Carlyle Thornhill's Cane Stolen

In the most tragic event that the student government this semester, Carlyle Thornhill discovered that his cane, affectionately nicknamed "Dick," was not where he left it in the DSSG office early Wednesday morning.

Thornhill, last semester's Treasurer and this semester's representative to the University Student Senate, had been roaming the fourth floor of the student center in a daze that indicated he had experienced mild shock. After vainly attempting to find his cane, Thornhill retired to a corner of the DSSG office and curled up into a fetal position.

Chris Niles, DSSG president, noticed Thornhill's distress and immediately ran to the office to check on him. Niles said in a compassionate tone, "Got some compassion?"

The tension that pervaded the office was broken by a ringing phone. Doris Dixon, DSSG secretary, answered and heard Breathing. The call slowly began. "I... have... the... cane. This is an act... of... revenge. Cause last semester my club requested $4,350 dollars and the fees committee only allocated $43.50. I swore to get Carlyle back for that. He will never see his cane again. Dixon signal'd to Niles, but it was too late. The caller had hung up.

Just at that moment Harry Gibbs entered the office. The former DSSG president overheard Dixon relay to the group the caller's message. Now they realized the circumstances of Thornhill's ailment. Gibbs advised Niles to call an emergency student meeting. Niles retorted, "I'm president. I decide whether to have a celebration or not."

Professor "Bubba Lips" Marks

Dr. Jason "Bubba Lips" Marks, English and Journalism Professor at Baruch College, was today fired after the revelation that he authored "The Baruch Eye." When told of his firing, he replied, "Frankly, my dear. I don't give a hooligan's fart."

When asked why he wrote "Eye," he said, "It was an attempt to get Rodriguez fired as Editor. He is the worst journalist I have ever come across in my life and besides he's funny looking.

Asked how a teacher of journalistic integrity could write such a slandering rag, he answered, "Yeah, yeah!"

President Wingfield stated, "Such an immoral act associates me. I have always set an example of honesty and integrity. This, for want of a better word, 'paper,' violates all codes of morality and journalism."

Dr. Marks has been a frequent contributor to THE NEW YORK TIMES. We asked THE TIMES Editor what his reaction was. He replied, "This is a terrible scandal. We have always prided ourselves in being able to boost first-rate writers. Now we find that one of our incompetent contributors is a low, dispicable, unprofessional fool. Actually, we always knew he was a fool... but now we have evidence.

We can only say that we hope such sacrilegious journalism will never reappear at Baruch.

The office president announced today that it will promptly release the secret tapes which Dr. Wingfield has found to hide from the public. It is hoped that this will lead to the apprehension of Editor Ricardo Rodriguewitz's murder. The tape follows:

Do you want to be a part of it? Baruch decides! We will sit in the general assembly and work things out for you. If you are a part of the Baruch, you are a part of the decisions right? Do you want to have a voice in our decisions? If you are not a part of the Baruch, you are not a part of the decisions. If you want to be a part of the Baruch, you must be a part of the decisions.

Let's Do It Now!

The Baruch community has long been positive about the students' political experiences. They are excited about the fact that they can now participate in the political process, and they are looking forward to making their voices heard. They are also looking forward to the opportunity to learn about the issues and to make informed decisions about the future of our school.

The Baruch Bare-Ass contest featured Baruch’s most deformed fannies from all around the campus. Backsides of fat, white, concave and Polish. No doubt we know who this deflated bacoon belongs to. The judges awarded this piece of deformity the First Prize of endless sessions at a reknowned plastic surgeon’s. After the first session at the Plastic Surgeons, we were told it was disclosed to the TICKLER staff that after much deliberation, there was nothing that could help reshape such a “concave” derriere. Second prize was given to a light brown, over-blown and wrinkled backside. The owner of this “Jewel” said to be of Puerto Rican origin, also known for wearing a yamulka.

No doubt we know who piece of nature belonged to either. It was disclosed to TICKLER by the judges that this rare gluteus maximus was infected by bacteria of a rare strain and unknown to humans. Also, it was found to have on it countless number of pus-filled pimples with rapid destruction. The judges awarded this atrocity three years of dermatological supplies including soap, toothpaste, wrinkle cream and a specially formulated pus remover, as well as an added bonus, a newly discovered (after the culture of bacteria was taken from our second-prize winner) lotion aiding in the removal of those little things.

Those interested in next year’s Baruch Bare-Ass Contest, please send a 4 x 4 picture of your beauty piece, unretouched and in all its naked splendor to TICKLER’s unbiased judges. Remember our motto is “You shake them, we shape them!”
