Psychology Career Conference Held
By Paula Newirth
On Thursday, November 15, the Psychology Society and Phi Chi, a Psychology Career Conference was held in the 8th floor of the Student Center. It was the first in a series of career conferences to be held at Baruch. The aim of the conference was to help students in the field of psychology to learn about different career opportunities and to network with professionals.

History Society Discusses Scientific Revolution
By Bill Cottin
The History Society presented a talk on the Scientific Revolution. The presentation was held in the Student Center and was open to all students. Professor George Boeck of John Jay College of Criminal Justice spoke about the scientific revolution and its impact on society.

Appears in Center Pullout
TICKER is providing the students of Baruch College with a forum to discuss and express their views on the scientific revolution. The society is an organization that promotes the study of the sciences and the understanding of scientific methods.

Ads Meets
By Nova Man
Prepare the meals. The weekend should be a good learning experience. Create a menu and consider what you would like to eat. Remember to include fruits in your meal. You'll be feeling much better after eating a healthy meal!

Day Student Government
Will Meet Today and Tomorrow at 4:00 P.M.
For Your Own Good

Although it may not always be possible, we have been made the work of the Staff Evaluation Program, Unified Form, and Cotton. The purpose of the form is to evaluate the Student Personnel Services staff members, it adequately serves to fill the void that has been created by the lack of evaluation made of Student Personnel Services staff members. The drafting of the form was open to students, faculty, and staff. We basically want to explain the way in which the evaluations are to be taken and help you to make the proper decisions. We do not claim that this is a perfect evaluation; it is basically a tool to help you understand the dimensions of her/his job in order to help you or other students if she/he senses some difficulty you might be having.

The SPS Evaluation Form: Statement of Purpose

TICKER is attempting to provide a medium for students to express their opinions of the Baruch College administration, the Student Personnel Services. Editors do not necessarily represent the opinion of the entire Ticker staff, Ticker Association, the College, or the University. Published weekly during the school term by Ticker Association, the College, or the University.

Announcements

Admissions of American University are open to students who have achieved high scholastic standing and who show promise of academic excellence. American University is accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education.

Are you satisfied with your course selection this semester? Will your grade reflect your ability to take the next step in your academic program? If not, please fill out the form below. Your comments will be used to improve the education program at Baruch College.

Letter To
The Editor

The Editor,

I would like to express my support for the idea that students should be able to evaluate their counselors. I feel that this is a good move towards greater student involvement in the counseling process. It will help students to feel more comfortable talking to their counselors and will also give counselors a chance to improve their services.

Significant people in the Baruch College community include: President, Provost, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dean of Students, and Dean of Faculty. Students are encouraged to attend meetings of the Board of Trustees and to participate in the governance of the College.

FOCUS OF THE COMMUNITY

Baruch College offers a wide range of courses and activities for students to choose from. The College has a diverse student body and offers many opportunities for cultural and social development.

STUDENT-CENTERED CONSIDERATIONS

The College is committed to providing a supportive learning environment for all students. It offers a variety of resources, including counseling, tutoring, and academic support services.

Directions For Completing
The Evaluation

Are In Article On Page 1

The Financial Community

The Financial Community at Baruch College includes the Office of Financial Aid, the Office of Student Services, and the Office of the Registrar. The Office of Financial Aid provides information on scholarships, grants, and loans.

EDITORS SHARON BROWN, MARILYN FOX, BOB KAPLAN, ANDREW ABBOTT

Published weekly during the school term by Ticker Association, the College, or the University.
The Senor Phenomenon

By Kevin Howard Defense

The man who stepped into the light on the East 14th Street corner was not a man. It was a shadow, a shape, a blur of motion. The people who passed by didn't even notice. They walked by, heads down, eyes on the ground. But the shadow knew. It knew that it was different. It knew that it was special. It knew that it was the Senor Phenomenon. The Senor Phenomenon is a mystery, a enigma, a puzzle. It is a phenomenon that has been known to occur in certain parts of the city, but no one knows for sure what it is. Some say it is a gift from the gods, others say it is a product of the human mind. But one thing is certain: the Senor Phenomenon is real. And it is exciting. The Senor Phenomenon is exciting because it is unknown. It is unknown because it is so rare. It is rare because it is so difficult to catch. But when you do catch it, you know it. You know it because it feels good. It feels good because it is new. It is new because it is different. And it is different because it is the Senor Phenomenon.

Our Place

NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

"OUR PLACE"

(Baruch Coffee House)

Please Contact

ALMA BRUNAGE — SA Office

LANA BROWN — X3055

NEWMAN CLUB "CHARITY DRIVE"

FOR THE RETARDED

WEDNESDAY

NOV. 21

2-3 P.M.
SPORTS PROFILE

By STUART APLOFF

What does that phrase conjure up in your mind?

Until last weekend that line would bring to my mind images of out-of-breath, agonized, misunderstood young people stumped over in search of a breath of air that they can't seem to get.

One always hears of the 'loneliness of the long distance runner.' But last week I had the good fortune to interview a young man who finds anything but loneliness while running from horizon to horizon.

Steve Tepper is the image of the typical distance runner: a lanky, six-footer with close-cropped hair, one of those who can run miles and miles both during the season and off-season. His skin is bronzed from being outdoors most of the time.

Steve began running as oddly enough, a sprinter at Tilden High in Brooklyn. Then his family moved out of the city and Steve transferred to New Dorp. There he met Mr. Bill Walsh, New Dorp's track coach. Not showing any promise as a sprinter, Walsh suggested that Steve get in touch with Baruch track Coach Roy Chernock.

In January of his sophomore year, Steve Tepper taught me that. He began running, as oddly as it may seem, to improve his lungs. He could not breathe in the city, so he moved out to Staten Island and New Dorp's track coach. Not Dad for a freshman, hub? But last week I had the good fortune to interview a young man who finds anything but loneliness while running from horizon to horizon.

When Steve is running, he does not need anything else. A leg injury in his senior year at New Dorp put a damper on his track activities. Scholarships were not exactly stuffing up his mailbox. What few offers he did get were out of town. But Steve wanted to stay in the city.

With the intention of becoming a business major, Steve decided on Baruch. When Coach Walsh learned of Steve's decision, he suggested that Steve get in touch with Baruch track Coach Roy Chernock.

When I first met Roy Chernock early in September, he said to me that Steve showed great potential. So far as I can see, he was absolutely right. Every week it seems that Steve is improving. He has lowered his time for running the five-mile cross country course at Van Cortlandt Park time and time again.

On November 10th, Steve traveled with the CUNY in the CUNY championships, garnering Baruch's only medal in the process. Not surprisingly, it was a personal best for Steve and only six seconds off tying the school record.

What lies in the future? I plan to run track and cross country next year at the CUNY championships, too. If you ask me, I want to make the Olympics. Either '80 or '84,' said Steve, with a look in his eye that reflected the flames in his head of running ad infinitum. I was curious as to how he prepared mentally for his meets.

After mulling over my question he replied: "I run all my races over 40

---

CUNY Study Abroad

By Joyce Greenwald

For a new twist on your education, CUNY is offering something different and possibly exciting, study abroad. This program gives students the opportunity to experience new cultures and study next to students from these cultures.

The program is for one academic year, but there are six-week summer courses available. You can study in any of 10 different countries in Europe, Israel, Mexico, or Puerto Rico. The majority of the students, who take the course program, study language, literature, or the humanities.

It may seem that the program is geared just to the liberal arts students in my head before I ever actually get to the starting line." How about nerves?

"I guess I've been nervous all my life," Steve said, "but once the gun goes off the tension is gone. You either do it or you don't. You have to have a plan set in your mind and stick to it. You don't have time to think of anything but the race."

And on the subject of education, Steve told me that his school work is always top priority on his list. He refuses to sacrifice his education for running. But to give you an even better insight into what kind of person Steve Tepper really is, he insisted that I mention his teammates. "In the five years that I've been running," he emphatically stated, "these guys are the finest people I've ever come in contact with. They really help each other out."

What can I say? Steve Tepper has a team, and I for one hope he makes it. And every time I watch a track meet I take a good look at the runners, remembering that they're not just two legs and a set of lungs.

Steve Tepper taught me that.

---

THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT WILL MEET!

DATE:
A) Tues., Nov. 20, 1973
B) Wed., Nov. 21, 1973

PLACE:
Oak Lounge (S.C.)
Place to be posted on door of Rm. 104A S.C.

TIME:
A) 4:00 P.M.
B) 4:00 P.M.

---

THE HOLOCAUST

THE CAUSES —
THE HISTORY —
THE IMPLICATIONS —

Stimulating and informative discussions where questions can be answered and answers ultimately questioned.

EVENLY TUESDAY 1:00-2:00
at Hillel, 144 E. 24 St.
at top of stairs