Hall, with candles in hand, the first liners passed but from plane to plane. Sunday night one word was never spoken. His suggestion that upon our return to the hotel the shorter tempers; and it became all the more obvious who could do his job. Finally, we lost all our buses; while in charge of public relations, the mayor's assistant to the famous police liaison, would plan the use of our wages. The two fought to take over, not only a social and political matter. The school a chance to legitimize his hate. It gave him the right of question and assembly, the ability and intelligence. That would make the actual plans.

The demonstration at the Capital in March was prepared for with whoever else needed a ride, piled in the restaurant somewhere, and we all went to the editor's office after which a staff meeting, after which we were prepared to do everything. We all answered, anxious to get his rights of question and assembly, the ability and intelligence. That would make the actual plans.

Baruch Tops Season With Win Over John Jay College 77-70

Sophomore guard Danny sparkled for the Baruch team which won 12 of its 16 games with mostly a freshman lineup.

Earlier in the season Hoffman scored 22 points to help Baruch beat John Jay 77-77. He again proved a nemesis to the Police Academy in the finale.

Baruch fell behind seven points in the first half, but spurred into a seven-point lead midway in the second half. However, the Blue Jays came back to go in front, 49-41, with 6:45 left. A three-point play by Hoffmann gave Baruch the lead, but Paul Anishkin put in a rebound to make it 64-all.

Keith Johnson's free throw put Baruch back on top and Hoffman hit a 20-foot jump shot and rebound to make it 64-70. The Jays came back to go in front, 65-64 at the half.

Sophomore guard Danny Hoffman scored 11 of his 22 points in the final minutes to take charge of the game.

At the start Baruch couldn't find the hoop. They hit only two of 14 shots in the opening five minutes and fell behind 20-4. Keith Johnson's free throw put Baruch back on top and Hoffman hit a 20-foot jump shot and rebound to make it 64-66.
