Student Center Board Votes To Close Center If Governments Deem Necessary

By PAULA NEUBIRTH

On Thursday, October 18, the Political Science and Public Administration Society held the first of its many open forums on current crisis facing our country. The topic for this forum was that of Watergate. Professor Powell read an excerpt from a magazine pertaining to Watergate. The essence of the article said, "that Watergate is a cesspool, not water."

The first to speak was Professor Lerner. He discussed the symbolism of Watergate. Some of his personal viewpoints were that Mr. Nixon is responsible for the Watergate affair and that he (Nixon) should have resigned a long time ago, and that simply impeaching the President will not solve the continuing problem of Watergate. Many of these problems originated from the characteristics of American political system and culture. These characteristics are: 1) separation of the powers and that their weakness provided the scope of the problem of the Watergate scandal, 2) the distorting of our government, 3) the paradoxes among our three branches induce fear among Americans, provides violent and moral dissensions, 4) a blurred distinction between the government and society.

Professor Lerner also stated some suggestions for Reform: 1) ending the isolation of the President, that President and Congress need to work together more often, 2) the President should hold a question-and-answer period before a Congressional session each week, 3) there should be tax-supported fundamentals, 4) wire-tapping should be permissible, but under a rigid system of control, 5) government should subsidize media to maintain secrecy, and 6) adaptation of an Emergency Power Act which would get rid of Habeas Corpus.

The next speaker was Professor Schoenberg. Professor Schoenberg stressed the point that "excessive behavior is excessive behavior..." and that there was a real problem with absolutely no police power. He blamed the entire affair on the present administration. Professor Schoenberg then spoke about the different types of political workers. The first one is Probity, who are democrats with career talent, and inside of government. The second type is the "open men who has limited distinction in their political career and that their loyalty purposes power. The last is the limited man who is the one actually committing the burglary. These people have no true meaning of the law and play their own game of politics with their own rules and with their own referees. His last comment was that "defeated politicals is not dead and just wait till next year."

The third speaker was Professor Thomas. He touched on the concept of the Presidency. He made the point that Mr. Nixon has all the shortcomings of any President, as suggested by all the Professors. The use of executive privilege should ensure the releasing of the tapes.

The last speaker was Mr. Fishbein. He spoke about the parallelism of the Watergate and the Roman Empire, and that Mr. Nixon and the assumption of an absolute power, caused the downfall of the U.S. government. His other important point was that the young people have a dynamic effect on our government, but can have an incremental effect by working within the system.

PSPAS Conducts Watergate Forum

By PAULA NEUBIRTH

The Board of Governors of the Student Center Board voted on October 34 to close the Center. The students have been after a proposal to establish tenure quotas by Watergate. This proposal was a result of the Watergate affair and Mr. Nixon is responsible for the Watergate affair and that he should be bound by any contractual agreements or terms made to the Center. The second type is that the Board of Governors refuses to recognize the motion that Mr. Nixon is not known when their decision concerning Mr. Bruse will be made public.

The actions taken by the Board at its Wednesday meeting closely correlated with other actions taken later by student governments, student activity groups and individuals. The Graduate Students' Association, the governmental body of Graduate Division, announced on Thursday, October 18, that it would support for Evening Session Student Council in whatever the latter body decided was necessary to close the Ron. Student Organizations Support Bruse

The Baruch Hotline sent a statement of endorsement for Mr. Bruse to the President of the College, Dr. Clyde J. Wingfield. The Lampsider Society was expected at its first meeting on October 27 to deal with other aspects of the Bruse affair. Sigma Alpha Delta, the Evening Honor Society, was expected to do the same. The Lampster had learned that the Academic Review Committee was expected to meet on Thursday, October 26, to consider Mr. Bruse's appeal. This is the final stop before the matter reaches the desk of the President.

PSC Fighting Tenure Quotas

(PSC)—The Professional Staff Congress/CUNY will make a last-ditch effort to defeat a proposal to establish tenure quotas by Watergate. The proposal calls for "specification justifications" of tenure recommendations for individuals where "a majority of the tenure faculty have become tenured.

According to Dr. Zeller, the new resolution, drafted by a special seven-member BHE committee, is even worse than the original on which the Board deferred action Sept. 24 and Oct. 9.

The proposal calls for "specific justifications" of tenure recommendations for individuals where "a majority of the tenure faculty have become tenured.

Dr. Zeller said that it would no longer be sufficient for a teacher to pass through the pain-staking evaluation process to achieve tenure.

After five years of probation, she said, the individual would be subject to dismissal regardless of qualifications.

The committee proposal also authorizes Chancellor Kibbee to develop "guidelines" to implement the quotas.

"This authorization," Dr. Zeller said, "is like handing the (Continued on Page 3)

Bruse Waiting For Decision

As TICKER went to press, the Ron Bruse case was still very much up in the air.

Mr. Bruse's appeal is to be heard next by the College Academic Personnel Review Committee. That committee is expected to meet today. It is not known when their decision concerning Mr. Bruse will be made public.

TICKER will continue to keep students abreast of developments in the matter.

THURSDAY, Nov. 15, 1973 4:00 P.M.
To: The President of Baruch College

From: The Student Government

Subject: The Streets

Dear President Wingfield,

The second issue involves BARUCH MOVING?

As your newly elected Treasurer, I write to bring to your attention an issue that has been causing concern among students. The current administration has made plans to move the College to a new location, and this move has raised various concerns among the student body.

1. Financial Implications:
   - The cost of relocating all departments and facilities to a new location is substantial.
   - It is important to ensure that the financial implications of this move are thoroughly evaluated.
   - The administration should provide a clear financial plan that outlines the expected costs and how they will be managed.

2. Academic Continuity:
   - The move may disrupt academic continuity for students.
   - It is crucial to ensure that the transition period is handled smoothly to minimize any disruption.

3. Student Engagement:
   - Students should be involved in the decision-making process regarding the move.
   - Regular updates and consultations with students are necessary to address their concerns.

In conclusion, I urge the administration to carefully consider these issues and to provide a comprehensive plan that addresses the needs and concerns of students. I believe that with proper planning and student input, the move can be managed effectively.

Respectfully,

THE SPORTS SCENE

The Baruch Cross-Country team raised their record to 5-4 defeating John Jay and Wagner Colleges in a 4-way meet on Saturday, Oct. 20th at Van Cortland Park.

Baruch barely missed a 3-way sweep in losing to Kings Point by a slim single point, 25-27. The scores are derived by totaling the numbers of the runners finishing positions.

Freshman Steve Tepper achieved a personal best of 28:39 but finished a close second to Kings Point's Dan Shobadian by only 3 seconds. Tepper adds this to his other fine finishes this season.

Personal bests were also set by fifth place finisher Jerry Mortensen (29:54) and Saulo Zayas, taking 7th with a time of 30:04. Walter Cantey took 9th, clocked in at 30:46. Hal Ramsay and Tony Chmora finished in 12th and 15th places with times of 30:46 and 31:17 respectively. These are personal bests for both Hal and Tony.

The fine showing by the team is a direct reflection of the fine job Coach Roy Chernock has been doing since his arrival at Baruch just prior to this semester.

In my brief acquaintance with Coach Chernock I have come to realize that we are very lucky to have a man of his caliber heading our track and cross-country teams.

Keep on truckin', Roy!
