When Harvard University was granted $11,000 last month to conduct a study of 500 students on the habit of jealousy, Barnard College was not far behind. The college announced yesterday that it would conduct a parallel study among its female students.

The Barnard study will be administered by Dr. Rebecca Strauss, a sociologist, and her husband, Dr. Robert Strauss, a psychologist. The study will be conducted in two parts. The first will involve a survey of all female students, the second a detailed study of those students who report feelings of jealousy.

The survey will be conducted by means of a questionnaire which will be distributed to all female students. The detailed study will involve personal interviews with a sample of students who report high levels of jealousy.

Baruch to Get Voter Registration

Although the plans to bring a voter registration drive to campus are still in the early stages, a Baruch student group has already begun the drive at Staten Island and Queens colleges. The drive will be able to register in the school in late April. The exact dates cannot be announced now, said a representative of the Baruch Students for Voter Registration.

The question of funding for the drive is still undecided. Dean of Students has pledged his full cooperation with the Baruch Students for Voter Registration, but no student groups have yet been notified, said the representative of the Baruch Students for Voter Registration.

The Republican's 23rd Psalm

Nixon is my shepherd, I shall not want; He maketh me to lie down in green pastures, He leadeth me beside still waters, He restoreth my soul, He guideth me to the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea tho I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for you are with me; your rod and your staff, they comfort me.

Prepare thee against the day of my trouble; for the Lord is my strength.

Overtaking poverty and hard times I will not fear, for thou art with me.

The days of The Republican Party and I shall live in a rented house forever.

Two years ago Moses said, "Pick up your Canes, pick up a Hoe, Mount your Ass, and shall lead you to the Promised Land."

Two years later Franklin said, "Let go down your Showers, Light up your Cigarettes, sin your Soul, Kick your Ass in and tell you to the Promised Land..."

With Nixon, he will take your Games, sin your Soul, Kick you in the Ass, and tell you to the Promised Land.

The Mathematics of Love

How do we graph the relationship of love? Do we multiply or do we add? When you are satisfied, I realize every time, I am so happy, I am so glad.

What is the ratio of love to? Is it a number that is used to measure love?

Am I a Computer? Because to me, When you are satisfied, I realize every time, I am so happy, I am so glad.

It all comes down to the final solution. After checking out, I am always happy. Theories are wrong, it's perfectly right. I am always happy. I am always happy.

Donald Rockwell

It's my love for... Why do you serve? With your eyes so large in your face Lord at our side. Why do you serve? With your eyes so large in your face Lord at our side. Why do you serve? With your eyes so large in your face Lord at our side. Why do you serve? With your eyes so large in your face Lord at our side.

For me it was Christmas, the beginning of the year for me. This was the year for me. This was the year for me. This was the year for me. This was the year for me.

All the firsts were mine and then I died that night. Nothing going on nor I was happy that night.

I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long.

The day I saw was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long.

Saying prayers was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long. After every day I was just happy all day long.
Light Side-Dark Side

Fellow Baruchians, especially those who feel they were never consulted or invited to the building dedication, may want to share their feelings with campus. We feel it is appropriate to echo the sentiments of Mr. Jack Zeviński, the Mr. Zeviński who wrote an open letter to all Baruch students on the occasion of the building dedication. His letter is below:

To all my fellow students:

There’s an old Baruch joke about students who were present for the dedication of the new building. It goes something like this: "Who were those people attending the dedication? Not many Baruch students. No, they were all the Baruch faculty." Well, I agree with Mr. Zeviński’s sentiments. It seems that the dedication was primarily attended by the Baruch faculty. Why? Because they have the authority and the power to make decisions regarding the building. They are the ones who have the resources and the knowledge to make these decisions. It’s about time we students had a say in the matters that affect us. The Baruch students have the right to be included in the decision-making process. We deserve to have a voice in the future of our institution. We should not be left out in the cold. We should not be left to fend for ourselves. We should be involved. We should be included. We should be heard.

The dedication ceremony is a symbol of the Baruch community’s commitment to excellence. It’s about time we students were included in this commitment. We should be proud to be part of this community. We should be proud to be part of this institution. We should be proud to be part of this future. We should not be left out in the cold. We should not be left to fend for ourselves. We should be included. We should be involved. We should be heard.

Yours sincerely,

Although the writing that took place in the classroom two weeks ago was a tremendous success in terms of expression, the atmosphere of the class was less than ideal. The students were not engaged in the discussion and seemed bored. The teacher tried to engage them by asking questions, but they did not respond. The class was so quiet that it felt as if we were in a library.

However, when we were given the opportunity to write in the notebook, the students were much more engaged. They wrote about their experiences and shared their thoughts. It was a much more productive and enjoyable experience.

The students have suggested that we should continue this practice in the future. They believe that it will help them to express themselves more freely and to engage more in the classroom discussions.

Dear Editor,

I was glad to see the article about the dedication of the new building. However, I was disappointed to see that the students were not invited to the event. I believe that the students should have been included in the decision-making process regarding the building. The students are the ones who will use the building every day, and they should have a say in its construction.

Sincerely,
