CHRIS NILES CALLS FOR STUDENT UNITY

In view of the fact that the Day Session Student Government elections will take place sometime early next month, President Chris Niles, seeing the possibility of student disparity, has started a drive to remind each and every student that there are still many things their Student Government can promote, still many issues to fight for, and many activities that are in need of sponsorship.

In the first phase of the drive, Chris Niles has arranged a Student Government-sponsored dance this Friday in the Prince George Hotel. It is hoped that this will be one of the many actions taken to unite the student body.

Students and Mintz Clash Over Baruch Elections

By RICHARD WARREN

Last Friday afternoon, numerous student leaders gathered at 9 P.M. while persons were still present on the floor, on which the office of the Dean of Education, some Ed. classrooms and a lab are located.

According to reliable sources, Baruch College security guards at the scene failed to file a report on the incident with Max Linden, head of Security. No apparent damage was left by the vandals.

C.C.N.Y. — WHAT'S GOING ON?

In the last issue of THE TICKER a story appeared relating to the plight of CCNY's newspaper, The Campus, and the senate's attempts to stop its publication.

Although the matter appeared to have been resolved, the senate again voted to stop it from publishing. Last Thursday the president of CCNY reprimanded the senate and overruled their vote to stop the paper.

The following day the senate made known its intentions to pursue the matter and take action against The Campus.

NILES APPROACHES PRESIDENT ELECT

Last week Chris Niles, President of DSSG wrote to President Elect Carter requesting a meeting for CUNY student leaders. When contacted, Mr. Niles said he was concerned that groups from all segments of the New York community have met with and discussed their respective problems, but that student voices had not been heard on the issue of CUNY. This was more significant since President-Elect Carter has stated that he plans to create a separate Education Department.

By THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON ENFORCEMENT AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

New York — The National Commission on Enforcement and Social Justice (NCLE) is presenting affidavits, obtained from citizens throughout the country who have been unable to find work, to false tricks and false files, to the new Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities.

Some of the affidavits which are to be presented to Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who is presiding over the Senate Committee, include the following:

- Testimony from a victim in San Francisco who reported he was blackmailed, solicited a huge bribe by a stranger.
- Testimony from a victim in Chicago in a strange situation involving telephone calls and telephone company complaints.
- Testimony from a victim in San Diego who was blackmailed by a stranger.
- Testimony from a victim in New York City who was blackmailed by a stranger.

In this case, the doctor's record was false in that it listed only her arrest and not the most important fact, that she was acquitted, and her entire life and reputation has been ruined.

To the Editor:

I read with shock the article in the last issue which said that I had not "properly" graduated from Baruch College. I had, in fact, completed all the required courses and met the requirements necessary for graduation. However, Baruch College has been unable to contact me in order to present me with my diploma.

I have been accepted as a student at the George Washington University College of Engineering and Applied Science. This is in my field of study and I am now working on a graduate degree.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Editor's Note:

The information provided by the reader regarding their graduation status was not factually correct. The College of Engineering and Applied Science at George Washington University requires that students complete all course requirements and pay any outstanding fees before receiving their diplomas. The reader should contact the college's admissions office for accurate information regarding their graduation status.

Letters-to-the-editor

In the past few weeks, the student senate of C.N.Y. has twice voted to shut down the student newspaper for reasons to the effect that its editors have been publishing productions deviating from any journalistic practices.

It is true that the students of each college contribute part of their student fees toward the financing of on-campus media. However, who are a handful of students (the senate) to decide what a person of that merged department report is to be called the Committee on Student Activities.

In the last issue, the student senate of C.N.Y. was concerned about the following clarification of who the Committee on Student Activities, also known as the Student Senate, was to be called.

It is always easier to attack those who operate outside the agreed upon rules than to attack those who abide by them.

Is Finkelstein Taking Sides?

Last Wednesday's meeting took place of the Baruch Student Senate. Normally in any meeting which is conducted in secret, the quorum is considered to be made up of 50% of the membership plus one. Quick discussion in the past has shown that I am in agreement with any and all positions in the past, I believe in openness and the importance of fact.

Dr. Finkelstein has been quick to explain his opinion concerning what the proper procedure should be. However, if I am not the only member, I believe that the student senate is being held to the rules and regulations of the student senate.

I wonder why Dr. Finkelstein stated that the elections review committee would have all irregularities, and he did not feel it necessary to comment. Is he not a critic or a fellow student; therefore, they cannot be expected to be perfect. It is a matter of fact that some newspapers have print articles submitted by the general student population. These articles, more than likely submitted by non-students, are printed with just basic editing beforehand; they are not changed, thus the newspapers are printed.

The majority of members of the C.N.Y. senate obviously do not have journalistic backgrounds and therefore cannot speak as to how a newspaper should be run.

True, the senate should take actions for the benefit of the students, but is not the shuttering of the campus newspaper going a bit too far?

Running a newspaper is a very difficult job, much to the surprise of many. The operation of a newspaper should not be for the benefit of those who "think" they know journalism.

The play which is running at the Baruch Street Settlement Theatre is an extremely moving one, and one that every student who has had any involvement with theatre should see. It is a play that has been written by Marsha Norman, a distinguished black playwright, and it is one of the most powerful and exciting plays that have been produced in New York City in recent years. The play deals with the lives of seven black women, who have been through a great deal of pain and suffering in their lives. It is a play that is filled with passion, and it is a play that is filled with hope.

The play is set in a black women's shelter, and it follows the lives of seven women who are trying to overcome the problems that they have been through. Each woman has her own story, and each story is filled with pain, but also with hope. The women are shown in different parts of their lives, and they are shown dealing with their problems in different ways. The play is filled with a lot of dialogue, and the dialogue is filled with a lot of emotion. The play is filled with a lot of music, and the music is filled with a lot of emotion.

The play is a verse play, and it is the first verse play that has been produced in the United States. It is a play that is filled with a lot of beauty, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of power. It is a play that is filled with a lot of hope, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of love. It is a play that is filled with a lot of passion, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of pain.

The play is directed by Marsha Norman, and it is a play that is directed with a lot of passion. The play is performed by an all-black cast, and the cast is filled with a lot of talent. The play is produced by the Baruch Street Settlement Theatre, and it is a production that is produced with a lot of love.

I would highly recommend this play to anyone who has an interest in theatre. It is a play that is filled with a lot of beauty, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of power. It is a play that is filled with a lot of hope, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of love. It is a play that is filled with a lot of passion, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of pain. It is a play that is filled with a lot of beauty, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of power. It is a play that is filled with a lot of hope, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of love. It is a play that is filled with a lot of passion, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of pain. It is a play that is filled with a lot of beauty, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of power. It is a play that is filled with a lot of hope, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of love. It is a play that is filled with a lot of passion, and it is a play that is filled with a lot of pain.
