Ticker Interviews Two Deans:

Gerald Leinwand

By Joyce Greenwald

The School of Education is one of the major divisions in Brooklyn College, and it is located at 640 Avenue C. The school was established in 1965, with the help of funds from the Ford Foundation. It began with the initial funding of President Andrew H. Wiegfield. The school has expanded over the years and has become a major part of the Brooklyn College campus.

The School of Education offers a wide range of programs, including undergraduate and graduate degrees in education. It also provides courses in the fields of educational administration, counseling, and special education. The school is accredited by the New York State Education Department and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Clark Discusses Integrity

In Government In Talk Here

By Roy Sehur

Professor Clark, a speaker at the Brooklyn College Student Government Meeting on Thursday, March 14, 1985, discussed the importance of integrity in government. He stated that integrity is essential in maintaining public trust and confidence in government.

Clark, who is a political science professor at Brooklyn College, gave an example of the Watergate scandal, which took place in the 1970s. He explained that Watergate was a scandal involving the illegal activities of the Nixon Administration, which led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon.

Clark also discussed the concept of public service and the importance of公共服务 in maintaining a strong democracy. He asserted that public service requires integrity, honesty, and dedication to the public good.

Clark concluded his talk by emphasizing the importance of integrity in government. He stated that integrity is the foundation of a healthy democracy and that we must work together to ensure that our leaders are ethical and transparent.

Are You Killing Ticker And Baruch College

Last week, TICKEB published in this space a questionnaire that was presented to students at a recent meeting of the Student Senate. The questionnaire was designed to gauge the opinions of the students on various issues concerning Baruch College. The survey included questions on the quality of education, student life, and the effectiveness of the Student Senate. The results of the survey were then compiled and presented to the Student Senate for discussion.

The questionnaire was distributed to all students at the meeting. It consisted of 20 questions, each with multiple-choice answers. The questions covered a wide range of topics, including the effectiveness of the Student Senate, the quality of education at Baruch College, and the need for change in the current system of governance.

The survey was conducted by the Ticker staff and included all students at the meeting. The results were then compiled and presented to the Student Senate for discussion. The survey was meant to be a tool for the Student Senate to better understand the concerns and opinions of the students and to make informed decisions regarding the future of Baruch College.

The results of the survey will be presented to the Student Senate for discussion at their next meeting. The Student Senate will then consider the findings and take appropriate action. The Ticker staff encourages all students to participate in the future surveys and voice their opinions on issues concerning Baruch College.
