ALL CLEAR GIVEN ON BUDGET CRISIS

A conditional “all clear” on the CUNY budget crisis was sounded at the end of March, as the Legislature approved a State Executive Budget with $71.5 million less than the Governor’s proposed “freeze.” Albany touts called the turnaround there a stunning victory for the University. Much credit was given to skillful lobbying by University administrators and faculty, and a very strong grassroots thrust that developed late in the game among students, parents, and friends. In an almost unanimous sense, the crisis was real, the aroused voters spurred their legislative representatives to defy the Executive branch.

The University’s official position was contained in a message from Chancellor Robert J. Kibbee to all students, faculty and students from the two departments Undergraduate Sociology majors will undertake full-time research on topics related to the general area of “urban communications” under the guidance of Klein Hutheesing, Assistant Professor in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. The projects will enable three students to prepare a report of their findings during the following semester.

The following factors will help select and the beginning of the formal program.

Registration for the fall 1972 semester will be conducted in the same manner as it was for this semester, the only difference being that it will take place in room 114, the 24th Street

Sociology Grants Available

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology received word last week that it has been awarded a grant by the National Science Foundation for an Undergraduate Research Program this coming summer. The grant, totalling $5,100, is one of 42 being made to social science departments throughout the country for support of independent student research.

The project will enable three undergraduate Sociology majors to undertake ten weeks of full-time research on topics related to the general area of "urban communications" under the guidance of department staff members. The students selected will receive $80 a week, tax-free, for the ten-week period between June 19 and August 28 and will prepare a report of their findings during the following semester.

The following factors will be considered in selecting the three Undergraduate Research Participants:

1. Majors with junior or senior standing who will have at least one more semester at Baruch after August 1972.
2. At least a B average in Sociology-Anthropology courses.

Student Leaders Eligible for 1 Credit

Student leaders who work in the Freshman Seminar program next September can obtain one academic credit by applying to the Office of Department of Student Development for permission to take Sociology 99, or Psychology 33, or Education 33.

Any students interested must see Claire Brody in Room 406, Student Center to arrange for a screening interview after they have completed the prerequisites.

At Baruch, President Wingfield commended the students and faculty members who took part in our mobilization effort. Among activities here were participation in meetings of Manhattan College. The survival kit operation generated from Baruch alone at least 2,500 signatures on 121 petitions targeted on individual legislators and processed through CUNY central office, plus an unknown number of letters and further petitions sent directly to the legislature.

President Wingfield and Dean William Monat, Baruch Budget Crisis Coordinator, extended particular thanks to Dean R. Gregor and Mr. Russ Ross of the Student Center, who recruited student volunteers for the mailing, oversaw and did much of it themselves. Similar thanks went to members of the student-faculty coordination committee, whose membership included:

- Michael Agranoff, Alicia Alvarez, Robert Barrett, David Epstein, Jim Fendt, Marilyn Fuhrman, Wilbert Gilbert, Barry Goldstein, Robert Greenberg, Mitchell Greenstein, Jeffrey Lomasky, Elizabeth Pisaro; Chris Rodriguez, Alan Bark, Charles Vages, Jose Vives, Nora Wilder, and Dean Maurice C. Benewitz, Dr. Abraham J. Briloff, Prof. Dennis Dunn, Dr. Benjamin Gatty, Prof. Theodore H. Lang; Dr. Aaron Levenstein, Dean Julius J. Manon, Dr. Marx A. Marin, Prof. Edmund Rothman, Mr. Robert Seaver, Dean Roy S. Senour, Prof. Donna E. Shalek, Dr. Ronald Smith and Dr. Samuel F. Thomas.

CHANCELLOR CITES THE UNIVERSITY STUDENT SENATE AS INSTRUMENTAL IN SAVING CUNY

In a memorandum sent to the University Student Senate on April 3, 1972, the Chancellor of the City University, Dr. Robert J. Kibbee said, "Among your concerted and persuasive support, I am quite sure that the disastrous budget level for CUNY, specified in the State Executive Budget..."
Finance Presents Two Speakers

The FINANCE SOCIETY in conjunction with the FINANCE 101 class was pleased to have two distinguished speakers in the field of finance, Adlai A. Smith, III, a governmental securities dealer and commentator on Wall Street, and Aubrey Lanston, a private traders, who do both.

If you are interested in becoming a trader, you must have an analytical mind and a sense of observation. You must also have a good understanding of the real world of finance. Dr. Santo pointed out that one does want to become a trader, one must have the proper background and experience.

Project US was put into existence. It has been successful in getting students involved, is educational, and adds to the enrichment and support of what goes on in the College. Dr. Perrone explains that not all students are alienated, but 212 is helpful for those who might feel pressured by something or other.

As I said in my previous article, I am not the person most in love with the idea of a Black Power Movement, but if the movement is a real one, then there are some principles that are important. The Black Power Movement is a response to a real need for self-respect and self-determination among black people. It is a response to the现实需要 for self-respect and self-determination among black people. It is a response to the need for the development of a black consciousness and a black identity. Mr. Thomas says that entering Baruch is a new experience. It may be true that entering Baruch is a new experience, but this is not the case with every institution. The transition from one school to another can be a difficult one, but it is not necessarily a new experience. It is important to consider the unique experiences and opportunities that each institution provides.

The Stage
One More Quest Comes to Broadway
by Prelle Greenfield

Inspired from Fanny K. Austin
Off-Broadway comes to Broadway again. Our reviewer says that there is little reason to expect a better show than the one that was on Seventeenth Street. The cast and staging are not overly impressive, but the story is well-told. The show is a reminder that life is not always black and white.

Critic
Dresden Revisited

When Lucina Varrassi made "Death in Venice" her own, it was given a darker and more intimate tone than it had in the past. The same is true of the new adaptation of "Dresden Revisited," which has been given a more polished production. The cast is excellent, with each actor bringing their own unique interpretation to the characters. The set is simple but effective, with a sense of realism that adds to the overall atmosphere of the production.

I Can't Hear You 'Cause the Water's Running

Confusion is spread as having said: "It is a waste of time. It is a waste of money. And I don't think that it is a waste of time."

The material for the film is from "The Life of the Mind," a collection of essays by Elie Wiesel. The essays are powerful and thought-provoking, with a sense of urgency that is rare in modern writing.

Take a Shallow Breath and Kiss Your Forest Goodbye

"Moral Daylight and Englishman," was created in the early 1950s by British author John Bunyan. The story is simple and straightforward, with a focus on the importance of faith and spirituality.

"We were stiff-hitting for that top seed," commented Baruch tennis coach Bob Givone. "He's a hard worker, has a lot of potential and if he continues to play this summer and in the winter he could be one of the best players in the area by next season," he noted.

Morales, who also has a 4-1 record in doubles, teamed with Mitch Polston in the first doubles match to give Baruch its deciding point.
