By Steve Gaynor

I'm certain that you're all aware of the fiscal austerity measures in the City University's immediate future. The unfortunate plight of New York City, heightened and dramatized by the Republican administration in Washington, has in store dire consequences for our education. Students have mobilized to resist the imposition of increased charges to combat any additional budget cuts. The problem, truthfully speaking, is that only a minority of students have participated in the past demonstrations. No doubt, this problem has arisen because of the myriad of attacks on C.U.N.Y. What has obviously been the right track to adopt a method of informing students of the current situation of C.U.N.Y.'s fiscal crisis. Therefore, my column will be appearing frequently to give you updated information. Follow it, find out where your future is going, and what you can do to put it back on the right track.

To discover where we currently stand, I refer to a recent New York Times story that has come from Edward Nyquist, the State Education Commissioner. He called for tuition at City University that would be comparable to tuition charged at the State University ($150) for freshmen and sophomores, and $800 for juniors and seniors. With his proposal, Nyquist also published a list of figures showing that students would not have to pay the tuition. Unfortunately, Mr. Nyquist's proposal and his figures, first, suppose that mean our courses would be less crowded and we could have more classes once more; that is, no. All that Nyquist's proposal does is that government would have more money, not the school. They do not have to return the receipts they receive for tuition. Therefore, the Chairman of the Board of Higher Education, pointed out several mistakes in Nyquist's figures. These errors included comparing a full year's aid with only one year's budget, totalling social security and veterans benefits with the other aid, and not counting for California residents. When he did, he realized that at least the tuition would not be any less eroded and we could have a return to the open admissions policy as it was passed by the B.H.E. in 1970. Is he playing a game of semantics? Judge for yourself.

In an apparently never-ending process, Robert Marshall, President of City College, forwarded his own proposal. His proposal is to totally in the C.U.N.Y. system. He called for the creation of two new centers to be located at Brooklny Poly, John Jay, Queens, and his own college, City. Then six senior colleges would follow along with two community colleges. Under the Marshall plan, Baruch would merge with Borough of Manhattan Community College and simply close. Only a graduate center would remain. Baruch would merge with Baruch's U.S.S. Rep Views CUNY Crisis

By Richard Warren

December 1, 1975, a letter arrived in my mailbox from Baruch College President Clyde Wingfield with forbidden in-class elections. Mr. Wingfield gave the exact words are "I will not authorize student elections in the immediate future. The unfortunate position made the Student Senate to challenge this order since such a challenge would postpone the December 17 elections.

Dean Sennon and Siegel both toward the December 17th election date. Dr. Senour argued that this date did not give students enough time to decide whether to run, organize a campaign, or decide who to vote for. Dean Siegel objected to the fact that first came the election date, and then it was decided how the elections were to be run. He felt that procedures should have been adopted before the date was selected. The Senate decided by a vote of 4 to zip (with 1 abstention) that the election date, and the agreed upon election procedures, would be adopted. These procedures are the Student Association of CUNY's election procedures.

Other important matters decided upon election procedures and opening in student government positions in all 3 divisions shall be published in all Baruch College student newspapers. When no school newspaper is available for a particular division, then the Senate Election Committee must provide an alternate method of notification. It was believed that in the case of open positions that no notification, pamphlets could be quickly and cheaply printed up the same day.

Also decided was that at least 4 school days would be given to the filing of candidacy and all candidates must be in good academic standing and that only one candidate must be allowed for a particular division. It was also agreed the president of the student association would pick members for an election review board. The members of the board would examine the candidates in the elections they are judging.

Before the decision for in-class elections, several alternatives were considered. Using the "Honest Ballot Association," an organization experienced in handling elections, was suggested. Dr. Sennon, Mr. Abrams, and Mrs. Schuman were the representatives of this organization. They had to leave the meeting early, but before leaving they claimed their elections only had irregularities once, and the person was caught. Mr. Abrams strongly suggested a mail ballot, which he estimated would cost at least $5,700.

Harry Gibbs objected to this cost when he later appeared at the meeting. Using a mail ballot would cost $1,500. Brenda Boone

By Steve Gaynor

I'm certain that you're all aware of the fiscal austerity measures in the City University's immediate future. The unfortunate plight of New York City, heightened and dramatized by the Republican administration in Washington, has in store dire consequences for our education. Students have mobilized to resist the imposition of increased charges to combat any additional budget cuts. The problem, truthfully speaking, is that only a minority of students have participated in the past demonstrations. No doubt, this problem has arisen because of the myriad of attacks on C.U.N.Y. What has obviously been the right track to adopt a method of informing students of the current situation of C.U.N.Y.'s fiscal crisis. Therefore, my column will be appearing frequently to give you updated information. Follow it, find out where your future is going, and what you can do to put it back on the right track.

To discover where we currently stand, I refer to a recent New York Times story that has come from Edward Nyquist, the State Education Commissioner. He called for tuition at City University that would be comparable to tuition charged at the State University ($150) for freshmen and sophomores, and $800 for juniors and seniors. With his proposal, Nyquist also published a list of figures showing that students would not have to pay the tuition. Unfortunately, Mr. Nyquist's proposal and his figures, first, suppose that mean our courses would be less crowded and we could have more classes once more; that is, no. All that Nyquist's proposal does is that government would have more money, not the school. They do not have to return the receipts they receive for tuition. Therefore, the Chairman of the Board of Higher Education, pointed out several mistakes in Nyquist's figures. These errors included comparing a full year's aid with only one year's budget, totalling social security and veterans benefits with the other aid, and not counting for California residents. When he did, he realized that at least the tuition would not be any less eroded and we could have a return to the open admissions policy as it was passed by the B.H.E. in 1970. Is he playing a game of semantics? Judge for yourself.

In an apparently never-ending process, Robert Marshall, President of City College, forwarded his own proposal. His proposal is to totally in the C.U.N.Y. system. He called for the creation of two new centers to be located at Brooklyn Poly, John Jay, Queens, and his own college, City. Then six senior colleges would follow along with two community colleges. Under the Marshall plan, Baruch would merge with Borough of Manhattan Community College and simply close. Only a graduate center would remain. Baruch would merge with Baruch's U.S.S. Rep Views CUNY Crisis

By Richard Warren

December 1, 1975, a letter arrived in my mailbox from Baruch College President Clyde Wingfield with forbidden in-class elections. Mr. Wingfield gave the exact words are "I will not authorize student elections in the immediate future. The unfortunate position made the Student Senate to challenge this order since such a challenge would postpone the December 17 elections.

Dean Sennon and Siegel both toward the December 17th election date. Dr. Senour argued that this date did not give students enough time to decide whether to run, organize a campaign, or decide who to vote for. Dean Siegel objected to the fact that first came the election date, and then it was decided how the elections were to be run. He felt that procedures should have been adopted before the date was selected. The Senate decided by a vote of 4 to zip (with 1 abstention) that the election date, and the agreed upon election procedures, would be adopted. These procedures are the Student Association of CUNY's election procedures.

Other important matters decided upon election procedures and opening in student government positions in all 3 divisions shall be published in all Baruch College student newspapers. When no school newspaper is available for a particular division, then the Senate Election Committee must provide an alternate method of notification. It was believed that in the case of open positions that no notification, pamphlets could be quickly and cheaply printed up the same day.

Also decided was that at least 4 school days would be given to the filing of candidacy and all candidates must be in good academic standing and that only one candidate must be allowed for a particular division. It was also agreed the president of the student association would pick members for an election review board. The members of the board would examine the candidates in the elections they are judging.

Before the decision for in-class elections, several alternatives were considered. Using the "Honest Ballot Association," an organization experienced in handling elections, was suggested. Dr. Sennon, Mr. Abrams, and Mrs. Schuman were the representatives of this organization. They had to leave the meeting early, but before leaving they claimed their elections only had irregularities once, and the person was caught. Mr. Abrams strongly suggested a mail ballot, which he estimated would cost at least $5,700.

Harry Gibbs objected to this cost when he later appeared at the meeting. Using a mail ballot would cost $1,500. Brenda Boone

CUNY-Wide Survey Attacked

By Richard Rodriguez

A recent C.U.N.Y.-wide survey indicates that Baruch students are most concerned about the University, their school, and their fellow students. But their lack of action is due to the irreponsibilities of students who are actually programmed to be apathetic. They are told everyday that they can't do anything. They are told everyday that they are apathetic. I say emphatically that's a whole lot of brine; students do care, and can move mountains if only they were given a chance.

Thornhill Resigns

By Jim Hedges

Carlyle Thornhill, Treasurer of DSSG, announced his resignation from Student Government effective Monday, December 1st, at 9:00 a.m.

His reasons were that he was falling behind in his work at Baruch and, by not working for Student Government in the capacity of Treasurer, he could catch up on his studies.

Carlyle said that he will remain active in Student Government activities but not in a time-consuming position. He will as always speak out for student rights and at the policies of the DSSG. It is not known whether a replacement will be named. Harry Gibbs, Chairman of DSSG, and Chris Niles, Vice-Chairman, might take over these duties until the next elections in January.

Carlyle feels that he can still participate in Student Government at a less hectic level and at the same time keep up on the courses he is taking this semester.
Win Round One in CUNY Budget

By Richard Warren: November 24, 1975. At CUNY students and teachers spent the day in the streets. The student strike has been called off. The strike was caused by cuts in federal funding that threatened the future of the university. The cuts were intended to be used to reduce spending on non-essential services, which would result in layoffs of faculty and staff. The strike was a protest against these cuts and the resulting loss of jobs.

Zionism: Past and Present

By Richard Warren

In response to an article by Art Fishman (Nov. 15) about Zionism, I want to point out that Zionism is a form of racism. The word "Zionism" is a term that has been used to refer to the movement of Jewish people to Palestine in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It was a way of trying to create a Jewish homeland.

According to rabbinical law, a Jew is someone who is descended from the children of Abraham and Sarah. A Jew is not someone who is descended from the children of Hagar, the servant of Sarah. However, in the mid-19th century, many Jewish people began to think of themselves as Jews because they were descended from Hagar. This is called "Zionism.

Zionism was an isolationist or anti-Semitic movement. It was founded in 1897 by Theodor Herzl, a German journalist. Herzl was the first to use the term "Zionist." He believed that Jews should have their own country in the Middle East.

Mr. Fishman and others who refer to Zionism as a "national movement" are incorrect. Zionism was not a national movement. It was a movement of Jewish people who wanted to live in their own homeland.

One of the goals of Zionism was to create an independent Jewish state in Palestine. The state of Israel was established in 1948.

Zionism today, is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel.

In response to Art Fishman's article, I want to say that Zionism is not a movement of Jews. It is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel. Zionism is not a movement of Jewish people who want to live in their own country. Zionism is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel.

I hope this helps to clarify the difference between Zionism and Judaism.

Zionism Article Bunk

According to rabbinical law, a Jew is someone who is descended from the children of Abraham and Sarah. A Jew is not someone who is descended from the children of Hagar, the servant of Sarah. However, in the mid-19th century, many Jewish people began to think of themselves as Jews because they were descended from Hagar. This is called "Zionism."

Zionism was an isolationist or anti-Semitic movement. It was founded in 1897 by Theodor Herzl, a German journalist. Herzl was the first to use the term "Zionist." He believed that Jews should have their own country in the Middle East.

Mr. Fishman and others who refer to Zionism as a "national movement" are incorrect. Zionism was not a national movement. It was a movement of Jewish people who wanted to live in their own homeland.

One of the goals of Zionism was to create an independent Jewish state in Palestine. The state of Israel was established in 1948.

Zionism today, is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel.

In response to Art Fishman's article, I want to say that Zionism is not a movement of Jews. It is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel. Zionism is not a movement of Jewish people who want to live in their own country. Zionism is a movement of people who believe in the restoration of Jewish sovereignty over the land of Israel.

I hope this helps to clarify the difference between Zionism and Judaism.

CAMPUS AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

provides presents for your viewing pleasure

FREE MOVIES THIS WEEK

12/2 Tuesday: The Bedford Incident

5 - 9 p.m.

12/4 REBEL WITHOUT A CAUSE

5 - 9 p.m.
Letters To The Editor

Baruchians Fight For Survival

The AP reported in the previous issue that a new student organization called "Survivalists" was formed. The group claims to suspend all activities for the semester it will be for the survival of the university. This is based on the "British tyranny of oppression" that Mr. Fishman, in his article "Something to Ponder," mentioned.

Therefore this fight must be won now. This is a challenge to all Baruchians, teachers and students, to stand up for what is right. Those who have any chance of success. Since you will have to pay it if you want to win a decent job or to get into graduate school, this fight must be carried out by the students, teachers, and staff of C.U.N.Y. if it is to be won.

We urge all Baruchians to cast their votes for the survival of our college. This is the voice of non-combatants and the protection of non-combatants.

A. Fishman

Fishman Zionism Shocking

By Robert Epstein

Since after the Arab land. (Lebanon, the one-ex­
other hand, no Jewish community have any chance of success. Since you will have to pay it if you want to win a decent job or to get into graduate society run by Mr. Fishman, in his article "Something to Ponder," mentioned.

Therefore this fight must be won now. This is a challenge to all Baruchians, teachers and students, to stand up for what is right. Those who have any chance of success. Since you will have to pay it if you want to win a decent job or to get into graduate school, this fight must be carried out by the students, teachers, and staff of C.U.N.Y. if it is to be won.

We urge all Baruchians to cast their votes for the survival of our college. This is the voice of non-combatants and the protection of non-combatants.

A. Fishman
Fishman Zionism Article Shocking

(Continued from Page 1)

... in a small, isolated community of Arabs who are not armed are forced to rely on the goodwill of other people for their survival. They have been subjected to exploitation, discrimination, and violence. The...
John McKay's Patience A Necessity With Winless Tampa Bay Bucs

By Marty Berkowitz

There is no room for sentimentality in sports anymore. Teams are no longer able to pull out one for the Gipper anymore, and it has become a cold business, even at the college level.

Four weeks ago, John McKay, a living legend in Los Angeles (where there are many), announced his resignation as coach at the University of Southern California, in order to become coach of the NFL-expansion Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Thus inspired, his players haven't won a game since, a sad ending for a man who has coached four national championship teams. Mike Garrett, O.J. Simpson, Anthony Davis and Sam Cunningham.--

At the time of his announcement, it didn't appear that it would end so sourly. USC had just won at Notre Dame. McKay's teams displayed by junior tailback Ricky Bell. Things were going relatively normally. McKay's team was undeterred, rushing third in the nation, and coming off a national championship season. At this time, McKay made his commitment to Tampa. Now, the truth emerges. McKay and the Trojans have not won in 13 outings.

The Trojans lost 25-22, in a game that seemed written by Hollywood screenwriters, excepting one aspect: the ending was all wrong.

Consider the elements. All of the national champions of the past were there, including O.J. UCLA was a 2-13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

Interview With Music Teacher

By James Challis

This week's interview is with Peter Rosenkrantz, assistant music instructor.

Q: How did you get your job at Baruch?
A: I, myself, wish that I had gone to Baruch when I was still young. When I had predominantly young teams, McKay never urged them to win. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

What happened? After California upset USC, there was still a chance to salvage the season, but Stanford snuffed that out with a 13-10 upset the following week. It seemed as if all of the opposing coaches in the Pac-8 were celebrating McKay's departure by proving that they could beat him just once. The most disheartening loss of the sequence took place in the confrontation of the Trojans and the Bruins. USC lost four conference games in succession. The Rose Bowl bid is long gone. The Trojans are going to the Liberty Bowl, and deep at heart, McKay must know they don't deserve it.

There is no way any result in that game could be more than an anti-climax. Should they win, USC will be finishing 7-4. No national title. No victory over Hayes. No Trojans in the Tournament of Roses Parade.