Beach Day Slated for Today

At noon today, Lexington Avenue between 22nd and 23rd Streets will be turned into the first bona fide beach this year ever to be held outside of Santa Claus—Baruch Beach.

The first of 1,200 free T-shirts, 500 lawn chairs, splashers, or umbrellas will be dispensed by the Annual Campus Festival. Don Junikow, president of Public Relations Society of America, sponsors of the event, said, "We've gooe-dippers quality; but the students must be sure to get a free Baruch Beach T-shirt.

Baruch Beach, the focal activity of the Second Annual Campus Festival, will offer two five-lounging pools in which students can swim, dive, or splash. Green life guards will be stationed at each pool.

Music will be provided to person by Baruch's friend in the music world, Billy Joel, and the newly-organized group with whose sound is perfect for energizing the entire festival environment will be Linda Russell, PBSR, vice-president. "We've really got a unique sound now.

While students hit swim, dance, swim, and sunbath, the traditional beach gourmet fare will be served free to students. The dogs will be dispensed by Brooklyn's most creatively inventive hot dog empire. "Big Daddy's" Sodas will be provided by and with the cordial consent of Pepsi Cola. And in line with time-honored tradition, America's run-away favorite beach dessert will be dispensed by the most recognizable good-time man on the scene, Santa Claus—Baruch Beach.

December will conduct a workshop for members of the Music Department in cooperation with the Music Department.

The following are changes in the final exam schedule:

Sec. 1: Monday, May 31 at 2:00 P.M.
Sec. 2: Tuesday, May 2 at 9:00 A.M.
Sec. 3: Wednesday, May 3 at 10:30 A.M.
Sec. 4: Thursday, May 4 at 9:00 A.M.
Sec. 5: Monday, May 31 at 9:00 A.M.

Russian Roulette: Discovering Your Teachers

Most students registered for courses in the Fall 1973 term were able to register for all their required courses. This is due to the fact that many departments have not released their class lists this coming semester. For reasons unknown, the departments have either held the lists back, or compiled them at all.

The Marketing Department has not put together a master catalog for the Fall term. A few students have been able to register for their classes, but many others have had to wait.

The president of the department says that they have not released the lists to anyone but the faculty. He says that the faculty have not made them available to the students.

The students' lists should be released in advance of registration so that students will know what they will be expected to take. The department should begin sending out the lists of classes, as is done at Lehman and City Colleges. These lists should be made available BEFORE REGISTRATION.

TICKER had planned to publish the lists before the start of classes.

Some departments, such as Romance Languages and History, have released their class lists, but they are confidential and it is hoped that the other academic departments will follow their example.

A Step In The Right Direction

The college press has been under fire recently by the New York State Board of Regents. They have released a report stating that the college's press is not meeting the standards set by the Board. The faculty and students have been called to respond.

The City University should follow the lead of the New York State Board of Regents. They should not suppress the freedom of the press, but should work to improve it. The City University should work to improve the quality of the college's press.

Final Exam Study Trip!

There are three basic approaches to preparing for this week's exams. The first is the "brute force" method, which involves cramming as much material as possible into your head in the shortest time possible. The second is the "natural" method, which involves understanding the material in depth and being able to recall it when needed. The third is the "sloppy" method, which involves winging it and hoping for the best.

The "brute force" method is the least effective, as it does not allow for retention of the material. The "natural" method is the most effective, as it allows for a deeper understanding of the material. The "sloppy" method is somewhere in between, as it allows for some retention of the material, but not as much as the "natural" method.

Every method has its pros and cons, and the choice of which one to use is ultimately up to you. However, it is important to be honest with yourself about your own abilities and to choose the method that will work best for you.

There is no "right" or "wrong" way to study for exams, and what works for one person may not work for another. The key is to find a method that works for you and to stick with it.

Dear Mr. Dabron,

May I beg that you extend my very sincere appreciation to all sources.

I am happy that TICKER has demonstrated awareness and demonstrated engineering of the Indian Misfortune, it has not only that, but predominantly Caucasian as well (the two causes doors, and second, because being bothered to extend sympathy and concern to it. We do not know when, but that is a matter that not alone belongs to this Indian tribe. This has to be stopped.

Steve Klein pitched a four-hitter for his fourth victory of the year as the Bearcats turned back the Conference power C.W. Post, 2-1, at Randall's Island Stadium on Sunday.

It capped a week which saw the Statesmen split four decisions to bring the overall mark to 10-7. In other games last week Baruch beat New York Tech, 3-0, and lost to St. Peters, 4-3, and Brooklyn, 3-1.

The regular season winds up in the next seven days with five games. Tomorrow afternoon the team makes up a previous rainout at Quinncipec. Friday afternoon Baruch hosts 1-11 at Randall's Island. The Blackbirds lead the Met Conference and are prime candidates for an NCAA tournament bid. On Saturday, St. Francis, another Met Conference team, comes to Randall's Island for a doubleheader. The schedule closes out Monday against Hunter at Rube Ruth Field in the Bronx.

Baruch's win over Post not only ended a streak of losses to St. Peters and Brooklyn to the "absence" of catcher Tony DiSanzo. "We missed his arm and his bat," said Rizzi. St. Peters and Brooklyn came up with key steals to set up their runs.

DiSanzo returned for the Post game and made his presence felt as he doubled in the tying run and scored the winning run on Glen Fried's single seventh inning.

Post had scored an unearned run in the first inning and that was all of the scoring until the seventh. Danny Garcia opened the game seventh with a single and stole second. It was his twelfth steal of the year. DiSanzo singled in the left-center field to tie the game. One out later Fried singled left to left for the winning run.

Brooklyn took advantage of early wildness by Bill Flanders and a pair of stolen bases to score a 10-4 lead after three innings. Baruch was kept in check until the eighth. He ran his fastest time of the year. DiSanzo then doubled into left-center field to tie the game. One out later Fried singled left to left for the winning run.

"The kids were magnificent," (Carlos) Tait and (Mauri) Church stated track coach Heward Richter after Baruch came up with its best showing ever in the CUNY Outdoor Track and Field championships held last week at Queens College.

The Statesmen finished fourth beating out City and York. A year ago the team placed last.

Queens ran away with the championship piling up 131 points to second place Lehman's 60. Brooklyn was third with 32 followed by Baruch with 25. City and York had 20 each.

Tait, the team captain, finished second in two events and third in another. He ran his fastest time of the year in taking second in the 120 yard hurdles. In the 220 yard dash he came out of nowhere in the last five yards to beat out Queens runners and take second. He was third in the 100 yard dash.

Church continued his steady improvement as he ran his fastest times of the year in the quarter and half mile events. He was second in the quarter and fourth in the half. Richter Crabbe placed third in both the shotput and discus.

The outdoor season winds up tomorrow, May 10, with a meet against Brooklyn and New York Tech at Staten Island Community College.

Coach Richter is formulating his plans for the fall cross-country and indoor track seasons. Any new candidates can sign up in Room 806 of the Main Building.

discuss the threats. It was decided to form a CUNY Press Council which would judge any CUNY paper brought up on grievances. A Student Publication Policy was passed which would set the guidelines for these publications.

Although the Press Council is not yet functioning, TICKER supports this body and hopes it will be successful.

It shows that CUNY editors are not irresponsible and are making an attempt to govern themselves. At least it is a step in the right direction.
