12 NOON - 2 P.M.  WINTER-CONSORT TO PERFORM
The Statistics Department has scheduled its final exams for January 18, 1972, a day after the last day of classes, and students are complaining about this decision. Professor David Valinsky, chairman of the Statistics Department, defended the scheduling of the finals, saying the department had to fit its final exams for January 18, 1972, a day after the last day of classes. He also pointed out that some other departments had similar scheduling plans.

Students have complained about this scheduling, and they are worried about their final exams. They have expressed concerns about the stress and pressure they will face during this time. Professor Valinsky went on to explain that too many exams in one day can lead to students failing, and it is more advantageous for them to study for only one exam.

On Tuesday, December 21st, 1971, the Baruch Choraleers will hold its annual Christmas Program In the Oak Lounge at 12:30 p.m. The program includes the "Fanfare for Christmas Day," by Sy Miller and Jill Jackson; "December A Joyous Month for All," arranged by Clifford Ormsby; and "Let There Be Peace on Earth," by Sy Miller and Jill Jackson.

The Baruch College Faculty will join with the Baruch Chorale to Present a Christmas Program. The program will feature performances of Christmas carols such as "Hark Bethlehem," a Polish carol; "What Child is This?," an English carol; "Hark, Hark, The Lark," and "Adeste Fideles," arranged by Clifford Ormsby. The program will also include "Rea," a recently born folk song, performed by the Student Faculty String Quartet.

The program will run from 12:30 p.m. to 12 midnight the second floor in the Student Center. All are invited to come and enjoy the music and the festive atmosphere. The Student Center will be vibrated from their teeth. The only other man to do this sounds. Quoted from the Daily News.*
The Ultimate Reality of Evolution

There exists in this universe three basic realities: man, the animal, and the lower marvelous beings. Man is a sentient, conscious and spiritual being. He is the creature of the divine. Material things are the aware and conscious beings. They don’t exist without man, without the divine. Every one of the facts that they know and understand, they cannot exist without man. Lower marvelous beings have existed previously in the range of consciousness. Those beings are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness. Those beings are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness. Those beings are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness.

The other elements of the universe are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness. Those beings are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness. Those beings are the ones who can understand the range of consciousness.

While man is not a lower marvelous being, he is a conscious being. He is the creature of the divine. In order for man to live, the divine energy must flow through him. In order for man to live, the divine energy must flow through him. In order for man to live, the divine energy must flow through him.

Lindsey and his craggy red-haired lectures are among the most celebrated in Baruch College. Who can forget his lecture on the barroom? Who can forget his lecture on the barroom? Who can forget his lecture on the barroom? Who can forget his lecture on the barroom? Who can forget his lecture on the barroom?

There are no limits to what man can understand. There are no limits to what man can understand. There are no limits to what man can understand. There are no limits to what man can understand. There are no limits to what man can understand.

Weight Lifting

Eight muscle-men, in the heavy-weight division showed up and a few lighter weights joined in. Many spectators yelled their comments from the side as the Baruch Herkules lifted enormous amounts of weights.

In the Military or Chest-Press, as many fell to the pressure, Rosenspan pressed 200 lbs. for the third place as Crabbe and Finkelstein went on to press the maximum of 250 lbs. Then they had to REP, which means, how many times they could press it. Finkelstein went first, with an unbelievable 12 reps, but Crabbe's effort was sheer will, as he did 13, and received first place points as the stage of the competition was now set for the rest of the Tournament. The other contestants gave valiantly. After but Finkelstein, Crabbe and Rosenspan, were just too powerful.

Then in the Leg Press, Crabbe, the favorite, had to settle for second place and Finkelstein for third as Rosenspan was very powerful in this event, with a press of 450 lbs. Crabbe, out reped Finkelstein at 510 lbs. Just too powerful in this event, with a press of 540 lbs. for the third place.

Chess Championship In Third Round

In the Baruch Chess Championship with the start of the third round, there are eight undefeated players. The critical games this week in the six round Swiss Tournament are: Jack Harayda vs. Max Zavanelli; James Ellison vs. Glenn Dyson; Richard Wong vs. Ken Rosenberg; Kwok Toh vs. Max Kaufman.

As of now the main contenders for the two beautiful trophies appear to be Dyson, Wong, and Zavanelli. The fourth round will start Tuesday, Dec. 14. In case of ties it is mathematically possible to take first with five wins and a loss, or second place with four and six rounds and any playoff game will be held. The key game of the fifth and sixth rounds and any playoff game will be played with chess clocks. The time limit will be 30 moves the first hour (for each player) and 30 minutes for the next 30 moves. Prospective tournament winners should familiarize themselves with the chess clock and a chess notation if not already known. A regular loss is scored if a player fails to make the time limit.

Chess Championship In Third Round

after just two weeks of play, the Baruch basketball team has already matched is victory total of last season when it posted a disappointing 4-13 record. This year under new coach Bobby Sand, Baruch has won its past two games. Recent triumphs have been registered against New York Tech 95-61; New York State, 52-77; and York College, 66-52.

The York victory last Friday at the 8th Regiment Armory was of particular significance since the Nomads came into the game with three straight wins including a 62-59 beating of Hunter College, the defending Knickerbocker Conference champions. Hunter has won three straight since that loss.

York never got untracked against Baruch. With the score tied at 4-4, Baruch ran off a 14-3 streak and was ahead to stay. After the first half the lead was 32-20 as York connected on only 6 of 31 shots for a 19 percent mark.

In the second half York made two runs at Baruch, but never got closer than six points. They scored six straight points to pull within 38-34 with 13:38 left, but Mark Posner's jump shot from the corner and Ed Westmoreland's one-hander from behind the circle stopped that surge.

With seven minutes to play York closed 46-45, but two free throws by Mark Stein and Westmoreland's jumper from the corner gave Baruch the lead for good. York beat the press and Robinson hit six of seven free throws in the next minute to get the game out of reach. Stein made all seven of his free throws in the game while Robinson hit six of seven in the second half.

Robinson and Stein and Aldrich Carnegie helped Baruch take the lead in the first half. Despite forcing New York Tech into 25 turnovers in the first half, Baruch found itself trailing 42-40 at intermission. Ed Westmoreland sparked a 17-4 drive that put Baruch in front 62-51 seven minutes into the second half. With ten minutes to play Baruch opened up a 71-56 lead.

Tech came within 75-75 with four minutes left, but Carnegie, Robinson and Robinson again scored from close range to get the lead up to nine points.

Robinson had 19 points, Carnegie 18, Westmoreland 13 and Stein 10. Posner and Norman Taylor had nine points each. Pete Luenska led Tech with 24 points. He had 20 points in the first half, but managed only four points after halftime.

Baruch, 52-77; York College, 66-52.
