President Belle Zeller of the Professional Staff Congress, the faculty union of City University of New York, Oct. 6, demanded the Board of Higher Education Chairman Alfred Giardino reconsider statements attributed to him at the City Club last Fri., October 3.

Mr. Giardino was reported to have said that (1) the $87-million budget cut had "minimal effect on the classroom program"; (2) two management personnel had been cut for every teacher dismissed; and (3) the university should consider forcing out "slow-advancing" students.

In a letter to Mr. Giardino released Oct. 6, Dr. Zeller said that everyone else in the City University community — the instructional staff, the students, the college presidents and Chancellor Robert J. Kibbee — considered the effect of the $87-million budget reduction "devastating." Increases in class size and teaching hours alone, she said, have given CUNY one of the highest student-faculty ratios in the country. The CUNY ratio, which inversely reflects the quality of instruction, she said, is now almost twice that of the State University of New York.

"If you would visit classrooms of the university," she told Mr. Giardino, "you would quite clearly see the impact."

"It is inconceivable," Dr. Zeller said, "that you do not recognize the added impact on classroom instruction of such measures as the reduction of course offerings, the firing of counselors and other personnel, the curtailment of library services and book purchases, and a 40 per cent cut in master's programs, which were all part of the $87-million budget reduction."

Mr. Giardino's second contention, that two management personnel had been dismissed for every teacher, Dr. Zeller said was "simply false." Mr. Giardino had claimed that, 5,600 full-time equivalent teaching positions were eliminated. To suggest that 7,200 management personnel were fired is outlandish, she said. She demanded that Mr. Giardino make public the list of all

Radio Baruch, WBMB, has been busy readjusting itself, looking forward to a semester's formal filled with activity, change, and involvement.

ACTIVITY

Feeling that many students are under the impression that WBMB is another branch of the college instead of properly being known as a student run organization, Nigel Redman, the station's General Manager and guiding force, has outlined its plans.

He has turned the station from an esoteric club into a 60 member staff that "stays with the students." Once again it will serve the Baruch community as an outlet, sounding board, and frustration wall. Helping students, while communicating to them, Nigel is sincere when he says "We don't shrink from responsibility."

On occasion auditions are fully completed, the station plans to be on the air from 8 a.m. to 2 a.m. Mondays through Thursdays, and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Fridays.

"Blocks" of music—that is electronic music, contemporary and creative production. Nigel continues, saying that "As an outsider looking in, Baruch College is a very efficiently and meticulously managed educational facility. However, as a student who has been here over the past three years, I have been a recent change in attitude which seems to indicate indifference toward students, and a desire not to policy to sift the frustration of students, as long as the lid is kept from blowing open."

Involvement includes plans for pining in the station from three transmitters into three new locations. Included will be the 10th floor Main building cafeteria, the 2nd floor 5th floor cafeteria, and the room opposite the 24th Street Annex food service area.

Programming, involvement has been heralded with the arrival of a series called "Enlightenment," hosted by Victor Rosa. Well known guests such as Machito, Cacho Ferrer, Graham Monser II, and Addison Gayle have been

Once a starry-eyed boy but after being blacklist when he returned.

The petite screen newcomer was more show than substance. But William Goddard is great in the role which he finds himself. So much so that Goddard, now a member of the blacklisting group, is also great in the role which he finds himself. So much so that he has the ability to make the bad guy look good.

One of his scenes is a fine one. "I'm just a poor little fellow," he says, "and if there is no continuation of him, I'll have to work for the police again.

Paul Muni.

Mr. Muni is fine in the role of the blacklisting group leader. He has the ability to make the bad guy look good.

Harrison Recovers

George Harrison is back! After months of "Dark Horse," he is back with a show called "Extra Texture (Read Between the Lines)."

Harrison's voice is back in top form. He has recovered from the earlier show, and he is now ready to start his new show, "Extra Texture (Read Between the Lines)."

The show has been a success, and Harrison is happy to be back in front of the cameras. He is ready to give his all to the audience, and he is determined to prove that he is still one of the best in the business.

If the show doesn't win your heart, try a class at least, at the Martha Graham School. There are classes available for both men and women, and they offer a variety of options to choose from. The classes are taught by experienced instructors who are passionate about dance and who are committed to helping their students reach their full potential.

If you're not sure where to start, try a class at Martha Graham School. They offer classes for all ages and all levels of experience, so you can find a class that's right for you. And the best part is that you don't have to be a professional dancer to enjoy the benefits of these classes. You'll have fun, you'll challenge yourself, and you'll feel better about yourself.

FIGHTBACK RALLY
Draws Support

By Jim Hedges

"There was excitement, we say fightback," said Jeff "the ice cream" Samuelson, an official of the Baruch Barons. "Students are calling for a rally to draw support for the fightback movement."

You deserve a break today

By Barbara Smith

Do you find yourself skipping lunch? Of course, nobody likes to be charged on high price! Do books and school supplies seem to quadruple in price? Of course not, but you yourself have learned the hard way that books and school supplies are expensive. However, if you want to save some money, you might want to consider buying from the "Buy Wise" program.

The "Buy Wise" program is a cooperative effort by the Student Government Association and the Student Activities Office to provide students with discounts on books and school supplies. The program is designed to help students save money on their purchases.

The "Buy Wise" program offers discounts on a wide variety of books and school supplies. Some of the most popular items include textbooks, notebooks, binders, and other supplies. The program also offers discounts on some electronics and clothing items.

The "Buy Wise" program is available to all students, regardless of their major or year in school. To participate in the program, students must sign up for the "Buy Wise" program and agree to purchase their books and supplies through the program.

The "Buy Wise" program is open to all students, and there are no membership fees. Students can sign up for the program online or at the Student Activities Office. The program is open throughout the semester, so students can sign up at any time.

The "Buy Wise" program is a great way to save money on your books and supplies. If you are interested in participating in the program, please visit the Student Activities Office or sign up online.

Serious crime in the United States is down in recent years, according to a new report released recently by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The report, titled "Crime in the United States, 1975," details a 10 percent decrease in reported crime nationwide from 1974 to 1975.

The report states that the decrease in crime is significant and extends across all regions of the country. The decrease was particularly pronounced in the North Central region, where reported crime dropped by 13 percent. The Western region also saw a decrease of 11 percent, while the South and East Central regions experienced decreases of 6 percent and 4 percent, respectively.

Specific crimes that showed the most significant decreases included murder, rape, and burglary. Murder and non-negligent manslaughter decreased by 12 percent, while rape declined by 14 percent. Burglary also saw a 14 percent decrease.

The report notes that the decrease in crime is likely due to a combination of factors, including increased awareness and reporting, improved law enforcement strategies, and changes in societal norms.

The full report can be accessed on the FBI's website at www.fbi.gov.

Off to Good Start

Two Saturdays ago, October 4, Baruch took on its first official soccer match against City College. The first half was an even fight, with neither team showing much of an edge. However, in the second half, Baruch showed its true colors.

Baruch's attack was led by Brian Cindorf, who scored a goal and added several assists. The other goal was scored by James Brown, who also added several assists. The game ended with a 2-0 victory for Baruch.

Baruch has a good reputation in the league, and we have no reason to think it will change this year. Last year, for example, we finished tied for 2nd place with 4 teams each. We lost our top 3 bowlers, but we have a good replacement in Brian Cindorf, who is a good bowler.

AS DETHRONED, REDS PREVAIL

By Marty Berkowitz

It's all over for the Oakland A's in 1979. The Boston Red Sox have clinched another West Division title...
Just three years out of college, laser technologist Jim Carroll didn't make senior research physicist at Eastman Kodak Company by acting timid. So when he had the courage to pit science against a dread disease, we backed him. Win or lose.

The medical community enlisted Kodak's help in training lasers on the war on cancer. We responded with a pair of 500 million watt laser systems. And left the rest up to Jim.

In time, the lasers proved unsuccessful in treating cancer, but we'd do it again if we had to. Because while we're in business to make a profit, we care what happens to society. It's the same society our business depends on.

Kodak
More than a business.
