BMCC Press Editor Dismissed

By RICHARD WARREN

On Oct. 15th, 1976, the Borough of Manhattan Community College's (BMCC) Student government dismissed Alvin L. Walter, Managing Editor of the BMCC Press, in his letter to Mar­ chant, Student Government President Alvin L. Walter claimed that Marchant had not followed proper accounting procedures and that of these violations until after his removal because he was "not working in the best interests of the student body, or the paper." But several critics of this action charge that Marchant was being removed for political reasons.

Marchant cited his opposition to student government censorship of the paper and his edi­ toin the Feb. 10th issue of the BMCC Press, Oct. 5th criticizing BMCC President Edgar D. Drap­ er's true reasons for his removal as Editor. In this edi­ torial, Marchant accused Dr. Draper of administrative mismanagement and playing politics. Both Marchant and U.S.S. Vice-Chairperson for Fiscal Affairs Joseph Sellman accused Alvin Walters of trying to protect Draper, and feel that more is that coincidental Marchant did not keep proper accounting records and did not send out bids. Walters claims Marchant did not do things that were illegal.

Draper denies that Marchant did not follow proper accounting procedures and that of the violations until after his removal. Walters also charges that U.S.S. Chairperson Maynard Jones was also involved with his dismissal. He claims that when Walters met with Draper, one of the issues discussed was Walters' efforts to establish a U.S.S. Vice­ Chairperson for Fiscal Affairs Joseph Sellman, who is also a political foe of Jones, has charged, "Maynard is demanding protection for Draper against the threats of the BMCC student body." Jones denied this, stating that Marchant is not absolutely wrong that Walters have nothing to do with the internal politics of any school. Dickopf has denied having anything to do with Marchant's removal as Editor.

Several staff members of the BMCC Press, who wished not to be identified, expressed a rather different opinion. They felt that President of student govern­ ment, Alvin Walters was doing all he could to protect Draper. They felt the real reason for Marchant's removal as Editor was his opposition to student government censorship of the paper. One staff member stated that student government wanted the paper to be a tool of student government and the administration. Staff members continued that Marchant had not followed proper accounting procedures and that of the violations until after his removal because he was "not working in the best interests of the student body, or the paper." But several critics of this action charge that Marchant was being removed for political reasons.

Marchant stated that Marchant's dismissal was "just a manifestation of different political viewpoints between the student government President and Garth."

Concerning student govern­ ment control of the paper, one reporter said that he was told by a member of student govern­ ment not to print anything criti­ cal of student government. Student government currently controls all the newspaper's funds and has at present stopped its publication. The last issue was published Oct. 5th. But since then student government has refused to pay the bill for the typesetting and printing of that issue. They claimed the types­ setting, E.G. Graphics, charged an exorbitant price for that issue. The price was $1,500, and the paper was 20 pages with a 7,000 circulation. Marchant's reason for using E.G. Graphics was it was "quick, expedient and efficient." Herco Type, which the same service, for THE TICKER would charge $1,400 for a similar issue.

Currently, this paper is at a standstill. There is no editor. Last Tuesday, Oct. 19th, the Press ran a letter to stu­ dent government President Alvin L. Walters (with a copy sent to Draper) requesting that they discuss the future of the paper. As of this writing, they have not responded.

Government Harrasses Students

Conclusion evidence has recently been uncovered by the National Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice that police agencies have been maintaining and creating false police files on students major college campuses across the country. After 1-1/2-2 years of study, the Commission released its report which includes cases of victim of such abuse. Besides students, the report states that false police files are kept on ethnic groups, social reform groups, religious organizations, and other innocent individuals.

The N.C.L.E. was formed to help correct and prevent the practice of police organizations keeping police records and dossiers on citizens. They have been working over the past one and a half year to expose abusive police practices.

The one case that uncovered was that of Lori Paton, a New Jersey high school student who wrote as a class assignment to the Socialist Labor Party. Her letter was misdirected to the Young Socialists, a group on which the FBI had a mail cover. The FBI then started investigating Lori Paton.

The college graduate who had just engaged in demonstra­ tions against the Vietnam War and is now blackballed for being a member of Interpol, is another example.

A third example is Joe, a 19 year old college student whose FBI record kept getting in the way of his career. All he did was fall asleep on a park bench while waiting for a friend and walked over to a nearby rest home looking for a clock. Someone reported a prowler and he was arrested, held for two days in jail and released, he was charged, with the Attorney General and the FBI, has to have his record removed from "the criminal files" to the "information files." This was not very satisfactory for Joe, and other people distinguish the difference even though he is not in the type of police file which has been "arrested and convicted." According to the Director of the N.Y. Chapter of the Com­ mission, Linda Barragan, the use of "Official Police Reports" was a common tactic used in Nazi Germany to discredit and smear anyone opposed to the Third Reich. These reports range from the humorous (unless you are the victim of it) to the most inhuman atrocities. In the area of atrocities, the N.C.L.E. has found a private group known as Interpol, the In­ ternational Criminal Police Organization.

Interpol has been most active at falsifying their own records. Their records have shown the United States Congress nothing of their Nazi history, nothing of the transmission of data on American citizens to Communist and Fascist countries, and nothing of their refusal to track down wanted Nazi war criminals. Interpol has turned up fully documented evidence of Interpol's Nazi connections under the N.S.S. Vice-Chairperson for Interpol's root during World War II, the holding meeting that came to be known as the "Final Solution" meeting which determined the fate of six million Jews.

Interpol's president from 1938 through 1945 was the heads of the dreaded "SS," Otto Steinheinzi, Reinhard Heydrich, and Ernst Kaltenbrunner. Interpol's president as late as 1972 was Paul Dickopf, SS No. 2337159 (documented out of Berlin War Records). The U.S. pays dues ($56,000 per year, that is known about) to Interpol to be one of the 122 member countries. These countries include Cuba, Rumania, Yugoslavia and other countries. The U.S. has established a department to Interpol are located in the Treasury, Washington, D.C. Being located in the Treasury building, Interpol has access to the NCLE (National Criminal Information Center) and IRS files.

Interpol's files are sent to the international headquarters in St. Cloud (built during President Dillkopf's tenure with donations from Brazil, a suspected Neo-Nazi hideout). France, just outside of Paris. There is no access to these files by Americans, under the Freedom of Information Act, for correction of false reports. With Interpol being under NO government's jurisdiction, it is a "Kingdom of policemen able to circulate un­ identified and untraceable information on Americans to be used against them in 121 other member countries. Interpol goes on and on," stated Ms. Barragan.

Here in New York, the NCLE has established a department to assist individuals who feel they are or have been victimized by false police files. To call for assistance, the telephone number in New York City is (212) 874-1860 or 874-1868. They can also write to the N.C.L.E., F.B.I. National Criminal Information Center and IRS files.

Newsbriefs

FINANCIAL AID HELD UP

Students are frantically inquiring at the Financial Aid Office as to whether they have not received their checks yet.

Leon Woloshin, Director of Financial Aid, stated that the holdup is due to the fact that the central offices at 80th Street have been swamped with a backlog of applications. This backlog occurred because the budget cuts made it necessary to let go a number of the people who process financial aid applications. Therefore, there are not enough people working on the processing to move the checks quickly.

Mr. Woloshin said that he hopes the checks can be distributed this week "as quickly as the college gets them and processes them."

STUDENT ACTIVITIES MOVES

The offices of the Fall Session Student Activities have moved to the first floor of the Student Center. Dr. Ruth Frisz, Director, asks that all clubs send a representative to her office in order to pick up a new mailbox key as soon as possible.
VETERAN'S LECTURE

By John Berendes

John Dolan is a senior music major with a minor in Business Administration. John is also a member of the Student Personnel and Baruch Student Veterans Association. He noted that many people want to join the military, but only a few become actual service members. Although many students want to join the military, not all of them are eligible or possible for them to become members. John also mentioned that he has no reception permission for his military service, so he is not able to join the military. John is an English Composition student at Baruch College and is also a member of the Student Senate. He noted that he has no reception permission for his military service, so he is not able to join the military.

By LYNNE BURSKY

Committee members included the Baruch Student Veterans Association, the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They are interested in student veterans and are involved in veteran activities. They also offer Math tutoring. See new mailboxes.

Fees Committee

By Lynne Burksky

Committee members included the Baruch Student Veterans Association, the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They are interested in student veterans and are involved in veteran activities. They also offer Math tutoring. See new mailboxes.

Far-Your Own Good

By Mike Schuthoven

Committee members included the Baruch Student Veterans Association, the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They are interested in student veterans and are involved in veteran activities. They also offer Math tutoring. See new mailboxes.

BY ELIZABETH PARDO

Dr. Ruth Fries is now one of the most well-known figures in the world due to her research in psychology and in the field of women's health. She is a professor of psychology at Baruch College in New York City and is also a research associate at New York University. She is one of the most well-known figures in the world due to her research in psychology and in the field of women's health. She is a professor of psychology at Baruch College in New York City and is also a research associate at New York University.

BY DR. RUTH FRIS

Dr. Ruth Fries is now one of the most well-known figures in the world due to her research in psychology and in the field of women's health. She is a professor of psychology at Baruch College in New York City and is also a research associate at New York University. She is one of the most well-known figures in the world due to her research in psychology and in the field of women's health. She is a professor of psychology at Baruch College in New York City and is also a research associate at New York University.

BY KARIN LEE KAHN

For the next few months, I am working as a tour guide at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. This is my first year as a tour guide, and I am still learning the ropes. I have been on the job for about three months and have been on several tours already. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them.

BY ROBERT A. WILSON

For the next few months, I am working as a tour guide at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. This is my first year as a tour guide, and I am still learning the ropes. I have been on the job for about three months and have been on several tours already. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them.

BY ROBERT A. WILSON

For the next few months, I am working as a tour guide at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. This is my first year as a tour guide, and I am still learning the ropes. I have been on the job for about three months and have been on several tours already. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them. I have also been on several tours with other guides, and I have learned a lot from them.
falters another can warn us? Surely ever, with most unsafe of all. Why aren't back-up automatic ation into how safe our buildings really are. As right of safety. In some cases on September 29 alert classes of the fire were not taken seriously.

Editorials

The Need For Safety

Now the Student Center Lobby buildings are back in operation it is time to once again review the safety of our buildings. Last spring after numerous small fires erupted in the 23rd Street Building this newspaper conducted an investigation into the safety precautions taken there. As shown in its findings, 360 was reported to be the most unsafe of all. Why wasn't back-up automatic alarms present on a different system so that if one failed the other would activate. The budget cuts CUNY will not deny its students the right to study in a safe environment. What about 25 years ago? Is the Baruch administration the same? If so, why are there no changes? That is if you see something you think is not right you should do something about it. I am very interested in answering this let-

Freedom of the Press Denied

As stated in this issue the Student Government at Borough of Manhattan Community College is trying to suppress our right of "Freedom of The Press." By removing Garth Marchant as acting editor-in-chief of the MMC PRESS on the grounds of his having violated the "Press Policies" the Student Government is employing as a weapon to break our spirit the press policies as they are written. We do not feel that any Student Government employee should have the power to stop an editor-in-chief without allowing the accused a fair hearing which all should have the right to. Will the Student Government replace Marchant with a "lackey" and use that person to say that the MMC PRESS has been suppressed?

Feelings toward Baruch College is still holding unsold books and tickets for the blood drive. Maybe it's because there is no better one and his色彩 keeps me up at night. I am only reviewing the band, so if you want to know about the songs that I have ever heard. I find them dull. I once wrote a book about a girl named Sarah. She was such a charming young woman. In fact, it was only through routine

Heritage Coffee Shop

(at the George Washington Hotel)

Lunch Special

SANDWICH 89c

Cheddar, ham or turkey. Served 11 A.M. to 2 P.M. Monday through Friday (Closed on weekends only)

Offer of the Week

The authorities of power must be aware of the power and property that it is obvious that...
The Ale Master's Ale is here.

McSorley's.

Confounding!

Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud*

The Ale Master's Ale is here.

McSorley's.

Thrillers

By Liz Sands

Brian DePalma's "Obsession"

Norman—Is That You?

Jeannette LeVine

The Ale Master's Ale is here.

McSorley's.

Confounding!

Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud*

The Ale Master's Ale is here.

McSorley's.

Thrillers

By Liz Sands

Brian DePalma's "Obsession"

Norman—Is That You?

Jeannette LeVine
Excerpts From The Diary of Marvin Lipschitz

By J. Stern
April 1, 1965

Briskly today. Wish I'd never gotten up. First thing this morning I got up and looked out the window. I absolutely nothing. Realized that I forgot to pull the shades. I pulled them up. How embarrassing!...then I heard the alarm, it was 7:30 p.m., no a.m. Can't remember if I got up today (or last Tuesday, for that matter)....Has the world ended? And if so, will my Sanka have morning coffee in the commotion?...Terrible dream last night: I dreamt that I was swimming in the East River and dissolved. I realized that it must have had some significance although I can think of nothing but that the Brooklyn Bridge was stolen in the middle of the night by a couple of gods wearing nothing but athletic support hose and saddle shoes over their undergarments. 8:26 A.M.: Finally got up but couldn't find my towels. The world has indeed ended, for the next thing I knew was I was in line for a token booth that stretches out past the turnstiles in the next station. One wonders why I don't sneak down...Honesty (and quite possibly, extreme stupidity prevails. Stardate—Twenty Eight Six point Two: After a short wait of 2 or 3 light years, the "F" train pulls into the station. I manage to get in with a minimum of difficulty. (But then again it's not the first time I've used the "bible" jump.) My face is pressed up against a large woman's verterbrae and the door. (Alternatively, depending on the speed of the train.)...We pull into Queensboro Plaza whereupon the door squeezes open and my nose promptly drops to the floor. I feel as though my soul got off but convince myself that not even it could have managed that feat and is probably somewhere in the air. First train pulls out I peer over the heads of my passengers and see a man with a chronic twitch banging his head on the Dinstein thing. Realized which is also determined by the speed of the train.) 9:19:00 A.M.: The moment of truth has come. We are passing under the Mind. My wayward thoughts wonder whether all the others will dissolve along with me, and if so will someone from the polyester suit. I think of the next daily "hearing" advice...English major at Baruch? At present, most of the English majors are Education majors. Any who have plans of teaching will find the road hazardous. In the future, these students will be required to go to Hunter College; the Business Education majors will come to Baruch. Lavender advises Literature majors to study adjacent areas of learning, and to take a wider range of elective courses. A Business Journalism major is being developed, using a modular approach—some courses from this field, some from that—for example, Advertising and English. Good Luck, English majors.

This reporter found Dr. Lavender to be very pleasant and likeable. What I would like to know is, why aren't Department heads called "chairpersons" in Baruch. And don't tell me that the budget cuts won't allow new lettering 'on the doors, because that's BS. And if you think the point is overworked, who asked you to read this?

Fees Committee

(Continued from Page 6)

Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, where a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels that they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.

Dr. Lavender also helped plan the Ad-Moc Major at Baruch, which a student could major in two fields, obtaining a degree in both. Regardless of the various studies performed on City University students' reading and writing abilities, Dr. Lavender doesn't feel that the abilities of Baruch students in terms of talents, interests, and potential have declined. Rather, he feels they present a wider range of problems in developing the talents, interests, and potential. He has been involved in our basic communications courses from the beginning. According to Dr. Lavender, "Even Harvard has remedial courses." He is teaching a communications course now, something through which he has a department Chairman's busy schedule.