COURSE AND FACULTY EVALUATION INITIATED

The long-awaited Course and Faculty Evaluation Program has become a reality due to the efforts of a student committee calling itself the Ad Hoc Committee on Course and Faculty Evaluation. It consists of Steven Davidovitch, Nelson A. Haber, Michael Neuwirth, Ronald L. Licht, Richard A. Almstead, and Lawrence Leiser. The committee was formed last year; it was decided that the Student College Community Council would not be making any program on its own, and the Academic Senate, teaching department heads, and faculty were consulted. The evaluation program was approved by the Academic Senate last November, and it was put into effect in January. The evaluation program is designed to be a report to the students who are interested in the evaluation of courses.

THE COMMITTEE ON ACADEMIC STANDING

The Committee on Academic Standing presented new academic standards to both the Liberal Arts and Business Schools this term, in brief, the Committee will be asked by the Student Government to present, at the General Faculty meeting on February 15, a motion on the standards in both schools.

The changes in grading is something that the administration should seriously consider this motion, and pass it. When the Student Body sees that changes in the grading system, the faculty should be only too happy to small requirements.

It is also said that all of the credit for the design of the committee which makes up the Committee on Academic Standing, the Assistant Registrar, and President Yaron's faculty evaluation.

Everyone's appreciation is also deserved by the Ad

BEER BLAST BLASTED

Students, with the cooperation of staff advisors, are planning a Beer Blast to be held on Friday, February 4. The blast will be going well. They have acquired a temporary liquor license, they have security checks, they have a time of opening.

But there is opposition by Dean Senor, and some expected from President Wingfield. They do not want the Beer Blast to be held on campus.

And all the times that faculty and students have been asked to be present on campus, the students have been asked to be present on campus.

The only reason that the administration is hearing the Beer Party, the administration should not think that they will be shot over the issue.
