Students Protest Election Delay

The Student Government office, located in room 408 of the Student Center and headquarters for the Elections Committee, has been the scene of clamorous demands, charges and countercharges concerning the validity of the elections over the past week. Many of those students pressing for the announcement appeared to be supporters of Lewis Tucker, the only black candidate for the chairpersonship. Spokesmen for the angry, resentful group argued that the Elections Committee has properly discharged its obligation to the Day Session Student body. The spokesmen said that the Committee should not have issued its “Final Report”, which stemmed from various charges of election frauds and irregularities, if it intended to invalidate the entire election. Ms. Abna Brundage, one of Mr. Tucker’s supporters indicated that, while the Elections Committee has operated improperly, the Acting Chairperson, Mr. Jake Jutkowitz, has been forced to “wear six hats at the same time.”

Mr. Jutkowitz did not comment on Ms. Brundage’s remarks. The Chairperson reported that vote-counting would continue and that results may very well be announced that night. Mr. Jutkowitz warned, however, that the Elections Committee reserved the right to invalidate the entire election should evidence be revealed proving collusion on the part of candidates and members of the Elections Committee staff.

Mr. Allan Fisher, one of Mr. Tucker’s opponents in the race for the chairpersonship, also expressed his dissatisfaction with the current development. Mr. Jutkowitz has, however, decided to cease further challenge of the election.

Editorial: It’s Official: Tucker Takes Chairman

While this must perform remain entirely unofficial at this time, Mr. Lewis Tucker is now the latest occupant of the potentially powerful Office of the Chairman of the Day Session Student Senate. He will be, undoubtedly, the last to sit in that chair. For Mr. Tucker and his colleagues are to assume the reins of a government whose primary responsibility will be the speedy consideration and adoption of a new Constitution. Too, this Senate faces the transition of government to the new political form which has been designated in large measure by the Charter of Governance. Additionally, Mr. Tucker and his colleagues will be saddled with the unenviable and recurring conundrum of the equitable disbursement of our student activity fees.

Of far greater import is the obviation of presidential approval prior to the seating of this new Senate. The overwhelming (by relative standards) electoral response has provided Mr. Tucker and his colleagues with a potential power unmatched by previous student legislative bodies. For the first time in recent collegiate memory a Day Session Student Senate can truly say, “We do represent the Day Session students of Baruch College. We do not require any by your leave from President Clyde J. Wingfield. We are now a co-equal voice. You must listen to us!” —

In this, and the ancillary responsibilities which Mr. Tucker and his colleagues will now assume, we, the members of the editorial board of TICKER, wish success. We earnestly hope that this new Day Session Student Senate may overcome all of the obstacles which will inevitably be thrown in their way.

TICKER did not give its editorial blessing to Mr. Lewis Tucker. The reasons behind this decision were complex and must remain confidential. This does not forbid our fervent hope that Mr. Tucker succeeds in what he has set out to do.

PSC Hails CAPP Report
by John Burns

The Professional Student Congress of the University of Illinois, in its 1974 fall session, adopted a resolution urging all candidates running in the Student Assembly election to support the upcoming CAPP Report and to "keep the issue of student representation alive in our politics for the next several years of student government."

"If we don't do this," the resolution notes, "we may lose the initiative in the Student Government of the University of Illinois." The resolution was adopted on the recommendation of the PSC's Internal Operations Committee, which in turn acted on a motion by Sen. Robert Hon. "It was a very important decision for this administration to take," Sen. Hon. said.

The resolution was written by Sen. Hon. and Sen. Gerald Meier, and was signed by 23 of the 43 candidates running in the Student Assembly election. It is the first time in the history of the University of Illinois that the PSC has issued such a resolution in support of a specific issue.

The CAPP Report, which was released in June, calls for the establishment of a student assembly that would have the power to elect its own representatives to the Board of Trustees and to the University Senate.

"It has been an honor to be a part of the new PSC organization," said Sen. Hon. "I am proud of what we have accomplished so far and I am looking forward to what we will accomplish in the future." He added that he was "very excited about the future of the University of Illinois."

Kibbee Urges Bronx Action

Chesnook Robert J. Kibbee, a senior at City College of New York, recently released the rest of a letter to the student body which he had submitted to the College's Board of Trustees.

Dear Dean Beagan,

I would like to call your attention to a matter which has been receiving increased attention in my college.

Regarding the Board's planning for the new campus, there is a real question of who will benefit from the new campus. It is not clear to us that the benefits of the new campus will be distributed fairly.

We believe that the Board should consider the following points:

1. The new campus should be designed to meet the needs of all students, not just a small minority.
2. The new campus should be designed to be environmentally sustainable.
3. The new campus should be designed to be affordable for all students.

I urge you to consider these points and to take action to ensure that the new campus meets the needs of all students.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Kibbee

Counseling To Aid Probationers

The Election Commission's meeting on October 24th was attended by probationers and their counselors.

Dean Beagan opened the meeting and introduced the four probationers who were present. He then asked the counselor to present the case study for the evening.

The counselor presented the case of John Smith, a probationer who had been struggling to keep up with his academic work. He had been referred to the counseling service by his mentor, Professor Halper, and had been assigned to a counselor by the counseling center.

The counselor discussed the difficulties that John had been facing and the strategies that had been employed to help him.

Dean Beagan then asked the probationers to share their thoughts and suggestions on how they could help John.

The probationers suggested a variety of strategies, including additional counseling sessions, study groups, and academic advising.

Dean Beagan thanked the probationers and the counselor for their contributions and closed the meeting.

Sincerely,

Dean Beagan

We feel the student body should consider reversing his plan to keep the city on the front door and a Burger King in the middle of campus. We believe that the Burger King is not compatible with the academic environment of our college. We also believe that the Burger King is not a desirable location for a student dining establishment.

We urge the administration to consider moving the Burger King to a more appropriate location.

Sincerely,

Student Senate

Dean Senour On The Program Board

To clarify the role and the authority of the Student Faculty Program Board, Dean of Students Roy C. Senour made the following statement last week:

"In order to best meet the needs of the entire Baruch student body, in March of last year, I asked the staff of the Student Activities Office to give me a proposal for setting up a College-Wide Cultural Programming Committee. The Committee was designed to advise the university for providing long-range cultural programming to the College at-large. The purposes of the Student Faculty Program Board are:

—to provide for optimum use of all resources of the student government, representing these constituencies. Therefore, all programs sponsored by the Student Faculty Program Board must be open to all Baruch students. I feel that every effort should be made to include the alumni and the community in the planning of these activities.

I hope this will clarify some of the issues surrounding the Student Faculty Program Board and the purposes for which its funds are to be allocated.

The Board is responsible to the Dean of Students."
