Yesterday started out like the other days during the boycott—there was the usual picketing, and student leaders on both sides were barking announcements about a 10 O'clock rally in the auditorium. But somewhere along the line, there was a decisive difference. The auditorium was jammed—packed—overflowing—with students and faculty. Some 1,500 people came to hear and see what was going on.

Steve Hornberger led the speakers by outlining the day's program. Three topics were to be discussed: the CUNY-wide strike, the student-faculty issue, and five tactics for the next few days.

Mark Citrin spoke about the CUNY-wide strike. He informed the audience that the Registrar's Office decided not to collect fees. In order to register, one need only to show identification. The names were met with boos and cat-calls.

The microphone was turned over, once more, to Steve Hornberger. He told the audience that the Rookie's Office decided not to collect fees. In order to register, one need only to show identification. The names were met with boos and cat-calls.

By a vote of 117 to 28, the Baruch College faculty voted to let President Weaver appoint the 13 faculty members to the Committee of 26.

Earlier in the week, after the last faculty meeting, President Weaver announced the appointment of thirteen faculty as temporary representatives to the Committee of 26. After the vote was taken at the meeting, it was announced that those appointed as interim members would become the permanent members, with the following changes: Professors Valinsky and Gutman are no longer on the committee, and Professors Loewand and Benowitz have been appointed to take their places.

The walkout among the assembled faculty, and Lester J. Rosenthal, Dean of Administration, then got up and made a motion that President Weaver appoint a committee of five, to report in one month, on what can be done to give the vote to those faculty members who now cannot exercise that right.

The committee has been meeting weekly, every day, since last Friday. Their recommendations will be presented at the next general faculty meeting, which will be held this Friday at 3:00 PM in room 4 North.
Suspend The Boycott

Central students may be found without question, that the boycott has been the target of the students' campaign. It is important to remember that the boycott is not an end in itself, but a means to an end. The boycott is a tool to be used by students who are fighting for their rights as citizens of this country. Three Events

The Student Council will be holding a meeting on May 8th to discuss the boycott. The meeting will be held in the Student Center at 2:10 PM. All students are encouraged to attend.

Cambodia

The Cambodia crisis is a serious one. The United Nations has called for an immediate cease-fire, and the United States has urged both sides to settle the conflict. The situation is tense, and it is important to stay informed.

Faculty Meeting

The Faculty Meeting will be held on May 8th at 2:10 PM. All faculty members are encouraged to attend.
