The Ticker Association is to be composed of six students — three elected by the Student Government and five by the student body — and one faculty consultant. The editor-in-chief is selected each semester by the Association. Any student can run for a position on the Association by informing the existing student government at the time of the general election. Part of the controversy, according to Harry Gibbs, Student Government Vice Chairman for Business, in the negligence of the previous Day Session Student Government, was from September 3 to September 1974. The Association was not to be constituted as a violation of the previous Government, and the Ticker Association was to be the new Editor-in-Chief. The sequence of events might be construed as a violation of the Day Session Student Government Constitution which states that, in a general election if less than 30 percent take part, then the president of the college shall be responsible for carrying out the duties described in this article — Article XV, section 15.2, until such percentage is achieved and until such duly-elected body has established regulations in conformity with the general requirements of this article. Thus, since the previous Government had failed to have the Ticker Association appear in the last election, there was no general vote percentage tabulated for the association. The Student Government has temporarily suspended the charter for the Ticker Association, says Mr. Gibbs, pending the outcome of the new general election that is to take place in the future. It remains to be seen whether this new association will remain for the rest of this semester or temporarily until their results of the new election are known.
