Education Workshop

This Thursday

On October 25, the School of Education will sponsor workshops for Education majors to plan their programs. To be held between 12 p.m. and 2 p.m., the workshops will take place in the following locations: Room 114, 24th Street Building for elementary education majors; Room 4 South in the Main Building for secondary education majors.

Prior to the workshops, all students should fill out worksheets, available from your teachers, or from the Secretary on the tenth floor of the S16 Park Avenue South Building. These must be made out in DUPLICATE. All information must be filled in or student programs cannot be approved. It is important that students follow the printed directions extremely carefully.

The purpose of these workshops is to help students plan their programs, and to be sure that each education major knows his or her requirements.

Students must be prepared to hand in their worksheets at the workshops (students, do NOT have to attend BOTH; one will suffice). Any questions can be answered at the School of Education.
THE GRAND BOUFFÉ is a film based on the novel by Monique Molard, who decided to eat herself to death. She met, passed, and met again after death in a variety of formless, unrecognizable, and even dramatic ways. The story is based on the film of the same name, directed by François Truffaut and co-written by Jean-Luc Godard. The film is set in Paris and explores the themes of love, death, and the absurdity of human existence.

The film's protagonist, Bruno, is a New York City police officer who is investigating the murder of a young French woman. As he delves deeper into the case, he becomes obsessed with the idea of self-destruction and eventually decides to end his own life. The film is a dark and complex exploration of love, death, and the human condition.

The film is directed by François Truffaut and stars Jean-Pierre Léaud as Bruno. The film is a powerful and thought-provoking exploration of the human condition and the complexities of love and death.
A Question of Fairness To Students...

Last week, the College Community on Personen and Budget rejected Ron Bruse's appeal, denying him the privilege of teaching in the College. Ron Bruse has been a teacher in the College since 1965, and has provided excellence in teaching and guidance to students during this period. This decision, however, raises serious questions about the fairness and equity in the academic standing process.

The irony of this whole situation is the involvement of a large number of people, some of whom feel that if he were an active majority, he would profit in some manner. It is a pity that if he were to the Registrar's Office before the deadlines, his case would not have been considered. Later!

The INSIDER

By JULIE EYIVER

Time and again, we con- strange situations in life that make us question this world. We are born and we grow, we welcome the joys of life and we accept the sadness associated with it. Who can expect the great changes? Many years pass and we assume that everything will stay the same. All of a sudden we find ourselves in a situation beyond our imagination. We may have been preparing for something, but suddenly, as if the winds blow, we find ourselves in a different world.

This kind of situation can happen to anyone. It can happen to you, the reader, or even to the people you know. It can happen to everyone in the world. It can happen to anyone at any time, and it is better to be prepared, to be ready, to be open, to be ready to listen, to be ready to understand.

There are several ways to deal with such situations. One way is to contact an organization or a professional who can offer guidance and support. Another way is to find a mentor or a sponsor who can provide advice and assistance. Yet another way is to seek the help of a friend or a family member who can offer comfort and encouragement.

In conclusion, being prepared for anything is essential. It is better to be ready for anything than to be caught off guard. In any case, it is better to be open to the possibility of change and to be ready to face it.

The first Student Government "Meets and More" was held in the Lounge on November 8th, when Ms. Sullo (former Baruch’s few messiahs) 212 Project, the Freslanan Orientation Committee, and the Baruch Student Senate held a joint meeting. At this meeting, the Student Senate presented their plans for the upcoming year, while the Freslanan Orientation Committee discussed their goals for the coming semester. The 212 Project also presented their objectives for the upcoming year, including their plans for bringing in guest speakers and hosting workshops. The meeting was well attended, with many students in attendance, and it was a great success. The Student Senate, Freslanan Orientation Committee, and 212 Project are all working together to create a positive and productive atmosphere for the Baruch community.

Dear Mr. Bruse:

I urge you to accept Mr. Bruse's considerable effort and appeal for tenure so one of our finest educators can continue his excellent work. Mr. Bruse has been a valuable member of the Baruch community for many years, and he has made significant contributions to the life of the college. He is a highly respected and well-regarded educator, and he has a long and successful record of teaching and research. Mr. Bruse is entitled to the opportunity to pursue his career at Baruch, and I urge you to consider his application favorably. If you have any questions about Mr. Bruse's qualifications, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
The rumor to this point is that Finley will be fined for his despicable actions towards second baseman John Andrews and baseball in general. The number $40000 has come up.

As far as I am concerned the only just decision would be to force Finley to sell his ballclub and get back to industry where his cut-throat techniques are commonplace and the individual is just a tool for adding to gross profits.

Never has one man done such a complete job of turning a whole ballclub, from players to coaches, against himself. Dick Williams—:

On the subject of poor executives, this is a subject that has been raised many times and will be raised many times more.

Vets and Vets—

Vets (Veterans Association) is a nifty idea. We are composed of Vets for Vets. You have a voice in school policy and you attend meetings where your input is appreciated.

The BCVA is located in Rm. 301B in Student Center. We have regular meetings and would like to hear your views. Why not attend and get acquainted. Our goals are for your benefit, and the only way we can accomplish them is with your help.

For example the apathy that has been built into the student body of Baruch, not willingly, again, but imposed. How do we explain the consistent lack of student participation in student government elections? An election is given and the students must vote take part. The president of the college shall be responsible for carrying out the duties described in the Bylaws of the Board of Higher Education, "If less than 15% of the eligible students vote take part, the president of the college shall be responsible for carrying out the duties described in the Bylaws until the percentage is achieved and until such duly elected board-established regulations in conformity with the general requirements of this article."

However, this article does not give any president the right to impose, persuade or influence the "validated" student government to support any plans which the student body has not been heard of, been informed of, or complained of. We are not the American people in general are being fooled by the present government officials. Remember, constant contradictions such as Agnew's quitting and being fined is more of a trial than a resignation.

Baruch College, with all its social "standards" may not be so different.

Let us use what has been given to us and can not be taken away from us, our mind. Let us not take things or people's actions, including the actions of President Wingfield and his administration for granted.
