1st Senate Meeting

Fees Rules Stalled

Jacobs, Gibbs VC's

by MICHAEL FISHBEIN

The first meeting of the recently elected Day Session Student Government ended in some confusion last Thursday when Mr. Carlyle Thornhill, the Treasurer, repeatedly attempted to present his nominees for appointment to the Fees Committee. Of the six students Mr. Thornhill presented for the Senates' consideration only one, Mr. Jake Jutkowitz, the editor of Lexicon, was approved. Ms. Alma Brundage, fifth on Mr. Thornhill's list but second to be considered, was initially rejected by the Senate in close voting.

Mr. Lewis Tucker, the Chairman, opened the first session in Room 502 of the Main Building at 12:14 p.m. Following a formal speech by Mr. Jutkowitz, who has recently served as acting chairman, with the Senate chairman, transferring the reins of student government, Mr. Tucker promised to establish a fair and impartial legislative body which would act to meet the needs of the students.

Mr. Thornhill next promised that he would serve the students "as a student, not as a black or a male, but as a student."

Following the agenda Mr. Tucker nominated Mr. Alan Jacobs and Mr. Harry Gibbs as his Vice-Chairmen for the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the School of Business and Public Administration, respectively. Following a short debate Mr. Jacobs' appointment was confirmed unanimously. However, Mr. Gibbs' nomination was narrowly approved following a heated argument. Senior Business Senator Jay Hochhisen led those in opposition to Mr. Gibbs contending that a conflict of interest existed in his appointment. Mr. Gibbs currently serves on the Senate as a representative-at-large. The powerful Committee on Committees was next on the agenda. Out of eleven nominees, five were appointed.

Attention! Freshmen

ATTENTION FRESHMEN! Don't forget to remind your family that this Sunday, November 17, Baruch's annual family day for the adult relatives of new freshmen will be held. Approximately 2,700 invitations were mailed in late October, but some students report that their family's invitation has not been received.

The program will commence at 1:30 P.M. in the main auditorium (23 Street building) with remarks by President Wingfield, Deans of the College and the Chairman of the student government. At the conclusion of this portion of the program, the audience will be broken into small discussion groups chaired by faculty and student leaders. The reception will follow in the 24th Street building. Past experience has indicated that attending parents and other interested relatives gain a better understanding of the concerns facing you, the new student. Be sure to urge your folks to attend. Also, let the people in Room 1747 at 360 PAS know how many members of your family will be in attendance.
Out of UNIFORM
by JOHN BURNS

In most cases, the computer has been used to do simple repetitive work such as calculating labor costs or checking bills. In the future, however, managers expect the computer to perform tasks now considered "intellectual." The Disabled Veterans of America are going to fight this bill, released recently, that would make disabled veterans taxable on their retirement disability pay. These benefits, also any military service connected disability, have been tax-exempt for years. The Vietnam vets also would be in the same category.

Education Notes
by Thomas Cramer

It is commonly believed that younger people are seeking to become professional teachers more often than ever. The reason for this is that the younger professionals have a better understanding of schooling that doesn't make you the best teacher possible. Of course, if you feel that you can help to transform the system, you will be very welcome in the Department of Education. I would not want any applicants interested in the responsibility for your children's education, but I readily follows that they will not be completely responsible. You may feel that the Ed. Dept. is unlucky in this as well as in many other ways.

Career Guidance Week: Nov. 10-16

In recent years, the computer has been used to do various types of work. As shown in the graph below, the computer is now running at 90% capacity. The central computer is now under the control of the Educational Computer Center: This is far from the situation a little over a year time, Baruch is now running at 90% capacity. The central computer is

NOTES AND OPINION
This is not the first time that Baruch has been asked to provide space for an advertisement.
This time the request has come from the League of Women Voters, which is opposed to the administration of their programs.

Dear Dr. L. Gioia,

The following is written to inform you that the Educational Computer Center will offer a three session discussion group related to the educational issue of part time work planning to demonstrate the effectiveness of its computer. This program will be offered to all students.

SENATE WARNING

It is at all possible to step off on the right foot and, at the very same time, the wrong foot, then the credit for the feat (intended or unintended) is due to the newly-arrived Day Senate Director, Mr. Billy Fox. With a speed and serious deliberation which we have rarely experienced in the not-quite-historic history of student government most of the items on that agenda were swiftly finished. The Senate last night ratified the other two nominations of Mr. Alan Jacobs (for Vice-Chairman for the School of Business and Public Administration) and the appointment of senators to the Committee on Committees of the Senate. Last on the long list was the creation of the Fees Committee and the promulgation of those vital fees. It was at this point that the Senate, which had been functioning so effectively, began its long descent into crudity and insult. As the question occurred over the appearance of the Fees Committee nominees before the Senate, that body split along those rapidly becoming traditional lines whenever the Senate becomes excited about anything. The split was straight down the line black versus white. And it was an agonizing experience. Before this goes any further we implore the Senate to consider the past. If you, the members of the Senate, desire any passionate loyalty, you will lead you, the effectiveness of the governments of Ms. Linda Matula and Mr. Billy Fox.

LETTERS

TO: All Department Chairmen and Instructional Staff
FROM: Mr. Lewis Temes, Registrar.
This has gone to my attention that final examinations for all classes are scheduled on registration average.

The meeting will consider the registration of the different departments. The nuclear regulation is that all classes are to begin at 9:00 A.M. and the last class of the day is not to run later than 1:30 P.M.

This meeting will be held in the new classroom building on November 18th, 1974 at 12:00 noon.

Hale’s Country Repeats

In a year when “country” is in and the main sound is the thud of guitar and drums, it is no surprise that evidence has surfaced that there is still a strong country audience. The repeat of the smash hit “Country Girl” is on the 42nd floor. The line-up includes old favorites, such as Marty Stu- dard, who turns in a strong showing, and new talent, such as the Joe Aman Band. The show kicks off at 9:00 p.m. and runs until 2:00 a.m. Admission is $5.00.

Death Wish

By BOB LIPPMAN

Recent research reveals that some people believe they have a special kind of knowledge that enables them to predict the future. The book, “Death Wish,” tells the story of a man who claims to have this ability, and presents the evidence that supports his claims. Dr. Robert Kemper, a psychologist who has studied the man, is skeptical of his claims and tries to disprove them. The evidence presented in the book is both fascinating and disturbing, and raises important questions about the nature of human consciousness and the possibility of clairvoyance. The book is highly recommended for anyone interested in the power of the mind.

Urban Design in New York: Past, Present and Future

A series of lectures to be given at Baruch College of City University on the implications of design on urban life. The speakers are architects, historians, housing administrators and social critics. Concurrently with the lectures, from November 7-21, the exhibit "Another Chance for Housing" (shown at the Museum of Modern Art in Spring 1972) will be on display at Baruch.
