Florynce Kennedy To Speak

Florynce Kennedy will speak at Baruch on April 15th at 4 p.m. in Room 114 of the 24th Street Building. Her topic will be “Out of the Streets and Into the Suites.” A lawyer and an activist in the civil rights and feminist movements, she is well-known as a founder of the National Organization for Women, though feminism is but one of her many interests.

Florynce Kennedy basically believes in challenging all forms of institutional oppression, and in the ability of the oppressed, through education and mobilization, to achieve their basic human rights. She is a respected spokesman for the poor and oppressed, and for the feminist movement.

A graduate of the Columbia University School of Law, Ms. Kennedy is director of the Media Workshop at the Consumer Information Service, co-author of a book called American Boy, and author of The Pathology of Oppression. She believes that women should be more aware of their oppression and that they should exercise their powers — body, buying, and voting — to overcome it.

This dynamic and thought-provoking speaker is coming to Baruch under the auspices of the Speakers Committee of the Student Faculty Program Board and the Baruch College Quality of Life Committee.

Time Out

By Yvonne Samuel

The spring semester is coming to an end — Summer will be here! The summer recess brings with it vacations, a respite from the hustles, with teachers and students, graduations and lots more. The teacher’s voice dissolves into an underradant whisper in the daydream about your past summer memories. You remember the humid days and cool nights you and your friends spent together, the days at the beach trying to ring off the sand both of you kicked on each other, fighting with the insects for equal rights to share the picnic table and the summer parties. Now you wonder if you’ll meet someone this summer to share all these events with again and hope that when this summer ends your new relationship will continue into autumn and winter — especially winter. Yet if her classes you give in the summer you write a paper on your summer job. Also there is that much needed rest and relaxation anticipated on this vacation to some far distant places. And gradient brings the beginning of a new life, a new career. Although graduation maybe the start of something new there will be the exchanges of goodbyes and the promises to keep in touch with each other.

The voice overpowers your daydreams to remind you that tests and papers are still to be completed. Your summer memories will have to remain, for the present, a faded photograph and the summer to come an elusive butterfly.

My Eyes View

By Diane Williams

Mid-terms over — yay! Now to see what I missed and what I did right.

It’s all very well to be given an opportunity and the arena to have an opinion, present an interpretation (say what could or could not be done) sometimes conceivably presenting an occasional alternative suggestion. Wouldn’t you agree that it is a broad and very general statement.

Look folks, when some of us (here) and others start using our fancy, new or bigger is not the solution — reform. What’s the difference could when in order to get things accomplished, companies do it in the planning organizing, gathering up public staging, staging, telephoning, making speeches, sending out invitations, building publicity, withholding information, doing things done, etc., etc., what’s missing? It takes hours, time, involvement of people — groups — individuals. Someone has to get their hands wet (dirty ones), not their checkbooks up — now you all might nickle particularly when you think in terms of; let’s say culture. But our environment at Baruch, these “buildings” is our campus (not the fantasy of open, clean, tree-lined walks, overcrowded classrooms and laboratories and auditoriums and lecture rooms, with up-to-date, modern equipment that is operable). Try it, it’s not, yet it’s all we got.

Why deface these walls (dorm room graffiti notwithstanding)? A waste for the furniture, anger, aggression? Well if you’re angry, then sublimate it, why not direct these drives and energies, join a club, and do something for a change.

Look... nothing rests by itself. We all know, for instance, that unless we crack a book, we’ll not get an A (heaven forbid! We should keep the material) And don’t like anyone who says “what’s neat?” or “I never study...” these grades invariably reflect this attitude.

You and I know people who seem to acquire, manipulate, and exhibit earn estimable qualities — we choose to emulate. Of course, these are other faculty persons who ignore their students’ attempts these recognition and attention, the regimes of HELP ME. We try every quieting their heads and study, telling me I’m not a scholar, clericalist and begging. HELP! HELP! What about this? What about the resulting frustration, and anger and rage involved in it.

THE SUCCESSION of time and experience, academic and otherwise, brings things to some conclusion. See pages 2, 3, 27.

and a lot of planes — but that's what happened before...where does it end?)

The opinions expressed in the veterans' column of the B.C.V.A. are not necessarily those of the B.C.V.A. Sometimes there is more trivia in Paul Schwartz's column than in his trivis section. We love ya, Paul, but sometimes... maybe if we sent Paul over there...no, the guys say they wouldn't take him.)

Don Higgins gave the B.C.V.A. an old picture of one of his great aunts: ah! Don, she don't look too great. The picture is on exhibition from 11 A.M. to 1 P.M. daily, in the press office.

After a rouging but short lived battle with the N.Y.P.D., the P.T. Gnat Knowledge was disarmed and our Cnndidate, "Mad Dog" became the first casualty. His wound is only superficial, according to our medic Eric, and will return to active duty sometime next year. The cannon was caused through a misunderstanding by both parties.

We were fishing in the Hudson River with T.N.T., and for some unknown reason the N.Y.P.D. said this was a "No-No." The answer was "Go fuck yourself!" so the Viet image has not changed.

Freedom March On Boston Planned

The National Student Coalition...Against Racism is beginning to mobilize for a National Freedom March on Boston on May 17th. The march to support school desegregation has been called by Thomas Atkins, President of the Boston NAACP.

Marching on May 17th commemorates the historic Brown decision. In which the Supreme Court rejected the doctrine of "separate but equal" and ordered desegregation of the public schools "with all deliberate speed." According to Mr. Atkins, the fight in Boston is an important one which will affect the outcome of other similar battles in other cities of the North.

De facto segregation has continued to be a persistent problem in Boston, New York, and other Northern cities. Compliance with the Supreme Court decision and other similar state or local laws has been extremely slow.

As well as holding planning sessions for the march, the National Student Coalition Against Racism, along with the New York NAACP and the National Council of Black Churches, held a tribute rally Dr. Martin Luther King on April 4th, the anniversary of his assassination. The Coalition can be contacted by calling 866-8330.
