Foreign Trade Society Meets At Pier 5

By Alan Lebensfeld

On Thursday, October 4, the Foreign Trade Society under the newly elected leadership of Bill Armmaskin, traveled down to Pier 5 in Brooklyn. Once assembled at the pier, the group of twenty-five students proceeded to tour the facilities of Farrell Lines. Besides the tour of the dock facilities, the students embarked on a lengthy tour on one of Farrell Lines vessels, the "African Mercury," and all who attended came away with a better perspective of how international ocean shipping operates. After the complete tour of the dock and vessel, the gracious management of Farrell Lines treated our entire group to a superb luncheon.

Some of the subjects which were expanded upon during the visit were containerization, routing, cargo types, specifications of the particular type of vessel, and generally how American textiles arrive to the many destinations of Atlantic served by Farrell Lines. The trip was both exciting and extremely educational for all those who attended.

PRESIDENT APPOINTS PLURALITY WINNERS TO STUDENT GOVERNMENT

WBMB Is Coming

By Joyce Greensward

Come the end of October, Baruch is going to be filled once again with the heavy sound of our radio station, WBMB. A lot of good things have been happening with the station and there are lots more to come. Previously in the Student Center at 27th St., WBMB now has moved to the basement in 884 FAD to bigger quarters. Extremely exciting. There is now a brand new 50 watt transmitter; quite an improvement over the 5 watt one. WBMB plans to have a transmitter in every building with radio devices in the lounge with which students will be able to control volume.

Now that they have such good equipment, WBMB will be able to do almost anything, I am sure. I am curious to see how the program will be expanded. Things are in the future looking bright for the station. There are now paid advertisements on the air. One of the new sponsors is the Pan Am Foundation.

Education Workshop Next Week

October 17 and 25, the School of Education will sponsor workshops for education majors to plan their programs. These must be made out in duplicate. All information must be filled in or the students' programs cannot be approved. It is important that students follow the printed directions carefully.

The purpose of the workshops is to help students plan their programs and to answer questions concerning the requirements. Students must be prepared to hand in their worksheets at the workshops (students do not have to attend BOTH; one will suffice). Any questions can be answered at the School of Education.

What are your plans for the future? Do you want to go to graduate school, or do you plan to enter the workforce immediately after college?

Mary Weber: English major

"I'm planning to go to graduate school. I want to become a teacher and eventually move into administration. I feel that my passion for teaching will drive me to pursue higher education, and I think that's where I'll have an opportunity to make a difference in people's lives."

Joe Green: Chemistry major

"I plan to enter the workforce immediately after college. I want to use my knowledge in a practical setting and see how my skills can benefit society. I believe that my experiences in the lab will give me a solid foundation to start my career right away."

Lower Freshmen: Accounting

"I'm not sure yet. I'm currently weighing my options. I might take a gap year to travel or gain some work experience before pursuing graduate school or entering the workforce."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In the latest issue of TICKER, the editorial board has written a thought-provoking article on the need for a more meaningful way to express oneself, particularly in the context of the current political climate. I wholeheartedly agree with their perspective.

It is crucial to find ways to communicate our thoughts and feelings authentically, especially when it comes to discussing important issues. Using a language that resonates with the reader and effectively conveys our message is essential. The editorial board's article highlights this need and encourages us to seek more effective ways to express ourselves.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

I would like to express my support for the article published in the most recent issue of TICKER, which discusses the importance of meaningful expression. As a reader, I found the piece both insightful and motivating.

I strongly believe that, in a world where communication can be superficial and disconnected, it is crucial to find ways to connect with others on a deeper level. The article's emphasis on authenticity and genuine communication resonated with me, and I appreciate the call to action it provides.

Thank you for sharing this perspective. I look forward to reading future articles on similar topics.

Sincerely,

For the second time, the Baruch Student Government held a protest against the administration's decision to hire new security guards to address the recent increase in violent incidents on campus. The protest was held in the center of the campus, with students and faculty gathering to voice their concerns.

The President gave the following statement: "We have been monitoring the situation on campus closely and have decided to take necessary steps to ensure the safety of our community. The new security guards will be responsible for maintaining order and enforcing the rules of the institution.

The protest ended peacefully, with the President expressing his appreciation for the students' efforts. The administration promised to continue engaging with the student body to find a solution to the ongoing issues.

Sincerely,

BASKETBALL

Last week a meeting was held by Coach Rosenberg to plan the first step towards preparing this fall's JV and Varsity basketball teams for the upcoming season.

The purpose of the meeting was threefold. First and foremost was the completion of eligibility cards. Coach Rosenberg stressed the point that the school's first concern is for the student as a scholar rather than as an athlete. Only those players who retain grades acceptable to the school are allowed to participate.

Another item on the agenda for the meeting was that of selecting all the prospective players medically. This year the JV has 18 games and the Varsity 22, which require good health and condition to be of prime concern to the coaches.

Third, the meeting was also used to announce the intramural program and the beginning of the fall's JV tournament. This is the first year that Baruch will have a JV team, so Coach McDonald has his work cut out. Good luck to both him and his team.

The third item covered at the meeting was the mapping out of this week's schedule. By this Wednesday the joint JV/Varsity squad must be down to 20 players, then, by Friday the two separate squads must be down to 12 players each.

CROSS COUNTRY

Weekend before last Baruch raised its record to 2 wins and 1 loss by splitting a pair in a triangular meet at Van Cortlandt Park. The loss was to the hands (or feet) of New Paltz. The victory was over Maritime.

In the meet four Baruch runners achieved new personal bests. Gerry Morton, Steve Tepper, Santo Zayas, and Hal Hanany were clocked in 29:47, 30:27, 31:21, and 31:51 respectively.

Last week I wrote that a challenge might result in improved performances by the team, which already has an encouraging start. Keep up the pace, guys. We're with you.
