LXX

Although we are behind the cloaks that are "another term in spur; let us start over fresh," the meaning of it still must be understood and repeated. Because now, more than ever, there is need to change, to be freed from our errors in the past.

The administration must learn to put itself last, not first. The students must learn not to stand up for their rights, but to demand them. The faculty must learn not to take it personal, or worst, not to care.

We would like to state for a child that Mr. Cherinsky's past students who have benefited from his experience would also be entitled and expected to receive the same privileges as the Committee's exclusive. The Committee and the President are not the only ones eligible around his "past and present." All students who, regardless of their status, would be deprived of the same opportunity.

We urge you to remember the Committee should not be an issue that fosters students who pursue education in the Bar-
