Mintz As Acting President

By CAROL CAMPBELL

Congratulations to Executive Vice President, Dr. Bernard Mintz, on his new appointment as Acting President to start on November 2. As he has said, his plans are for an anticipated nine months in office. "To maintain the Second-to-none in the standards of Baruch College," was his answer, "Baruch College has fared better through the fiscal crisis than other universities of CUNY. We have kept with our re-tread. We have cut and have had limited administrative cutbacks, mostly in part-time positions," Dr. Mintz has been both with the College since 1957 working part-time with evening registration, till 1940, as a full-time administrator. He has worked his way from Assistant Business Manager of City College, to Vice Chancellor for Administration and now on to Acting President of Baruch. With a M.A. degree from Columbia University and a Doctorate degree from the Graduate School of Education, Columbia University, Dr. Mintz has helped bring about a major labor contract on Collective Bargaining between faculty and administration in 1966. Dr. Mintz, who has been with Baruch College since 1957 and has helped bring about the establishment of Baruch Bar, and The School of Liberal Arts. There has been a lot of talk about establishing a campus, but because of the fiscal crisis this has been postponed. There can be no major improvements in the college now, which means we will have to wait for any further fiscal help in the field, faculty and various programs are excellent, but the physical aspects can be improved.

Nigel has explained: "I'm an angry man. I'm tired of the politics that are being played in this school. He wants things to change fast." Nigel is at the iniquity of the staff and administration at this school — I'm tired of being screwed by the case by Student Government. A lot of people don't give a shit about it; they just want to get the job done. Asked if he feels that tuition will be raised in January, or September, the result was the same: "I anticipate no change in tuition." Also asked about the financial situation, Mintz of State Universities: "It would be an administrative impossibility.

Interpol Works For CIA, Gov't Says

By The National Commission on Law Enforcement

"The Central Intelligence Agency and INTERPOL, the international police association have cooperated in over-seas intelligence operations that would embarrass and embarrass an unnamed agency, "one public according to Justice Department attorneys. The starting closure was made in a motion by the Justice Department to remove a Freedom of Information Act suit brought by the National Commission on Law Enforcement and Social Justice (NCLE) asking for Los Angeles Federal District Court to order the release of 11 documents detailing INTERPOL-CIA involvement. Since disclosure of the documents would reveal that this government had cooperated with the CIA, and the Association of Intelligence, U.S. Attorney James Stotter argued, the information was "important to the relationship or others like it vital to the national security, would be an embarrassment to the government." Additionally, he continued, "the other government in this case would be embarrassed and our foreign relations with that government consequently diminished. We officially acknowledged that we cooperated with the CIA.

U.S. INTERPOL officials have insisted that cooperation with the CIA has been non-existent. Secret Service Agent Louis B. Sims, who also serves as Chief of the U.S. INTERPOL Office in the Treasury Building told The Nite-Owl in May 1975, that the CIA and INTERPOL "paths do not cross because we (INTERPOL) are not an intelligence agency." INTERPOL's Constitution prohibits it from participating in matters that are political, religious, racial or military. INTERPOL has knowingly worked for the CIA and then led to the Congress. The FULCA released. The Admissions proves more than we suspected, that INTERPOL is a conveyor belt to get the files of every member country and then sell those documents to the highest bidder. The CIA is insisting that disclosure of the 11 documents would harm national security. But Young stated that INTERPOL's presence has already provided more harm than disclosure. If the Congress is to provide safeguards, disclosure is necessary.

Stotter quickly filed a supplement to the original motion to throw the NCLE FOIA request out of court and stated that the section replaced by Stotter "is not fairly reflective of the facts before the court. In the legal position Stotter did not claim in the supplement, however, that his original motion was "simply a procedural precaution intended to forestall the explosion in the California legislature which coincides with when the "silver bullet" is shot. The NCLE made its initial FOIA request on March 10, 1975, as part of its investigation of INTERPOL which has already prompted four Congressional probes. NCLE officials have testified before Senate and House Subcommittee on its findings and "have only begun," according to Young.

The California legislature will be holding two days of hearings next month into INTERPOL activities. A bill is currently pending in the California legislature which coincides with when the "silver bullet" is shot. The NCLE made its initial FOIA request on March 10, 1975, as part of its investigation of INTERPOL which has already prompted four Congressional probes. NCLE officials have testified before Senate and House Subcommittee on its findings and "have only begun," according to Young.

INTERPOL-CIA involvement would not have been disclosed in the public according to Justice Department attorneys. The starting closure was made in a motion by the Justice Department to remove a Freedom of Information Act suit brought by the National Commission on Law Enforcement and Social Justice (NCLE) asking for Los Angeles Federal District Court to order the release of 11 documents detailing INTERPOL-CIA involvement. Since disclosure of the documents would reveal that this government had cooperated with the CIA, and the Association of Intelligence, U.S. Attorney James Stotter argued, the information was "important to the relationship or others like it vital to the national security, would be an embarrassment to the government." Additionally, he continued, "the other government in this case would be embarrassed and our foreign relations with that government consequently diminished. We officially acknowledged that we cooperated with the CIA.

INTERPOL works for the CIA in the context of "committing crime matters." Young stated, "INTERPOL is suddenly a do-or-die system to the CIA."

For of the 11 documents involve correspondence with former White House plunger Eglan and other officials. With this money, the station purchased equipment for $15,000 and $2,700 worth of equipment was taken. Nigel firmly states that the burglary was "an inside job done in cooperation with someone who is or has been connected with this station." Somehow after the equipment was taken from the station the vandalism slipped completely under the noses of security and out of the building.

When WBMB finally does get back on the air, hopefully by January, Nigel states that it will be a much more efficient training ground for our personnel. A school has never been willing to put on the air anybody who has something to say. A news staff is being formed to bring the station "more in-date. Redman is presently looking for "somebody who's not afraid to find things out" to be the news director of the station. Plans are being made to air editorials constantly concerning which the students should be aware of. "When I see my people working, producing, and improving, that is the satisfaction and reward I get out of all this." Parting advice that Nigel Redman feels the Baruch student population should remember is: "The people who work at this college work for the students, not the other way around.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Upon reading the article in The Ticker entitled "Why Are Club Budgets Held Up?" I would like to say a few words about my contest for the position which I thought was very poorly written.

The reason was, quite simply, that I felt as though I was getting nothing out of these clubs. As a result, I have concluded that I will be watching many more of them in the future.

To the Editor:

As an education major and a member of the softball team, I would like to address your false assumptions concerning the petition that was passed by the Student Government Association. The SGA had no idea who the members of the petition were or what the content of the petition was.

I emphasize the need for transparency and accountability in the way that the petition is handled and try to keep them from being appealed.

News Briefs

GQC PRESIDENT MISUSES FUNDS

The president of Queensborough Community College has been found misusing funds of the college. Both of the campus newspapers, The Compass and The Ticker, are investigating this incident with the efforts to uncover the illegal action.

WINGFIELD DEPARTS

According to plan, President Clyde Wingfield was supposed to have departed for his new post at the University of Missouri this summer. However, Ticker has uncovered the fact that President Wingfield left this past week.

Executive Vice President Bernard Maksin has taken over the position of Acting President until a SARA search committee can agree on a suitable replacement.

FINANCIAL AID CHECKS MISSED

Even though many students were made happy due to the fact that financial aid checks were distributed last week; some students went to the office only to find that somehow their checks had not arrived. Any student encountering this problem, please contact the Ticker office, and we will try to assist you in tracking your check down.

MORE ON BMCC EDITOR'S REMOVAL

Gary Marchant, responding to last week's Ticker article concerning his removal, clarifies that the action was taken in relation to the new edition of BMCC's The Compass which was posted with a 7,000 circulation. Concerning the BMCC's Student Government, without a doubt, has money to operate and to do what it wants, but it is not the responsibility of other students in the school to do so.

Our Champions

By FRANK WARD

We have few athletic endeavors to cheer about here at Baruch. But one of the teams that brings pride to our students is the Baruch Bowling team. Baruch is the defending champ of the New York Division of the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Congress. They also won the championship in 1973 and '74, with a second-place finish in 1973. They finished second in the Eastern Regional Championship Tournament.

The team was led by John Katsaros and Dave Goldberg who won the Eastern Regional Doubles Championship and finished third in the nation. Katsaros also finished fourth in the nation in the individual competition. Both had a season's average of 191. They were assisted by Capt-Captain Bobby Clark who had a 185 average, and by post-Captain Kevin Bohan and Stan Chu, who have graduated since last season. Last year's team racked up an impressive 191-21 record which defeated Pace who placed second.

Tryouts for the Bowling Team are held every September. They are open to both men and women. You must have at least a 170 average with a potential for 180. This year's team includes starters Dave Goldberg, Co-Captain Bobby Clark, Co-Captain Bob Short, and newcomers Bob McNally and Roy Garceo. Coach Howard Engel says that "Both McNally and Garceo have 190 potential." Other members of the team include Joe Scolo, Joe Rocco, John Mascetti, and Ai Silvagni.

This season the team is in third place after only a few weeks of bowling, and another championship is quite a possibility.

If you want to root for our heroes, the games are played on Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m. at Bowl-Mer Lanes, University Place between 11th and 12th Streets.

We will keep you updated as the season progresses.

CORRECTION!

In last week's issue (Oct. 26) of THE TICKER, the "Inside Books" column was written by Liz Pardo, not Bruce Baron.

STUDYING FOR MUSIC!

American Film Institute's Music Series Presents - "Monty Python and the Holy Grail" The American Premiere of "Monty Python and the Holy Grail" is being held at Madison Square Garden. This is the arena version of the film which was previously shown in concert. Study and see what they call "Monty's Song." It is a Put-down of several revered philosophs such as Kant, Mill, Aristotle, Socrates, Heidegger, Hume and Wittgenstein claim that they were in essence, alcoholics.

The entire movie, "Monty Python and the Holy Grail," is checkful of intelligent, although usually subtle, facts. Such is the case of one "peasant" who supposedly lives on a collective, and proceeds to explain the basics of socialism. These are only a few of the more obvious examples. But, having recognized at least the name of the person or event from a more pleasant and relaxing situation than the classroom, it is easier to learn about it. You have more incentive. You want to know what the hell those lunatics are talking about.

This is not to say that you need not attend classes or do the required reading because "Python knows it all," but perhaps you can study some items with more enthusiasm. Try it. You have nothing to lose but a bit of sanity. Happy Studying!
