212 Stays In Center; Programs To Run At 360 Park

by NANCY BOWKER

Dean of Students Roy R. Senour announced last week that the 212 Community Project will remain on the 2nd floor of the Student Center. After consultation with his staff, Dean Senour decided that the Project’s headquarters will stay in the Student Center and that the 212 program will be expanded to the basement of 360 Park Avenue South. There it is hoped that freshmen and sophomores will be encouraged to participate.

Dean Senour indicated that funds would be available to renovate the basement space in 360 P.A.S., but apparently the 212 Program team was not considering this. The Dean of Students' seat has been personalized by the Student Center Board of Governors, a group of faculty members and students who make recommendations to the Dean on the operation of the Center.

Because the 212 Project creates such a warm and inviting atmosphere, Dean Senour said it should not be totally removed from the Student Center. Morty Mintz, Director of the Project has trained a number of student leaders who will be able to help him run programs in both locations. Reaction on the part of Mr. Mintz and involved students to the Dean's announcement was nothing less than ecstatic. Dean Senour's statement on 212 follows:

From the Dean of Students’ seat, the 212 Program creates a warm and inviting atmosphere for all students interested in establishing new friendships while optionally learning new skills or teaching, to follow students, skills already learned. The leadership in developing the program is provided by Mr. Morty Mintz, through his gift of charisma. However, successful in attracting students from all backgrounds to his program, "One of Morty’s commendable goals in working with 212 has been to train the older, more mature students to carry out tasks similar to his own. Their active participation in the lounges and other gatherings places of Baruch students has been quite successful in involving new students in the ‘212 experience’.

Because Morty has met with success in creating and maintaining such a warm atmosphere in the Student Center and has prepared responsible and dedicated student leaders to help him continue the program as he has in the past, the Student Center, the Dean of Students and the College have called upon Morty to create a similar warm and inviting center in the former basement library of the building recently occupied by the student center and used to house more than seventy percent of Baruch students.

The recommendation which grew out of the recent Presidential Task Force to Study Student Personnel Services further supports this new plan by including student supervision and provisions for the Dean of Student Activities and so-called “group oriented” projects which resulted in the appointment of Dr. Greger to head this new unit of which Morty is a part. Thus Dr. Greger, who has long held a professional, interest in leadership training, is now closely involved in the 212 Program in the Student Center. The Dean of Students, with his overall responsibilities for Baruch Student, feels confident that the stage is set for success in bringing the 212 experience to a greater number of Baruchians who need to have the option of this added dimension to their college experience. The Dean is counting on all 212 personnel to reach out and involve the Baruch population in this warm personal experience. He stands ready to offer whatever additional assistance as may be needed to further broaden and develop this unique program.
